

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLVI.

WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1896.

Entered at the Woburn, Mass., Post Office, as second-class matter.

NO. 3080

Brooks's Malaria Remedy

A sure cure for all forms of Malaria.

25c. Five packages for $1.00.

F. P. BROOKS, Pharmacist.

361 Main Street, Woburn.

Boston & Maine Railroad.

Southern Division.

JUNE 28, 1896.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5:50, 6:15, 6:31, 7:18, 7:33, 8:14, 8:22, 9:00, 10:31, 11:35, A. M.; 12:22, 1:10, 2:20, 3:01, 4:12, 4:24, 5:11, 5:39, 6:05, 6:16, 6:39, 6:59, 7:05, 7:20, 8:00, 8:15, 8:30, 8:45, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:05, 8:15, 8:30, 8:45, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:20, 8:30, 8:45, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:25, 8:30, 8:45, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:30, 8:35, 8:45, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:35, 8:40, 8:50, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:40, 8:45, 8:50, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:45, 8:50, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:50, 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 8:55, 9:00, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:00, 9:05, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:05, 9:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:10, 9:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:15, 9:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:20, 9:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:25, 9:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:30, 9:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:35, 9:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:40, 9:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:45, 9:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:50, 9:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 9:55, 10:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:00, 10:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:05, 10:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:10, 10:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:15, 10:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:20, 10:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:25, 10:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:30, 10:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:35, 10:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:40, 10:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:45, 10:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:50, 10:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 10:55, 11:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:00, 11:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:05, 11:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:10, 11:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:15, 11:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:20, 11:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:25, 11:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:30, 11:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:35, 11:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:40, 11:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:45, 11:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:50, 11:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 11:55, 12:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:00, 12:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:05, 12:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:10, 12:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:15, 12:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:20, 12:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:25, 12:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:30, 12:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:35, 12:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:40, 12:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:45, 12:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:50, 12:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 12:55, 13:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:00, 13:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:05, 13:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:10, 13:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:15, 13:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:20, 13:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:25, 13:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:30, 13:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:35, 13:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:40, 13:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:45, 13:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:50, 13:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 13:55, 14:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:00, 14:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:05, 14:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:10, 14:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:15, 14:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:20, 14:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:25, 14:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:30, 14:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:35, 14:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:40, 14:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:45, 14:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:50, 14:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 14:55, 15:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:00, 15:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:05, 15:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:10, 15:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:15, 15:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:20, 15:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:25, 15:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:30, 15:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:35, 15:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:40, 15:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:45, 15:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:50, 15:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 15:55, 16:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:00, 16:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:05, 16:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:10, 16:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:15, 16:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:20, 16:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:25, 16:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:30, 16:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:35, 16:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:40, 16:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:45, 16:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:50, 16:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 16:55, 17:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:00, 17:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:05, 17:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:10, 17:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:15, 17:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:20, 17:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:25, 17:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:30, 17:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:35, 17:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:40, 17:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:45, 17:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:50, 17:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 17:55, 18:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:00, 18:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:05, 18:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:10, 18:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:15, 18:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:20, 18:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:25, 18:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:30, 18:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:35, 18:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:40, 18:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:45, 18:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:50, 18:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 18:55, 19:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:00, 19:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:05, 19:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:10, 19:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:15, 19:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:20, 19:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:25, 19:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:30, 19:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:35, 19:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:40, 19:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:45, 19:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:50, 19:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 19:55, 20:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:00, 20:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:05, 20:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:10, 20:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:15, 20:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:20, 20:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:25, 20:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:30, 20:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:35, 20:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:40, 20:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:45, 20:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:50, 20:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 20:55, 21:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:00, 21:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:05, 21:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:10, 21:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:15, 21:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:20, 21:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:25, 21:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:30, 21:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:35, 21:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:40, 21:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:45, 21:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:50, 21:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 21:55, 22:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:00, 22:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:05, 22:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:10, 22:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:15, 22:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:20, 22:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:25, 22:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:30, 22:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:35, 22:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:40, 22:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:45, 22:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:50, 22:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 22:55, 23:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:00, 23:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:05, 23:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:10, 23:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:15, 23:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:20, 23:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:25, 23:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:30, 23:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:35, 23:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:40, 23:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:45, 23:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:50, 23:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 23:55, 24:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:00, 24:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:05, 24:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:10, 24:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:15, 24:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:20, 24:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:25, 24:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:30, 24:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:35, 24:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:40, 24:45, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:45, 24:50, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:50, 24:55, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 24:55, 25:00, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:00, 25:05, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:05, 25:10, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:10, 25:15, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:15, 25:20, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:20, 25:25, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:25, 25:30, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:30, 25:35, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:35, 25:40, 10:15, 11:20, P. M.; 25:40,

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.
For President of the United States.

Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.

Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

SILVER ON TOP.

In spite of all that Whitney, Cleveland, Hill and other Democratic war-horses can do the silver men of the party are sure to win the day at the Chicago convention. The West and South are nearly solid for a free silver coinage 16 to 1 platform and they will receive considerable aid and comfort from the East. Even the Massachusetts delegation are not all for the single gold standard, and other New England States will have men of the same stamp in their delegations.

It is clear that the silver advocates will have it all their own way at the convention, and it looks as though Bland of Missouri, the rankest of them, would receive the presidential nomination, although Teller of Colorado is a close second.

Some of the Eastern leaders threaten a bolt if Bland, Teller & Co. win, as they are certain to do, but that is doubtful. The Democracy have always been famous for sticking to their party, right or wrong, and they will be likely to do so now, especially as the whole of them are for the free coinage of silver, first, last and all the time.

FOURTH OF JULY.

The American Republic was born 120 years ago to-morrow. On July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was signed and this Nation declared to be free and independent, although it took seven years more of fighting to substantiate the claim. Then England yielded, and in 1783 a treaty of peace was signed.

To-morrow then, we celebrate Independence Day. Why we do so perhaps only a small fraction of the people will stop to think, and fewer still will realize what the privilege cost the Revolutionary Fathers. But the Day is ours, it is a grand holiday, and Young America, it is safe to say, will make the most of it. Let them celebrate and get all the pleasure they can out of their powder, bells, horns and other instruments of torture to older heads and have just as jolly a time as it is possible to have on the "Glorious 4th."

It is possible that there is some foundation for the rumors to the effect that pipe laying for the next Mayor is in active operation. It is going to be a funny contest; if signs can be relied on. For nearly two months a little knot of scheming ward politicians have been figuring on the matter but dare not show their hands because if the people should get on to them their game would come to naught at once. Unfortunately for them the masses always regard their political moves with suspicion. However, they are trying to "fix" things in a way that will give them a "finger in the pie," it only a little one.

It is the current number of McClure's Magazine, which is a capital one, contains a good likeness and interesting biographical sketch of Col. Charles H. Taylor, proprietor of the Boston Globe. From the latter we learn that he was a soldier in the Civil War and still carries proof of service in the shape of a Confederate musket ball in his person received in a hot fight at Port Hudson. He is one of the ablest and most successful newspaper men in Boston.

It of date June 28 the Boston Sunday Journal contained a full-page picture of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company now nearing the shores of "Merry England," and among the scores of faces appeared conspicuously that of our Frank W. Graves, Surgeon of the Company. The Journal is away ahead of the other Boston dailies in this sort of work, as it is in almost every other.

It is the religious columns of the Monday morning Boston papers will be dry reading during the absence of Rev. A. A. Berle in Europe with the Ancient and Honorable. It was a cold Monday for them when they did not contain a column or so of his clerical junks.

It is the Journal would not be much surprised if Lawyer E. H. Lounsbury were a candidate for Mayor of this city next fall. If so, he will be a hard man to beat, either in the convention or at the polls.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Mrs. Allen—Cook.
F. W. Legg—Artist.
P. A. Parker—Photographer.
Eames & Carter—Coal.
W. J. Buckman—Flour.
J. G. Pollard—Grocer.
Eames & Carter—Notice.
Gould & Co.—Winchester.
J. W. Clegg—Grocer.
P. Andrews—Confectionery.

Wednesday was another hot day.

"Mace" Ward of North Easton is visiting friends in this city.

The police made some successful liquor raids last Saturday evening.

Leath has got the best Men's $2 Calf Shoe in the city. Congress or lace.

Alderman and Mrs. O. F. Bryant have had Miss Green for a guest this week.

Mrs. Mayor Allen of Church ave. advertises for a good cook today. Good wages.

A. P. Tabor and family will go to Charlottown, P. E. I., next Tuesday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Angier were guests of Nautilus Inn, Nantasket, last week.

F. C. Parker was booked at the Mountain View House, Woodstock, N. H., last week.

Baldwins Grove experienced a brush fire Monday afternoon and the firemen were called out.

Dr. Lawton, ophthalmic specialist, will be at Deans' jewelry store, Thursday, July 16, 1896.

— Dr. Lawton, ophthalmic specialist, will be at Deans' jewelry store, Thursday, July 16, 1896.

— Miss Mary F. Haggens will leave tomorrow for Newport, N. H., where she will spend her vacation.

— Hagerter, P. M., has put in a new letterbox at Woodberry's Corner, and another near Mr. Kendall's.

— Mr. Goodrich, the Winchester ice man, is improving in health right along. Everybody is glad of it.

— Last Saturday was a hot one, with considerable humidity in the atmosphere which made it all the worse.

— P. Andrews, confectioner, 393 Main street, wants to employ a good smart girl for saleswoman. See card.

— For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

— Both branches of the City Council met last evening. The proposed highway loan was the bone of contention.

— OPEN HOUSE. Mayor Allen will be at home all day to-morrow, July 4, No. 14 Church avenue, and will gladly welcome all who may call on him. Mrs. Allen and her sisters will aid him in receiving friends.

— Copeland & Bowser's new card deserves a careful perusal. This old and reliable house are closing up things for the summer vacation and will sell goods at the very lowest prices. Please read the advertisement.

— Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ruggles and Miss Carrie Turnbill will go to Pine Point, Maine, next Monday for a vacation outing.

— Mr. L. Houghton Allen has been visiting here this week. His headquarters are with his son, Dr. Allen, at Worcester.

— Last Wednesday Cuneo & Crovo received an invoice of strawberries from Portland, Maine. Where won't they come from next?

— It is said that the proprietors have sold quite a good many lots in Sheridan Circle. The property is pleasantly located.

— If everybody makes connections this city will indeed appear very much like a "Deserted Village" tomorrow, especially in the afternoon.

— Ex-Mayor Hugh D. Murray is alternate delegate from this District to the Chicago convention, which is to be held on July 7. He is non-committal on the money question, but is able to say with Senator Hill "I am a Democrat."

— The brick sidewalk is all finished from Everett street to Walnut street, and it is a good one. Pity there could not be something like it all over town.

— Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write—tt.

— City Clerk Finn has laid us under obligations to him for copies of the Acts and Resolves of the Legislature during the sessions of 1896. Thanks.

— Mr. Walter C. Knapp, foreman of the Woburn Gas Works, Mrs. Knapp and the little ones, drove over to Marblehead last Sunday and had a brother in Winchester.

— Mr. John C. Plummer, who has been out of health for some time and not yet fully recovered, was down town last Wednesday looking much better than a year or two ago. We were glad to see him appearing so strong and well.

— Mr. P. G. Hanson of Cambridge st., the champion strawberry raiser, was quite sick last week. It was reported at the Centre that his condition was serious, but he pulled through all right and on Thursday was considerably better.

— Mr. Eph Cutler, the eminent Boston musician, was thrown from an electric car last week and severely injured. He was unconscious 24 hours and, although his recovery is assured, he still lies sick in bed at his home in Malden.

— The Mass. Athletic Association will hold a field day tomorrow at Charles River Park, Harvard Bridge, Cambridge. Hundreds of wheelmen will try titles there and other Independence Day sports will be on tap and full measure given.

— Woburn's men marked for the next city election. They deserve to be snowed under for the disgraceful treatment of the respectable people of that city—Winchester Star.—And will be. Don't you forget it.

— Proprietor John M. Wallace of the News went to Boston Monday to see Dr. Graves and Col. Richardson off for their London trip with the Advertiser.

— Last Monday evening Defender Lodge, I. O. G. T., held a basket picnic and gave an entertainment which was well attended and proved to be a happy affair.

— Herbert J. Richardson and family of Erie, Pa., are visiting Mr. F. Chandler Parker and family on Canada street. Mrs. Richardson is a daughter of Mr. Parker.

— Mr. Lampton Skinner returned from New Hampshire last Friday and it is reported that he is now prostrate with typhoid fever at his father's home on Montvale Ave.

— The changes in the B. M. time-table for June 28, 1896, are so slight that they can hardly be discovered with the naked eye. See table on page 1, of the Journal.

— Sautelli's circus drew big crowds here last Tuesday afternoon and evening. It was a good one too—a nocheap, stern-wheel affair, but a genuine entertainment of the kind.

— Next to a porous plaster a circus is the thing to draw. On Tuesday a big crowd lined Main st. to see the parade of Sautelli's circus and got their tickets. Great invention!

— Mayor Allen and Dr. G. P. Bartlett accepted invitations from Edward A. Dow early this week to go yachting with him and some Boston gentlemen. They left Hull on Tuesday morning and were away several days, and enjoyed it very much.

— Mr. Freeman Blake returned from a 3 month business trip through the South last Tuesday. He went all over Pennsylvania, the cotton States, New Orleans, in fact nearly all the country south of Mason & Dixon's line was visited by him. He will now take a little rest.

— MEDICAL. Arrangements have been made whereby Dr. C. H. Jordan will attend to the professional business of Dr. Frank W. Graves during his absence in Europe. Calls left at Dr. Graves' office, No. 38 Pleasant st. will be promptly attended to by Dr. Jordan.—5.

— Pollard & Grothe shipped another of their street railroad sprinklers to a Western company last Wednesday morning. This firm have all the orders for their sprinklers and snowplows that they can fill. And their business in that city is growing. It is a good thing for them and the city.

— Principal Owen of the High School intends to put in a part at least of his vacation in Aroostook county, Maine; some of it in Kennebec county; and the balance wherever inclination may suggest; providing always that his purse does not collapse before the time comes to return to work.

— Miss Gertrude Elizabeth Arnold, a teacher in the Cummings school, was married to Mr. Hiriam Morse of Boston, on June 24, by Rev. H. C. Parker, and thus two hearts were made to beat as one. Before her marriage to Mr. Morse, Miss Arnold was one of the most popular young ladies in this city and an excellent teacher, and judging from what we have heard we should say that the gentleman so fortunate as to secure her for a wife is entirely worthy of her. Their friends wish them much joy.

— Mrs. Chute, wife of Mr. Prior W. Chute, of Cummings, Chute & Co., coal, will spend the summer in Nova Scotia. Meanwhile Mr. Chute will try to rub along, solus, without interruption of daily pursuits.

— Dr. Lawton, ophthalmic specialist, will be at Deans' jewelry store, Thursday, July 16, 1896.

— To-morrow, July 4, the Centre postoffice will close at 6 p. m. and remain closed until 6 p. m., when it will open for 90 minutes, or until 7.30 p. m. Take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

— Hon. Joseph Pollard attended the dedication of the Gordon Nash Library at New Hampton, N. H., last week Thursday. It was a noteworthy occasion and many distinguished people were present.

— Instead of working the changes on the N. W. & S. R. from Medford up they are being worked from Woburn Common down. It will probably be six weeks before the line is equipped with electricity.

— Sup't Winslow announces that half-hour trips will be run between Woburn and Medford on the North Woburn Street Railroad, without a break, to-morrow and Sunday, July 4 and 5. This is a fine arrangement, and no doubt will be duly appreciated by our people. "No break," remember that.

— It was Mr. Frank Legg's fault. He said the name of the lovely little girl who represented "Good Night" in the play was Marguerite Smith, whereas it was her sister Jenette, and as the Journal would not knowingly rob her of the praise of it this correctness is printed. It is a beautiful picture, anyhow.

— The public schools in this city closed for the long vacation last Tuesday. The lateness of the final windup was the outcome of a vacation away back in early winter and was necessary to make up the full school year. When it comes to getting the worth of ones money it is safe to rely on Sept. Emerson every time.

— The public schools in this city closed for the long vacation last Tuesday. The lateness of the final windup was the outcome of a vacation away back in early winter and was necessary to make up the full school year. When it comes to getting the worth of ones money it is safe to rely on Sept. Emerson every time.

— It is said that the proprietors have sold quite a good many lots in Sheridan Circle. The property is pleasantly located.

— The quartet of lads who burglariously entered the fruit store of Cuneo & Crovo, 418 Main street, and that of Guiseppe Cuneo, 373 1/2 Main st., lately, were in Court and had their cases put over for a few weeks.

— Hon. J. G. Pollard, who has been suffering a good deal from rheumatism this spring, is deriving great benefit from New Hampshire air. He has nearly or quite recovered and has no more trouble from his old enemy.

— Ex-Mayor Hugh D. Murray is alternate delegate from this District to the Chicago convention, which is to be held on July 7. He is non-committal on the money question, but is able to say with Senator Hill "I am a Democrat."

— Mr. P. G. Andrews has bought out the confectionery store 393 Main st. and will carry on the business of manufacturing and selling on a larger scale than ever. He is the proprietor of other establishments of the kind, understanding the business thoroughly, and proposes to do the fair thing by the public. Read his card in this paper.

— As seven-eights of the people of Arlington favor a street railway between Winchester and that town it is safe to say the Selectmen will soon reconsider their refusal for a right of way to the W. A. & B. Company. With public sentiment all one way it was a mystery why the Arlington authorities refused to grant the Company a franchise.

— Mr. F. W. Legg, the photographer, has a card in this issue of Journal to which we direct attention. Mr. Legg is a fine artist and is doing lots of work in his new rooms on Montvale ave., everything in the most satisfactory manner. His new studio is handsomely located and one of the pleasantest in this part of the country.

— An immense crowd of people lined the streets on Wednesday evening to enjoy the concert given by the Woburn Brass Band—the first of the season. It was a fine musical treat and everyone appeared to like it. Our people should contribute liberally towards this summer's series of open-air concerts, for they are good for the city.

— The 1896 strawberry is on its last legs and strawberry shortcake will soon be numbered among the things that were. The Burlington and Wilmington crop has seen its best days, a few will come up from Nova Scotia, and then "finis." The luscious berry has had a long run here this season, and besides that, pocketbooks need a rest.

— It is doubtless a work of supererogation to tell the boys where they can buy the best fireworks, cannons, flags, masks, tin horns, etc., for the 4th, cheaply, but we would suggest to them that the popular store of Mrs. Jennings, Prior's, and Moore & Parker's news dealers are full to running over with such goods, and the proprietors want to sell them bad.

— Henry Martin Eames and Alfred T. Carter (Eames & Carter), successors of H. E. Lord & Co., coal and wood dealers, are certain to satisfy the public and do a first-class business. They are well and favorably known in this community, enjoy the confidence of the public, have money and enterprise, and will erelong lead in the coal and wood trade.

— Mr. Robert J. W. Phinney and Mrs. Phinney of Academy Hill went to Harwich on the Cape for bluefish last Friday. They did not catch any, or we judge they did not, for the Colonel said he would bring the JOURNAL a mess if he had any luck, and as no bluefish have put in an appearance at the JOURNAL's boarding-house it is fair to presume that they got none.

— About what is the date that the Republicans of Woburn have fixed for a big McKinley and Hobart ratification meeting? Who are to be the orators? A few Massachusetts towns, or cities have already held such meetings, and we are expecting our Ward and City Committee to set the ball in motion almost any day. It is going to be a redhot campaign.

— Mr. Freeman Blake returned from a 3 month business trip through the South last Tuesday. He went all over Pennsylvania, the cotton States, New Orleans, in fact nearly all the country south of Mason & Dixon's line was visited by him. He will now take a little rest.

— About what is the date that the Republicans of Woburn have fixed for a big McKinley and Hobart ratification meeting? Who are to be the orators? A few Massachusetts towns, or cities have already held such meetings, and we are expecting our Ward and City Committee to set the ball in motion almost any day. It is going to be a redhot campaign.

— The steam road roller has done a good job on Wynn street this week. It is going to be one of the neatest thoroughfares in the city. People begin to get it through their wool that the roller is a boon. But why was it left 4 days on Salem street last week unemployed? There ought to be a plenty of work for it to do. Was there a screw

A QUARTET

OF BARGAINS is a condensed way of stating it. It's the whole thing in a nutshell. A story quickly and plainly told suits the discerning buyer. Our Quartet of Bargains this week is a lot of GINGHAMS, DIMITYS, MUSLINS, and CREPONS at the nominal price of 10 CENTS PER YARD. Don't let the high & fine contact. You know they are reasonable. All that remains for us to tell you is that they are fine in quality and pretty in pattern, that the lot is a limited one, and that at the price—10 cents per yard—they will melt away like dew before the sun.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

356 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech, but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

Two Stores: 409 Main Street, Woburn.
South Berwick, Me.
Telephone, 4-38.

G. R. GAGE & CO.
FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street. JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S
Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke.

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER AND REPAIRER, 24 years practical experience. Trained by Mr. F. D. Davis, Piano Tuner, Boston Office, Halsted & Davis Piano Rooms, 125 Marlboro Street, Boston. Prices the same as first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - WOBURN.

Having added Machines and Help I now make a specialty of Children's and Misses' Dresses.

Also, SUITS FOR LADIES, Men's, Peplums, Prints and Ginghams. All Goods manufactured by me and SOLD BELOW BOSTON PRICES. No middleman, no commission given to special agents, given to special connections.

C. M. STROUT,
Main St.

Plumbing Plumbing
I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal guarantee the best of work at lowest possible prices. Special attention given to special connections.

Mr. Phineas Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says she's satisfied. Mr. Thos Eggers, 125 Main Street, Woburn, has been cured from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result, excepting else than bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, often seen, that samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Gordon Parker's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A Card.

We employ this method to return our healthiest thanks to physicians and friends who were so kind to our wife and mother during her last illness, and to us; and to those good people who provided flowers, both beauty and fragrance at her funeral.

AGUSTUS W. BROOKS AND FAMILY.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

UNITARIAN.—Preaching by the pastor at 10:30 A. M. Subject: "Not Peace but a Sword."

BAPTIST.—Preaching by the pastor at 10:30 A. M. followed by Lord's Supper. Sunday School at 12 M. Preaching by the pastor at 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting.

METHODIST.—Preached by Rev. A. M. Osgood at 10:30 A. M. Subject: "Uniting—Ingratiating—Upbuilding." Junior League at 4:45 P. M. Evening Service led by the pastor at 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting.

MEETING.—Preached by Rev. A. M. Osgood at 10:30 A. M. Subject: "Uniting—Ingratiating—Upbuilding." Junior League at 4:45 P. M. Evening Service led by the pastor at 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting.

CHRISTIAN.—Preached by Rev. Henry C. Parker, Hiram A. Morse of Boston, and Gertrude E. Arnold.

In this city, June 24, by Rev. H. C. Parker, Overland of Ashby, and Jerome E. Elms of Boston.

In this city, June 25, by Rev. L. W. Slattery, Willard M. Fountain and Mary A. Dunnigan, both of Woburn.

Died.

Date, name, age, inserted free; all other notices 10 cents a line.

In this city, June 24, William Cummings, aged 74 years, 4 months, 4 days.

In this city, June 25, Philip, son of John and Ellen O'Rourke, aged 3 years.

In this city, June 26, Robert S. McDermott, aged 5 years, 8 months.

In this city, June 26, Thomas McKenna, aged 21 years, 8 months.

In this city, June 26, Sarah Jane, wife of Willard M. Fountain and Mary A. Dunnigan, both of Woburn.

For sale by Gordon Parker.

A Noble Record.

It is seldom that the reading of a tract results in half a thousand years of missionary service, but such was the history of a tract read seventeen years ago by a young physician in New York while waiting to see a patient. Its title was "The Conversion of the World, or the claims of six hundred millions, and the ability and duty of the churches respecting them."

The subject impressed the young man's mind, and he and his wife so pondered and prayed over it, that against appeal, argument, and opposition they set out for Ceylon and later for India, as foreign missionaries.

They gave more than thirty years of service there, and their nine children and several grandchildren having followed in their steps, thus for thirty years of that family—the Scudlers—have given five hundred and twenty-nine years to the work of foreign missions.—Christian Herald.

Rev. Doreens Scudder, present pastor of the Woburn First Congregational church, is a grandson of the "young physician in New York" above alluded to. When one has read this brief record he sees why the Scudlers are known as "a famous missionary family."

Buckner's Aronia Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Chapped Lips, Callus, Corns, and all Skin Diseases, and positively cures Piles, or any sore required.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

For sale by Gordon Parker.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the best remedy in Buckner's Aronia Salve. This medicine does not stimulate and control, nor whiskey nor other intoxicants, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding the body in the performance of its functions. Electric Pile is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at Parker's Drugstore.

HODD'S PILLS cure Liver Ills, Bladder, Indigestion, Headache, & pleasant laxative. All Druggists.

For sale by Gordon Parker.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

WOBURN

WE Give Away

(4 to 7 doses) — A — SAMPLE PACKAGE — OF —

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets

To any one sending name and address to us on a postal card.

Once Used, They are Always in Favor.

Hence, our object in sending them out broadcast

ON TRIAL

The absolutely cure Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Colic, Tongue, Poor Appetite, Dyspepsia and kindred derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Don't accept some substitute said to be "just as good."

The substitute costs the dealer less.

It costs you ABOUT the same.

His profit is in the "just as good."

WHERE IS YOURS?

Address for FREE SAMPLE.

World Dispensary Medical Association

No. 663 Main St., BUFFALO, N. Y.

THE MAIDEN'S SÓLiloquy.

To love, or not to love? that is the question: Whether it is better to suffer the pangs of jealousy, Or by remaining adamant, escape it.

To love, to be unhappy; or, and, by being unhappy, to shorten our lives by years?

There is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

For who would stand the fickleness of men, The old world's Jack, the young man's tyrant,

When she herself might so much happier be by running after him?

Who would then the fardels bear, to give up all that girls hold dear,

But that the dread of being an old maid,

With such a load upon her, makes her attractive?

It is too late!

—Gertrude M. Shakespeare in New York Sun.

MASTER JOHN.

Master John Lander, 4 years old and every inch a man, wore a debonair manner as he strolled down Market street with his nurse. He carried his head so proudly, his little hands so firmly clasped, and exuded his rather lordly air, which was perfectly in harmony with the aristocratic circumstances of his domestic and social life, the big brown eyes in his head were wide open to every detail of life in the moving street. That is why he happened to observe that a handsome young woman started in dazed surprise when she met him, caught her breath, and with staring eyes, open mouth and a certain hungry eagerness of face and attitude stood and gazed at him as he passed nonchalantly on. Being a very handsome boy and accustomed to the adulation of women, he did not design to look back or even to wonder at the uncommon excitement displayed by the beautiful stranger. As for the nurse, she had seen nothing, possessing that comfortable order of dulling that passes for wisdom in the conduct of children's nurses.

The startled woman, known in various cities as Miss Clarisse Chevalier, likely would have fainted had not a gentleman who noted her distress roused her with a proffer of assistance.

"No!" she replied sharply and ungraciously, her whole manner instantly changing to defiance and self-control and her brilliant black eyes flashing with impatience and resentment. She strode on, turned to look at a shop display in a window, cast a furtive glance in the direction which the boy and his nurse had taken, and then, with a brave show of indifference, began to follow.

It would have been evident to a very casual observer that she was suffering the drawn mouth, the dilated nostrils, the quick breathing, the eager, burning eyes and a certain irregularity of step all indicated distress.

"Why wait?" was what she whispered to herself. "I know as much now as I can learn tomorrow. The girl is as great a fool today as she will be next week. Why not make the dash now? Oh, how beautiful he is! What strong little legs! What a manly walk! And his wonderful brown eyes and golden brown curls—I can't wait another day. They don't know I'm in town—or even alive. I don't care. I don't care what comes of it. I must have him now—this minute! Oh, God, give me strength! My heart is bursting!"

With that she gathered herself up, and with eyes of a wonderful luster plunged boldly into her task. She presently overtook the boy and his nurse, and with a natural gay and pleasant manner said to the girl,

"I'm sorry, but you are my friend. You are Mary, I know it. That is what I told her, told you, you know," she replied hurriedly. "Of course she has been detained!" The woman turned white as she added in a voice hardly above a whisper. "If your mother doesn't come in a few minutes, your father will be here in an hour or two. I give you my word for that."

There must have been something in the woman's manner that touched the child's heart, for pity came into his eyes, and he stepped closer to her and for the first time gave a demonstration of interest and sympathy. Her eyes glowed with ineffable happiness as he laid his hand in hers and said:

"I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. You know—my muvver—she's awful careful about me, and she tol' me never to let any lady what I didn't know talk to me on the street."

The look of joy faded from the woman's eyes, but all the tenderness remained.

"John," she asked, "did she warn you against any particular woman?"

"I find," she answered thoughtfully, "she said I mustn't speak to any lady what was tall an' booful an' had bright black eyes."

The boy was not looking into her face just then, but was regarding her hand, which he thoughtfully stroked while striving to remember the warning he had received. Perhaps it was to hide her face that Clarisse buried it in the small shoulder of Master John and steeled his velvet jacket.

While he was in this quiet and thoughtful mood something else came into his mind.

"What is your name?" he inquired. "I never saw you at our house."

Thereupon he tried to dislodge her face from his shoulder to make a detailed inspection of her, but she held indifference which his companion exhibited for these blunt and forward attentions.

After awhile she hurried up a flight of stairs and into handsomely appointed rooms. She instantly locked the door, dashed off her hat, tore her gloves to shreds in her haste to remove them, flung herself on her knees at Master John's feet and clasped him to her bosom. She held him thus tightly and in silence until he began to struggle for freedom, and then followed a remarkable scene:

"Where is my muvver?" he demanded.

"Your mother, boy—your mother?

Oh, she'll be along pretty soon!"

The woman was now choking and sobbing, and again drawing the boy to her and kissing him hungrily again and again, she broke out:

"That's all right, my boy; you'll see her very soon. Look at me. Look me straight in the eyes—like that."

She held him there, still keeping her face concealed, and gently leading his head into other ways. With infinite tact and sweetness she coaxed him into talking of his own affairs, and she held herself under perfect control when he spoke of his father and mother.

"Where is my muvver?" he desired.

They had grown much closer in spirit now. The woman's frenzy in its various forms had passed and her heart settled down into a sweet sense of the child's possession, tempered with vague, bitter reflections of the present was. But the sweetness of the present was bittersweet, and in that her soul was bathed.

Illuminating all other feelings was her triumphant realization that in spite of all the wild and uncontrollable vagaries of her conduct that day she had achieved a long march in the conquest of the child. "I am winning him," she said over and over in her heart, "and he will love me, he will love me!"

She held him there, still keeping her face concealed, and gently leading his head into other ways. With infinite tact and sweetness she coaxed him into talking of his own affairs, and she held herself under perfect control when he spoke of his father and mother.

"Where is my muvver?" he desired.

"My mother, boy—your mother?

It is John—John Edward Lander."

Her eyes twinkled, and she laughed delightedly. Then she caught him in her arms and kissed him and cried until he indignantly demanded to be freed. Upon that she ejected, petted and humored him and ran and fetched some candy, and with jests and laughter tempted him with it, but he stoutly said:

"And your name is Johnnie," she said growing calmer, "but I am going to call you Jack."

"My name is Johnnie, an it is you Jack," he replied, with sturdy dignity and visible offense. "It's John—John Edward Lander."

Her eyes twinkled, and she laughed delightedly. Then she caught him in her arms and kissed him and cried until he indignantly demanded to be freed. Upon that she ejected, petted and humored him and ran and fetched some candy, and with jests and laughter tempted him with it, but he stoutly said:

"And your name is Johnnie," she said growing calmer, "but I am going to call you Jack."

"The woman led him into the drawing room and seated him, and then admitted three men—a detective, a police-man and Mr. John Edward Lander.

"Master John is here with me," the woman quietly remarked, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"No," he answered. "I like my muvver's eyes."

"But, John," she pleaded, clutching him with unconscious force and devouring his face with her insatiable eyes, "you could love me very much, couldn't you? You do love me a little, now, John, don't you?"

"No!" he exclaimed impatiently. "I just love my muvver. Where is she? I want her."

Unfortunately at that moment her eyes, always brilliant and sparkling, held a certain eager fire that filled the lad with uneasiness.

"No," he answered. "I like my muvver's eyes."

"But, John," she pleaded, clutching him with unconscious force and devouring his face with her insatiable eyes, "you could love me very much, couldn't you? You do love me a little, now, John, don't you?"

"No!" he exclaimed impatiently. "I just love my muvver. Where is she? I want her."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

She stopped as though he had struck her. Then she again dropped to her knees, again took his pretty cheeks between her hands and again gazed into the eyes of the other.

"You have brown eyes, John," she said, "and we have been enjoying a very delightful visit with each other. Will you enter, gentlemen? I have been expecting you, I am very sorry I have caused you any inconvenience, but I knew that as the trial which I always leave is very broad and easily followed, you would have little difficulty in finding us. By the way, Mr. Lander, that intelligent nurse girl of yours is spending the day with her mother." Her laugh was hard and malicious.

"Take us to the boy, Clarisse," the detective bluntly commanded.

"By all means, Enter, gentlemen."

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.
For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

THE FOURTH.

Independence Day was observed in a quiet and orderly manner in this city. There was nothing that in the least resembled a public celebration, and only a few people were seen on the streets during the day. There was the customary ringing of bells by all the Mayor, and waving flags were seen everywhere, and that was all. The weather was not much like that generally enjoyed on the Glorious Fourth. It was chilly, there was no sunshine, the clouds held rain which threatened to break loose at any moment, and this deterred many people from making electric car trips, although loads of them braved the elements and went out of town. It was unfavorable weather for openair picnics.

The Reading attraction attracted crowds from Woburn and the country along the lines of the electric roads, and Boston, as usual, proved a strong magnet for our citizens. The beaches too drew many to them, although it was too cold for much comfort at the seaside with a sharp northeast wind blowing.

There was the usual amount of noise and racket during the night preceding the 4th, and it was kept up in the most spirited and sleep destroying manner until morning.

This in brief is the story of Independence Day in Woburn in the year 1896.

We congratulate the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank on the election of Mr. Benjamin Hinckley for its President, and the new President for the honor conferred on him by his associates. The Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank is one of the soundest money institutions in this State, position which it has reached almost wholly through the high character, integrity and good financial qualities of its managers in the past. Hon. John Cummings has been its President many years, and has filled the position with great ability. He has had the aid of the best business heads in the town for Trustees and committee-men, and Hon. Edward E. Thompson, as its Treasurer and Clerk, has for a long while been one of the props of the flourishing institution and will doubtless continue to be for years to come. Mr. Thompson has done much for the Bank, as the community very well know. Mr. Hinckley, the new President, is a prominent Boston merchant, a leading and influential citizen of Woburn who has many interests, and a careful conservative man of affairs. Concerning the new members of the corporation elected at the meeting last Friday evening, Messrs. Julius F. Ramsdell and Edmund C. Cottle, are, with a very few exceptions, the largest and most successful leather manufacturers in this city; Mr. Luke Warren Fowle is a prosperous Boston merchant; and Mr. Elwyn G. Preston is Secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, an honorable and responsible position. Under the management of President Hinckley, with a strong Board of Trustees, an able Investment Committee, and careful Vice Presidents and Treasurer, the Woburn Five Cents Bank cannot but continue on in its helpful and prosperous way for years to come.

Word reaches us from Reading that James W. Grimes, Esq., a bright young Boston lawyer resident of that town, is likely to be selected by the Republicans for the Legislature this fall as successor to Hon. Solon Bancroft. He is said to be able and popular, and Republican sentiment has already begun to crystallize in his direction. Lawyer Grimes's nomination would be entirely acceptable to Woburn. He would pull a full party vote here.

We agree perfectly with Editor John L. Parker of the Lynn Item that it is a good and commendable thing to recall in memory the grand service and gallant deeds of Woburn soldiers in the Civil War, and it is therefore with great pleasure that we publish his excellent historical sketch of Company F, 224 Mass. Vol., Regt. in the JOURNAL this week.

The Stoneham Independent is wide awake for Col. Woodward for Senator and is saying many good things concerning that estimable gentleman now a days. It looks as though the Colonel would get there without any fuss or trouble. Woburn Republicans are favorable to his election.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.
T. C. Evans—Wanted.
P. C. S. Bank—Notice.
Bucklin & Co.—Dr. King.

Mr. George T. Connor is taking his vacation.

Grace and Nellie Deyer are at Revere Beach for the season.

Principal Owen will leave here in about a week for his summer outing.

Washable neckwear made of some sort of silk or cotton.

The days have decreased in length 13 minutes. Where has summer gone to?

Last Sunday was the coldest 5th of July for many years. It was really too cold for comfort.

Yesterday was one of the humidity days that we read about. It was very uncomfortable.

Dr. Lawton, ophthalmic specialist, will be at Deans' jewelry store, Thursday, July 16, 1896.

Misses Anna and Hattie Frye have gone to Benzonia, Mich., where they will spend the summer.

We thank Mr. Warren Teel, of Davenport, Iowa, postoffice, for a big wad of late Western papers.

We return thanks to Capt. John P. Crane for a big basket of magnolia roses. No politeness in it.

Mr. P. E. Bancroft has sold his show business to Clarke & Firman of Boston. He has carried it on continuously 36 years.

City Solicitor Feeney has got the better of his malaria and is again attending to his law practice.

Attention is called to the auction sale by Mr. E. J. Gregory in this paper. It tells the whole story.

Wm. O. Brown started Monday on his bicycle for North Berwick, Me., where he will spend his vacation.

Almy and Charles R. Carter are at home from College and enjoying the vacation season for all it is worth.

The National Band are now well installed in their new hall on Main street over Thomas Moore's store.

There is to be a large bicycle meet in Woburn next Saturday afternoon and some fast riding is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Weston J. Gottare are summering at No. Brooklyn, Maine, within hailing distance of the Au Haut.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The estimated cost of macadamizing Main st. to the Winchester line is $6000. The work will be begun at once.

The Globe had another draught for a new city charter last Tuesday. This makes—we have forgotten how many.

Several out of town men were fined in the District Court on Monday morning for intoxication on the sea-side with a sharp northeast wind blowing.

The Reading attraction attracted crowds from Woburn and the country along the lines of the electric roads, and Boston, as usual, proved a strong magnet for our citizens. The beaches too drew many to them, although it was too cold for much comfort at the seaside with a sharp northeast wind blowing.

The Globe had another draught for a new city charter last Tuesday. This makes—we have forgotten how many.

Several out of town men were fined in the District Court on Monday morning for intoxication on the sea-side with a sharp northeast wind blowing.

Mr. Thomas D. Hevey, City Almoner and School Committee-man, has been suffering from an attack of malaria.

We heard that Mr. Lawrence Read was on the sick list last Sunday and several days following. Hope he is better.

Bow street is growing in population, high spirits, and well laden hamper-picknicked at Salem Willows last Wednesday, and on their return made a favorable report of the trip and day.

Mr. Gordon Parker and ex-Ald. Frank Fowle have returned from Maine. We prefer not to be responsible for the publicity of their stories concerning the big fish caught by them.

A 7-year old lad took and rode away with a horse and buggy from St. Charles church last Sunday. He and the team were captured by the police. He must be a daring young fellow indeed.

Mr. Frank Soles and family, together with Mrs. I. D. Stearns and Mrs. John Knight, are at Beachwood near Kennebunkport, Me., where they will enjoy the cool sea breezes during month of July.

Tomorrow a squad of Co. G will graunt letters patent for his special delivery letter alarm, described a few weeks ago in the JOURNAL, and now we suppose he will make piles of money out of it.

The Board of Health are making thorough work of cleansing Horn Pond. The improved quality of the water tanks is every day.

There was a fine rain Tuesday, but the farmers say there ought to be as much again more of it to properly saturate the ground.

Mrs. A. T. Rice and daughter, Miss Hattie, of Cleveland Ave., have gone to Vineyard Haven, Maine, to spend several weeks.

Hard times makes business for Mrs. Jenkins' Employment Office. She has been long at the business and her is "Old Reliable."

Mrs. Arthur Wyman went to Cottage City or Edgartown with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Murdoch, yesterday.

Mr. Harry F. Parker spent Independence Day with some Nashua, N. H., friends at Marblehead, where they had a picnic.

Mr. Hubbard Copeland, of the dry goods firm of Copeland & Bowser, has returned from a Down East trip. He was in Maine while away.

Our friend, Mr. John W. Francis, thinks he will run down to Kittery Point and get a breath of salt air by and by. Kittery is his old home.

Folks were sorry to see the old elms in front of the Sherman Converse estate on Salem st. cut down, but the march of improvement demanded it.

Seven persons united with the First Congregational church last Sunday, two by letter and 5 on profession of faith. Rev. Dr. Marek officiated.

Mrs. G. W. Norris and her daughters Grace and Sarah left here last week for Concord, N. H., where they will remain during the hot season.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class machine will be sold for $30.00. Call or write.—

It was so cold during the 4th that a good fire was necessary in order to keep comfortable. It was uncommon weather for the season of the year.

The JOURNAL's German Orchestra rendered several new pieces yesterday to the unbound delight of many street listeners. The band is the best one on the road.

Prof. Daniel Putnam, of the Michigan State Normal School, and wife are spending a few days with his brother, Mr. W. R. Putnam of Pleasant Street.

Clifford T. Hanson will spend a few weeks in New Brunswick. He hopes a salt water trip and change of air will drive the ague microbes out of his system.

Mr. A. N. Webster is holding a special sale of dry goods this week which ought to draw crowds to his store, and will there be any money in town. The sale began yesterday and will close today. Go early and get bargains.

Satisfactory laundry work cannot be done in a bleachery. Ours is a laundry, not a bleachery. Have you tried our laundry work? We can assure you, if you'll give us a chance, Drop a call for us to call. Richardson's Laundry.

The City Laundry has suspended operations, permanently or not we cannot say. It is said that the affairs of the North Woburn Street Railway merely illustrated with portraits of Mr. John E. Russell and Mr. Sylvester Call, the veteran conductor and driver. The former has been in continuous service since 1868, and the latter since 1874, placing them at the head of the profession in length of employment.

Misses Anna and Hattie Frye have gone to Benzonia, Mich., where they will spend the summer.

We thank Mr. Warren Teel, of Davenport, Iowa, postoffice, for a big wad of late Western papers.

We return thanks to Capt. John P. Crane for a big basket of magnolia roses. No politeness in it.

Mr. P. E. Bancroft has sold his show business to Clarke & Firman of Boston. He has carried it on continuously 36 years.

The first pondlilies of the season were gathered by Mrs. Knapp of Church Ave. early this week in Concord River. Some of them graced the Editor's table.

At last accounts Dr. Graves, Surgeon of the Ancients, and Queen Victoria were hobnobbing at Windsor Castle and enjoying each other's company very much.

Wm. O. Brown started Monday on his bicycle for North Berwick, Me., where he will spend his vacation.

Almy and Charles R. Carter are at home from College and enjoying the vacation season for all it is worth.

On account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Seudder, Rev. Dr. March, Pastor Emeritus, preached at the Congregational church last Sunday, morning and evening.

Rev. Mr. Seudder has recovered from a severe attack of chills and fever and will preach in his pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Police Officer Bernard Murphy went on vacation last Monday. He and his family will pass the two weeks at York Beach. Officer Tarr is spending his vacation in Canada.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The estimated cost of macadamizing Main st. to the Winchester line is $6000. The work will be begun at once.

— Last week John W. Johnson, Esq., was taken down again with malaria, but has recovered sufficiently to attend to his affairs. He was first taken with it about a year ago, since when he has had many severe attacks of the annoying disease.

Sup't. John Connolly manages to keep the inmates of City Hall in tolerable working trim by working hard himself and things are running quite smoothly in the building. We do not know how the place would get along without the faithful John to look after it.

There was a remarkable fall of mercury in thermometers last Friday. It fell 16 degrees in 16 minutes, and kept on growing more so. In the morning it was very hot, but cold enough for fires before noon, and by bedtime a warming pan was not bad to take.

— MEDICAL. Arrangements have been made whereby Dr. C. H. Jordan will attend to the professional business of Dr. Frank W. Graves during his absence in Europe. Calls left at Dr. Graves' office, No. 38 Pleasant st. will be promptly attended to by Dr. Jordan.—5.

— Mrs. Jack McConnell, landlady of the Central House, and her daughters Mamie and May, and Mrs. Ed. O'Neill, wife of Police Officer O'Neill, and children, are living in their cottage at Crescent Beach very happily. They will remain there a couple of months or so.

— Supt. John Connolly, manager of the Central House, and her daughters Mamie and May, and Mrs. Ed. O'Neill, wife of Police Officer O'Neill, and children, are living in their cottage at Crescent Beach very happily. They will remain there a couple of months or so.

— Insure your Property in Solid Companies!

S. B. GODDARD & SON,

General Insurance and Real Estate Agency.

New Savings Bank Building, Woburn, Mass.

Assets of Companies represented over Thirty Millions.

Losses promptly adjusted and paid at this office.

Boston Office—No. 93 Water Street.

— Yesterday noon Mrs. C. E. Sutherland kindly sent us a box of the largest and handsomest pansies we ever laid eyes on. We thank her for them.

Evidently Mrs. S. took much pains in gathering the flowers for them.

These are good days to go out and enjoy the rural charms of Sedgewick Park. They are at their height.

True, the red clover and daisies of the fields have been laid low by the mower's scythe, and the pleasing occupation of the hayfields are over; but the gardens are abloom, the pastures are verdant and breezy, the pellicid waters of a nearby lake shimmer in the sun, the groves are unbraided and musical, and all nature, touched off by the hand of the agricultural artist, invited to pleasure and repose. Sedgewick Park is well worth visiting at this season of the year.

— At the bicycle races held last Saturday on the Lynn cycle track, in the one-third of a mile, open to all, boys race, Dannie McElroy, Woburn's crack boy rider, finished first. The time was 52 1/5 seconds. He was presented with a handsome silver cup as the prize.

— Much of the success of the St. Charlet church festival last Saturday was due to the work put into it by Rev. Fr. Slattery, and it is not therefore surprising that he feels much gratified over it. Mr. Lawrence Read, W. M. Wooley and the Council were solemn and the ceremonies were solemn and impressive.

— At the bicycle races held last Saturday on the Lynn cycle track, in the one-third of a mile, open to all, boys race, Dannie McElroy, Woburn's crack boy rider, finished first. The time was 52 1/5 seconds. He was presented with a handsome silver cup as the prize.

— Hon. John M. Harlow attended the funeral of his predecessor in the Governor's Council, Hon. Luman T. Jets, at Hudson last Monday. Gov. Worcester and other members of his family were present. The funeral and the ceremonies were solemn and impressive.

— Yesterday noon Mrs. C. E. Sutherland kindly sent us a box of the largest and handsomest pansies we ever laid eyes on. We thank her for them.

Evidently Mrs. S. took much pains in gathering the flowers for them.

These are good days to go out and enjoy the rural charms of Sedgewick Park. They are at their height.

True, the red clover and daisies of the fields have been laid low by the mower's scythe, and the pleasing occupation of the hayfields are over; but the gardens are abloom, the pastures are verdant and breezy, the pellicid waters of a nearby lake shimmer in the sun, the groves are unbraided and musical, and all nature, touched off by the hand of the agricultural artist, invited to pleasure and repose. Sedgewick Park is well worth visiting at this season of the year.

— The summer vacation has come at last. Home amusements are petering out; business is dropping off, people are going away, and what are left are growing lazy. For a couple of months not much of anything else but vacation outings will be indulged in or thought of. The beaches and mountains and country boardwalks will now swarm with visitors and wherefore? Vacations, periodic cessation from labor, terms of idleness, this is all well enough, but how about the way it is spent? With many the season is the most tiresome of the year, and no benefit is derived from it.

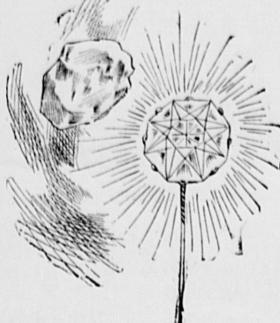

— The St. Charles Church picnic in the City Park last Saturday was the largest one ever held in Woburn. There were from 3500 to

A QUARTET

OF BARGAINS is a condensed way of stating it. It's the whole thing in a nutshell. A story quickly and plainly told suits the discerning buyer. Our Quartet of Bargains this week is a lot of GINGHAMS, DIMITYS, MUSLINS, and CREPONS at the nominal price of 10 cents per yard. You could tell them apart in the dark by finger contact. You know they are reasonable. All that remains for us to tell you is that they are fine in quality and pretty in pattern, that the lot is a limited one, and that at the price—10 cents per yard—they will melt away like dew before the sun.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech, but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,Two Stores: { South Berwick, Me.
Telephone, 4-3.G. R. GAGE & CO.*FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street. - - - Woburn

JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER,
and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience.
Boston Office, 100 Washington St.; Woburn, 19 Tremont. Woburn Office, H. W. Dean's Jewel Store, 379 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refer to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - - WOBURN.

We are constantly placing on our counters new lines of SMALL WARES, Ladies', Misses', and Children's, HOSE, Stocking Supporters, etc. Our regular Line of Ladies', Misses', and Children's, SUITS, WRAPPERS, etc., are always new and styles changed every week.

*Please call and see us even if you do not want to purchase.

Plumbing Plumbing

I have been employing the best of workmen and giving all personal attention to my job. I guarantee the best of work at low cost.

Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT.

392 Main St.

City Items.

A journeyman tailor in Constantinople receives 50 cents a day.

Washable neckwear in handsome effects at Richardson's, 431 Main street.

A peregrine falcon was taken a short time ago at Merton, England.

There are, in all, 39 miles of bookshelves in the British museum.

Washable neckwear in handsome effects at Richardsons, 431 Main street.

Read the announcement of C. Willard Smith in this paper.

Cuneo & Crovo kept the largest and best assortment of fruit in this market.

Don't go on your vacation without some good eating. Washable neckwear to look well, wear well, price lower than others charge for same value. Richardsons, 431 Main street.

Russia already ranks as sixth among the wine producing countries of the world.

Washable neckwear in handsome effects at Richardson's, 431 Main street.

There are 2,487 different varieties of flowers and ladiens to be used in emergencies.

Tunis, the famous black charger of General Bonaparte, has been accidentally burned to death.

Tucked with straw. Well, we can tickle a good body who wants a straw hat. The hats are right, styles right and prices right. Richardsons, 431 Main street.

Gerard, author of the famous "Herbal," grows his potatoes in his garden at Hobson in 1896.

Several Indian princes are expected to make the tour to England this summer, but at the lowest expense.

Metropolitan Market, Durward, proprietor is stocked with fine meats, vegetables and fruits as can be found in the State.

Don't depend on a poor suspender. It may give out at any time. We have the dependable, kind, a reasonable price. Richardsons, 431 Main street.

Mrs. Rhoda Noah, of this place, was taken in the night with cramps pains and the most violent set of fits. She took half a bottle of blackberry cordial, but got no relief. She then sent me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors been sick for a week or two, and had tried different remedies for diarrhea but kept getting worse. I sent him this same remedy. Only four doses of it were required to cure him. He says he owes its recovery to this wonderful remedy—Mrs. Mary Sibley, Shirey, Mich. For sale by A. W. Whitcher, druggist.

M. C. A.

The 4 o'clock Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday afternoon will be a Union Praise Service. Songs and appropriate music will be thrown upon the screen, and all men, women and children are invited to come and sing.

Full Information.

LYNN, July 9, 1896.

DEAR BROTHER HORRIS:—In the Journal of June 26, in alluding to the death of Cyrus M. Cutler, of Co. F, 22d Mass. Vols., you say, "He died in Concord, where he was born." Conrade Barrett's history, however, is not so far as I am aware, to the somewhat uncertain history of the company." Conrade Barrett's list, to which you refer, is a "Roster of Soldiers and Sailors of Woburn, who served in the War for the Union, 1861-65." It is a list of names of young men of Lexington joining the Woburn Union Guard, and served honorably to the end of their terms of service, but they were credited to the quota of Lexington, where they all had homes. Cutler was a brother of Mr. Joseph R. Kendall, now a resident of Woburn, but now I believe living in California where a brother, A. D. Cutler, also resides.

You are a little off when you speak of the "somewhat uncertain history" of the Woburn Union Guard, as far as I am aware, it was not until 1863 that the company became a regular organization, having been extending over several months. In 1863 the History of the Henry Wilson Regiment was published, which organization included the Woburn Union Guard as Co. F. The book is in our public library, and I have heard Conrade Barrett, who is a good judge of such matters, speak of the history of the company terms. The late Charles Carlton Coffin said it was the best history of a Massachusetts regiment that had been published. Of the 101 men who were known as the Woburn Company in the 22d Mass. Regiment, only 30 survived. Three of us are living in Lynn and there are seven in Woburn. The other 20 are scattered all over country.

The Woburn Union Guard was the first company from Woburn to enlist for three years, and when it did so, it was a regular organization, having been formed in action, one losing a leg and one an arm fifteen were taken prisoners and 42 were discharged for wounds or disease contracted in the service. The 22d was the only regiment which embraced a company of sharpshooters throughout its term of service. It was the first regiment to draw the fire of the rebel batteries at Yorktown, and the first to capture a fort in the works after the evacuation. It was the last regiment to leave its position at Haines' Mill, and but one other regiment lost more men in that battle. It lost 59 per cent of the men it took into the fight at Gettysburg, and fired the last gun in the battle, saving for Lt. Col. C. C. Clegg, who was killed in action, 100 wounded, and 241 were discharged for wounds or disease contracted in the service. Two-thirds of the number present in the Army of the Potomac when the three years expired, re-enlisted and served to the end of the war being transferred to the 32d Regiment. This was furnished five General officers, Tilson, Sherwin, Wardwell, Paine and Miles, the latter the present Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Army.

These facts are known to many Woburners, but it is good to remember that our present generation know that the name of Woburn was gallantly borne from 61 to 65, by the members of Co. F, 22d Mass. Vols.

Yours truly,
JOHN L. PARKER

Ladies' Night.

We approach the subject of the Imiton Canoe Club's Ladies' Night with fear and trembling lest we fail to do it justice. A "Faber No. 2 Medium" is hardly a fit instrument for such a delicate, graceful, such site as handling such a dress of description, such a command of the best words to be found in the dictionary, are quite appropriate for such an occasion. For the last two nights we have had ladies' "nursery" made to read.

On Saturday, Dec. 16, 1864, died at North Woburn, Capt. Stephen Nichols and his wife, Mrs. Abigail Nichols, respectively 68 and 67 years of age. In their case was the rare coincidence, after a married life of 47 years, of both dying on the same day.

The Ladies Anti-Slavery Society gave a social entertainment on the evening of Dec. 18, 1855.

The Editor of the Journal, under the South Reading department, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling incident occurred in early December, in a somewhat serious, but amusing speech, said, "The mass lecture course of the Woburn Institute, which was to be given on the 21st, was suspended before him."

The two lives only were lost. The victims were two pigs, whose domicile was attached to the course.

Another trifling

McGowan's Pass tavern and the Casino, where the gloom of the morning is dispelled in the bubbling and sparkling cheer of the afternoon.

By 7 o'clock he is ready to dine again, and sometimes, even at this stage of the game, the undivided attention of his valet is needed to get him dressed. After dinner, which, as is the case with the one which follows the theater, he seldom fails to settle for, he goes to the theater and the usual performance is repeated, with occasional variations.

He numbers many friends in his assets to be sure, faithful clinging friends, who will desist him the moment his bankers send word that he has overdrawn. But he spends $60,000 a year, and they are all he has to show for it.—New York Press.

RESTING POSTURES.

The Different Attitudes That Are Assumed by Different Peoples.

For us Europeans the attitude of repose is lying down, but among the nervous system. The young men of our race come suffers from nervous debility or exhaustion, nervous prostration or weakness. This is the result of the nervous wear and tear, or the result of bad practices and excesses, or pernicious habits, contracted in youth through ignorance. These evil trifles, weak nerves, dizziness, shooting pains in head or chest, sometimes indisposition. The middle-aged men, as well, suffer from exhaustion, loss of manly power, laminitis, impotency, sterility, and many degradations of mind and body. The ill-used brain is morbidly wide awake while the over-worked business man attempts to find rest in bed.

The physicians and specialists of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute detect the best means to cure these diseases, bringing such unfortunate to health and happiness. A great Doctor Book of 1000 pages, profusely illustrated, treating of these maladies and setting forth a number of home-treatment for their cure, is sent on receipt of twenty-one ($1) cents for postage and wrapped only.

* * *

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 66 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

HIS $50,000 A YEAR.

HOW A YOUNG NEW YORKER SPENDS THAT AMOUNT.

He Does It With Comparative Ease and Has Nothing to Show For It—He Has Many Friends, but They Will Last Only While His Check Is Good.

How to live on $50,000 a year seems simple enough—cruelly and sarcastically simple to the thousands of toilers who are now living on $8 a week and newspaper tables d'hôtes, but how to live on $50,000 a year and have nothing to show for it at the end of the 12 months except a tangled retrospective and a nine months' refusal on a little hollow-chested grave in a quiet corner of a lovely cemetery is another question—a question which it is safe to presume, would keep Bute Smashmore and other biseantine brewing scientists guessing for a long time. But it can be done, and is being done today right here in New York city, by a round-faced, boyish-looking young man who has been spending $50,000 a year for the last 23 months, and who has succeeded so well that he has not even a pair of bicycle stockings or a golf stick to show for his investment.

Fifty thousand dollars annually is a pretty snug sum. It is what the Vandeburys par, Chamberlain, M. Dewey, for governing their enormous railroad interests, and it is the amount that Uncle Sam gives each year to the president of the United States for running this republic. Both Dr. Dewey and President Cleveland have managed on their salary to lay up a little for a rainy day, and they have lived reasonably well besides. But this young man, who scrapes along on half a hundred thousand each year, has not put one talent in a napkin, and from the viewpoint of the ordinary citizen he has not lived so very well either.

His income is something more than $136 a day, and the sun never goes down—or rises, rather, for he does not retire until after 10 p.m., and sleep enough, so that he can readily catch up the next day. It is not such a difficult thing as it would appear at first sight either—not when you know how.

His 23 months' apprenticeship has made him terribly proficient. He began reaping that which he did not sow upon the death of a relative who left a fortune large enough to make a perceptible cavity in the national debt if he had chosen to apply it for that purpose. The young man, however, is making a hole in it rapidly, and he hasn't even any one to censure him.

His first step in his efforts to live up to his income was to get bachelor apartments in a swagger building in the Tenth Avenue. For those he pays $1,200 a year and probably $100 or more for light and water. The chief item of furniture in these apartments is a sofa, which costs him $60 a month, or allowing for what the man can borrow, when his master is not looking, $100 monthly.

At this rate it can readily be seen that he would fall far short of fulfilling his mission, but that is only the cornerstone. He has a suit of rooms in a big up town hotel for which he pays $300 a month, and in order to help along he fails to appear at either the bachelor apartments or the hotel about three times a week and spends between $20 and $30 for his forgetfulness. He does not keep a stable, because he can get rid of more money and with less trouble by patronizing liverymen and cab. His livery bill for January and February was $2,500. With these excellent opportunities for filling a paper's grave he is not content, and so he has called to his aid that modest spender of them all, the solicitor. Now it might go by that he does not send a lumper costing from $10 to $20, according to his caprices. That item of flowers alone stood him $3,000 last year.

After the theater there is a dinner, at which he is invariably the host, and sometimes the souffrante and a few of his friends are his guests, and sometimes the entire company of which she is a member. The check rarely falls short of $25, and is never less than $15, so that with her assistance and the assistance of her friends he gets on very nicely.

It is a hard, fast pace this young man has to go to spend $50,000 a year, with his limited resources, and it requires many stimulants. In the haggard green of the dawn he goes home—or gets home somehow—and sleeps the sleep of the heavily-headed until 11 o'clock a.m. Then he awakes, or rather opens his eyes. The awakening process is accomplished by a stone jug which his man, curiously enough, ate at a young man's bedside each morning. The little jug holds the best quality of rye whisky that is distilled, and it requires between 10 and 12 long pulls at the jug before he is in training and fit to begin the day's programme.

A noon he gets dressed and breakfasts at the Waldorf, Delmonico's or the St. James. Then there is an hour for meditation, in which he endeavors feebly to recall the engagements of the night before. Generally, they consist of a walk in the park, with frequent tarryings at

Puritana

Nature's Cure

Puritana makes the Heart Right, Lungs Right, Liver Right, Blood Right, Kidneys Right, Nerves Right, Health Right, because it makes A Right Stomach.

Fred M. Burroughs, who is with N. Bowen & Co., Boston, and who lives at 32 Lincoln St., Charlestown, says: "Last December I was all run down with stomach and bowel trouble. I was tried with every kind of medicine and none helped. I used Puritana and felt good results from the start. I can eat now anything within reason, can enjoy my food, and am not troubled by it after meals. My bowels are as regular as a clock. Puritana appeals to me as a grand good cause for those afflicted with stomach trouble, and especially indigestion."

If you are a sufferer, get a sample of the Puritana Compound, send us $1.00 for the complete treatment, consisting of one bottle of Puritana, one bottle of Milk, and one bottle of Puritana tables, also enclosing a postage, or write to the undersigned, and we will send you a sample.

The Puritana Compound Co., Concord, N. H.

The Corpulent Hamlet.

Four passages have caused more comment than the words of the queen in the fencing scene that Hamlet is "fat and want of breath." For this Mr. Tree proposes to read "faint and scant of breath." Mr. Tree is not the first to make the suggestion. It originated with Mr. H. Wyeth of Winchester, who proposed it to Dr. Ingleby, who in turn communicated it as a fine reading to Mr. Aldis Wright, who, on March 9, 1867, gave it publicity in Notes and Queries. The suggestion was held on the authority of Roberts, the player, that Lowin, who was known to have acted Falstaff and King Henry VIII and might consequently have been supposed to be inclined to corpulence, was the original Hamlet. In this case the use of the word "faint" would be justified and explained.

More recent evidence shows, however, that the probability that Burroughs himself was also stout, and might thus have justified the employment of the word. Mr. Sydney Lee, in "Dictionary of National Biography," favors the notion that "faint" should be read for "fat." Plathow in his "Hamlet, Prinz von Danemarck," would substitute "hot," and quotes an earlier line of the King speaking of having a chalice prepared for the combatants when they are "hot and dry." To all this I only answer that "faint" is the reading of all the folios and quartos. The safe and sensible rule at length adopted in Shakespearean criticism is that when a sentence has a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like." She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

A brown faced, black eyed Bedouin matron, in a long, loose robe of blue linen, came forward to greet us, and in her lap were a heap of cucumbers, onions and melons. Like Abigail, she brought gifts. She was the wife of Ali Dial, a woman 35 or 40 years of age, clean, genial and "wise-like."

She stroked my wife's chin several times and kissed her repeatedly. She was unveiled and spoke freely to myself. Apologizing for her husband's absence, she gave us an intimation to a faint that she only had a distinct and conceivable meaning it is not to be disturbed by conjecture. "Fat" is intelligible enough, and we leave it as it stands. However, I venture to think, that the word that Shakespeare intentionally used, and is better and more appropriate than all suggested substitutes.—Gentleman's Magazine.

How a Shawl Was Smoothed Out.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

BRYAN AND SEWELL.

From the silver standpoint, and on the score of ability and loyalty, the Chicago convention made the best possible nominations last week. Bryan and Sewell are strongly and honestly in favor of the remonetization of silver and the maintenance of the double standard of the Constitution; as to ability none but fools deny them that; and Nebraska and Maine are far enough apart, geographically and industrially, to silence all criticisms as to locality. It is a great wonder that the convention did so well as to candidates for President and Vice President.

Some Eastern people and papers sneer at the work of the Chicago Democratic convention and pretend that there "isn't going to be much of a shower after all." They call the men of the convention and their followers lunatics and cranks and other hard names, but there is a bare possibility that they may view it in a different light after the vote is counted in November. It looks as though the fight might be a pretty stiff one, and with a solid South, nearly all the Western States, and possibly here and there an Eastern one, for silver, or the double standard, our party are not going to have the easy walkover that some men profess to be looking for.

If the tariff were the issue instead of money, the Democratic party would be knocked out in one round; but when the issue comes to be between the banks and the people nobody can tell what the result will be.

HE'S COMING SURE POP.

Now that the way has been made smooth by the electric street railroad, we intend to go over to Woburn some time and view the lay of the land. It like it very much, perhaps the syndicate owning the Chronicle may buy out the whole town. They are fond of transactions of the kind. That's where they made all their money. Publishing a newspaper is a mere incident and promoted to business. But when our entry is made over there, want no ovation, being very modest. Will one of the Woburn editors please see the Mayor and ask him not to call out the troops when he is notified of our coming.—Reading Chronicle.

Come on, you Nestor of the Middlesex press, you shall have an ovation that will make your head swim for a month. Troops? Any quantity of them, with Mayor Allen at the head, and lemonade and bananas till you can't rest.

GRAND RATIFICATION MEETING.

The Republicans of Massachusetts assembled in great force at Music Hall, Boston, last Tuesday evening to ratify the nominations of McKinley and Hobart. It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic Mass Meetings ever held in the Old Bay State.

Senator Lodge, Governor Wolcott, Curtis Guild, Jr., Chairman Lyman of the State Committee, Ex-President Butler of the Senate, were the speakers, and they made the welkin ring with their eloquence—the golden ring. Not one of them doubted the triumph of the Republican ticket in November.

FOUND DEAD.

Ex-Gov. William E. Russell was found dead in his bed in the camp of Mr. B. F. Dutton of Boston, at St. Adelaide, Quebec, yesterday morning, where he went to rest after the Chicago convention.

Warren Teele writes us from Davenport that Iowa will give McKinley and Hobart 140,000 majority this fall. He will probably revise his figures later on. He sends newspaper slips from which we gather that the Davenport Democrat repudiates the Democrat is owned by "Dick" Richardson who is president of one of the National Banks in that city. This may account for the milk in the cocoanut. And besides, "Dick" is getting to be an old man.

If the plaintiff which escaped the Providence (R. I.) Telegraph is heard from the Chicago convention last Saturday indicated the true state of its feelings that it was an object of pity. It uttered a moan. The trouble was, so it said, as the organ of the Democratic party of Rhode Island, it had nowhere to lay its head. It didn't want Bryan and wouldn't have McKinley; it had no candidate, no party, no nothing; it felt lonesome—forsaken, as it were.

Lawyer Francis P. Curran of this city was one of the speakers at the Democratic Ratification Meeting in Faneuil Hall last Tuesday evening. George Fred Williams was there and received a tremendous ovation.

Curran said he witnessed a recent parade of prisoners at the penitentiary and it reminded him of the Democratic State convention.

The Boston Globe formally declared, last Saturday, its inability to support the ticket nominated at Chicago. "Dollars to doughnuts" the Globe and all other Eastern bolters will be harrasing for Bryan and Sewell at the top of their voices within a month. Stick a pin right there. Mad, they went off half cocked, and will regret it.

Speaker Reed expressed the opinion last Monday that the Republicans would carry Maine this fall; Arthur Sewell, Democratic candidate for Vice President, thinks they will not.

Last Saturday the Boston Standard, organ of the A. P. A. organization, gave up the ghost after a brief and troubled existence. Nobody was surprised at its decease.

C. C. Stone & Co., the marketmen, ministers to the wants of the people in matters of meat, vegetables, fruit, etc. in good style.

The Anti-Biennial Club have established a literary bureau and are sending out documents. They are wasting their powder. Biennial elections in this State are sure to come. The people want them, and are going to have them.

Sam K. Hamilton of Wakefield is said to be, just for the present, a "gold bug" Democrat, and his old law partner, Ben F. Hamilton, down in Maine, is a Republican "silverite." Such is politics.

A member of the Board of Aldermen has already begun to lay plans for promotion to the head of the city government. He is much more likely to be struck by lightning than to be elected Mayor.

Mayor Quincy of Boston is still on the fence, but inclined to follow the fruits of the Chicago convention. All of them will take their medicine by and like little men.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

F. A. Loring—Plates,
John Hinman—Plates,
W. H. Smith—For Sale,
E. G. Fisher—Mort. Sale,
E. G. Fisher—Sale,
E. G. Fisher—Mort. Sale,
P. L. Converse—Legends,
J. G. Maguire—Mort. Sale.

Read "Store for sale" in this paper.

The Mayor has stopped work on the roads in Ward 6.

Read the card of Mr. J. W. Nichols in this paper.

Judge Johnson has gone away with his boys who are not very well.

Drop in and see the bargains Leah has in Ladies Button Boots and Oxfords.

"Seen and heard from my window" will appear in the JOURNAL next week, provide permitting.

William Woodbridge has left Wakefield and came to Woburn to live with his son, Mark Woodbridge.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

A. L. Richardson & Bros. have sued the city to recover damages for fouling their water supply without notice.

W. H. Smith, Esq., advertises his fine homestead on Salem street for sale. It is one of the best places in this city.

Comrades A. P. Barrett, Water Registrar, and Capt. W. H. Mathews enjoyed a delightful sail to Gloucester last Tuesday.

Miss Minnie Simonds was so ill with malaria last Saturday that she had to leave her post of duty in Webster's store and go home.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st., Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—

Orders for piano tuning by Frank A. Locke can be left as usual at store formerly occupied by Deans, the jewelers, and will receive prompt attention.

W. H. Smith, Esq., advertises his fine homestead on Salem street for sale. It is one of the best places in this city.

Comrades A. P. Barrett, Water Registrar, and Capt. W. H. Mathews enjoyed a delightful sail to Gloucester last Tuesday.

Miss Minnie Simonds was so ill with malaria last Saturday that she had to leave her post of duty in Webster's store and go home.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st., Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—

Orders for piano tuning by Frank A. Locke can be left as usual at store formerly occupied by Deans, the jewelers, and will receive prompt attention.

Rev. Edward F. Wheeler of St. Louis, Mo., son of Mrs. Frances C. Wheeler of No. Woburn, and brother of Mrs. William W. Hill, preached at the First Congregational church at 7 o'clock last Sunday evening. He preached a good, sound, orthodox sermon to a sermon that had some plausibility as well as pathology in it. By the way, Mrs. Wheeler was visiting her son at St. Louis at the time of the great cyclone there last month. She knows how it is herself now.

Mr. E. C. Leathie says the bicycle trade isn't what it used to be in these parts. It is "all cut up" and whereas it was once possible for a dealer to "make a dollar" nobody is now getting anything out of it. That is the Yankee all over; as quick as a man is discovered making anything at a particular avocation the genuine, dyed-in-the-wool Yank can't see why he too may not make a go of it and so he rushes in, a lot of others follow, and the whole trade is ruined. Thus it is in the bicycle business.

The Woburn Brass Band will give a Concert on the Common Wednesday evening, July 22:

PROGRAM.

1. March, St. Augustine. Hughes

2. Overture, Crown of Gold. Hughes

3. Concert Solo—Columbia Fantasy. Rollinson

4. Selections, All Around the City. Beyer

5. Trio for 2 Clarinets and Piano. Little

6. Messrs. Moran, Brauer and Woods. King

7. Concert Waltz, Ma Belle Adore. De Roy

8. Schottische, Linda. Prendiville

9. Scholar Medley. At the Metropolis. Rosey

10. Finale. T. H. Marquis Director.

H. MARSHALL, Director.

In the District Court last Tuesday, Judge Luce of Waltham presided. George W. Norris, Esq., was given judgment for his entire bill against Mrs. McLaughlin of Woburn for legal services.

Main st. is to be macadamized to the Winchester town line this summer.

Whether or not this will depend on the action of the Finance Committee on the proposition to shave down transfers we are unable to say.

Thomas P. Coniffe, a member of the N. Y. Athletic Club, is a guest of R. P. Russell of this city, who is Secretary of the Suffolk Club of Boston. He will go to England in a few days to run against Bacon, the champion.

The switches to connect the Woburn & Reading Street Railroad tracks with the straight Main st. track of the North Woburn Street Railroad, at the junction of Main st. and Montvale ave., are being made. It is a good move.

Two of the busiest men in this city are City Engineer George F. Hartshorn and his right bower Will B. Jones. There ought to be an addition to the force. Woburn is too large to worry along with an engineering corps so small.

"The Boss of Winchester" showed his peculiar qualities last week by stopping work on the N. W. S. R. on the most frivolous pretext that could well be imagined. Many sensible people were disgusted with his idiotic and egotistic conduct.

Mrs. Mayor Allen, who had been poorly several days, had a bad turn of neuralgia in the region of the heart Sunday evening. Dr. Bartlett was hastily summoned and on arriving gave medicine that soon relieved her. The lady is not in good health this summer.

C. C. Stone & Co., the marketmen, ministers to the wants of the people in matters of meat, vegetables, fruit, etc. in good style.

MEDICAL. Arrangements have been made whereby Dr. C. H. Jordan will attend to the professional business of Dr. Frank W. Graves during his absence in Europe. Calls left at Dr. Graves' office, No. 38 Pleasant st. will be promptly attended to by Dr. Jordan.—5.

The heated term set in on July 9 and continued to increase in intensity until life nearly became a burden. It was extremely hot on Sunday, worse Monday, on Tuesday the wind shifted a little more northerly but not enough to seriously temper the atmosphere, and took it all in it was a torrid spell of weather.

Company A of Wakefield felt bigger than life because their team happened to worst C. G.'s team at a shooting match over there last Saturday by just a few points. Our Woburn boys had the malarial and weren't feeling very well themselves, else the Wakefield fellows wouldn't have been in it just a little bit.

Mr. Edward E. Parker has been awarded the contract to supply the large new Catholic church in Medford with steam heating apparatus. It is a big job, but Mr. Parker is equal to the emergency. He is furnishing Mr. J. K. Murdoch's fine residence with heating arrangements, and is doing a large amount of such work elsewhere. He is capable and perfectly reliable.

Next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there will be a roasting rally conducted by the Sunday Protective League of Massachusetts held at the First Congregational church. The speaker will be Rev. Dr. M. D. Kocland. Dr. Kocland is a splendid speaker and those who miss hearing him will lose a treat. Everybody is cordially invited. The theme is one of deep interest to every citizen of our State.

The alarm from box 24 about 12 o'clock Wednesday night was for a fire in an unoccupied dwellinghouse which was partly consumed, on Mishawka Road, owned by Mrs. Abby W. Watson. Loss $1200. At 2:45 Thursday morning another alarm came in from box 28 for a fire which destroyed the large factory and part of a dwellinghouse belonging to the Carr Bros. on Main st. North Woburn. Loss $12,000.

We received a polite invitation from the Board of Health, penned by their accomplished Clerk, John Lynch, to join delegations from the Boards of Health of several neighboring towns and cities yesterday in a scientific search for microbes in the waters of Horn Pond, for which we return heartfelt thanks. We were unable to attend the investigation, and have heard nothing of the results, but presume the water will be all right hereafter.

The Normandy Woman's Orchestra will accept engagements for parties, receptions and entertainments. For particulars address Miss A. Josephine Lang, 413 Main street, Woburn, Mass. Miss Eleanor Manus, violinist; Miss Grace Callahan, pianist; and Miss Josephine Lang, pianist; are the members of the Normandy Woman's Orchestra. Too much cannot be said of this popular organization. It has already gained for itself a reputation which is above criticism.

Rev. Edward F. Wheeler of St. Louis, Mo., son of Mrs. Frances C. Wheeler of No. Woburn, and brother of Mrs. William W. Hill, preached at the First Congregational church at 7 o'clock last Sunday evening. He preached a good, sound, orthodox sermon to a sermon that had some plausibility as well as pathology in it. By the way, Mrs. Wheeler was visiting her son at St. Louis at the time of the great cyclone there last month. She knows how it is herself now.

Mr. E. C. Leathie says the bicycle trade isn't what it used to be in these parts. It is "all cut up" and whereas it was once possible for a dealer to "make a dollar" nobody is now getting anything out of it. That is the Yankee all over; as quick as a man is discovered making anything at a particular avocation the genuine, dyed-in-the-wool Yank can't see why he too may not make a go of it and so he rushes in, a lot of others follow, and the whole trade is ruined. Thus it is in the bicycle business.

Get acquainted with our Outing Shirts to know solid comfort in hot weather. Shirts as good as ours are sold in every store. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Capt. James Durward asks: "why do you talk about the Mary James?" and adds: "they have been dead and buried years and years." Then thus it must be.

Next week Officer French is going to try to make the District Court believe that Dennis Begley used profane language on the street. He'll have his hands full to do it.

On Tuesday last Mr. David A. Hunt of Warren street sent us, per Mr. Nichols, the first fruits of his pendulum clock in the shape of an unopened lily, for which we give thanks.

The request of E. E. Thompson et al. for highway work on Montvale avenue is a reasonable one and ought to be granted. It is an important thoroughfare, but in a deplorable condition.

If the plaint which escaped the Providence (R. I.) Telegraph is heard from the Chicago convention last Saturday indicated the true state of its feelings that it was an object of pity. It uttered a moan. The trouble was, so it said, as the organ of the Democratic party of Rhode Island, it had nowhere to lay its head. It didn't want Bryan and wouldn't have McKinley; it had no candidate, no party, no nothing; it felt lonesome—forsaken, as it were.

Lawyer Francis P. Curran of this city was one of the speakers at the Democratic Ratification Meeting in Faneuil Hall last Tuesday evening. George Fred Williams was there and received a tremendous ovation.

Curran said he witnessed a recent parade of prisoners at the penitentiary and it reminded him of the Democratic State convention.

The Boston Globe formally declared, last Saturday, its inability to support the ticket nominated at Chicago. "Dollars to doughnuts" the Globe and all other Eastern bolters will be harrasing for Bryan and Sewell at the top of their voices within a month. Stick a pin right there. Mad, they went off half cocked, and will regret it.

Speaker Reed expressed the opinion last Monday that the Republicans would carry Maine this fall; Arthur Sewell, Democratic candidate for Vice President, thinks they will not.

Last Saturday the Boston Standard, organ of the A. P. A. organization, gave up the ghost after a brief and troubled existence. Nobody was surprised at its decease.

C. C. Stone & Co., the marketmen, ministers to the wants of the people in matters of meat, vegetables, fruit, etc. in good style.

The switches to connect the Woburn & Reading Street Railroad tracks with the straight Main st. track of the North Woburn Street Railroad, at the junction of Main st. and Montvale ave., are being made. It is a good move.

Two of the busiest men in this city are City Engineer George F. Hartshorn and his right bower Will B. Jones. There ought to be an addition to the force. Woburn is too large to worry along with an engineering corps so small.

"The Boss of Winchester" showed his peculiar qualities last week by stopping work on the N. W. S. R. on the most frivolous pretext that could well be imagined. Many sensible people were disgusted with his idiotic and egotistic conduct.

A QUARTET

OF BARGAINS is a condensed way of stating it. It's the whole thing in a nutshell. A story quickly and plainly told suits the discerning buyer. Our Quartet of Bargains this week is a lot of GINGHAM'S, DIMITYS, MUSLINS, and CREPONS at the nominal price of 10 cents per yard. You will be pleased to know that we have a good supply of these fabrics. All that remains for us to tell you is that they are fine in quality and nice in pattern, that the lot is a limited one, and that at the price—10 cents per yard—they will melt away like dew before the sun.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech, but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

Two Stores: 409 Main Street, Woburn.
South Berwick, Me.

Telephone, 4-3.

G. R. GAGE & CO.FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street. - - - Woburn
JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience. Home Office, Hall, Dr. Adams Room, 179 Tremont St., Boston. Office, H. W. Moore, Store, 379 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

G. T. CONNOR,

No. 347 Main St. - - - WOBURN.

We are constantly placing on our counters new lines of SMALL WARES, Ladies', Misses', and Children's HOSE, Stocking Supporters, etc. Our regular Line of Ladies', Misses', and Children's, SUITS, WRAPPERS, etc., are always new and styles changed every week.

*Please call and see us even if you do not want to purchase.

Plumbing Plumbing

I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal attention to all jobs, I guarantee to do all work at lowest possible prices.
Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT,

Main St.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Board held a meeting on Thursday evening, July 9, with President Conn in the Chair.

The following petitions were received: From Bridget McDermott for electric light on Grove street; John Lyons for piano wire which he had to pay $100.00 to have made; D. R. Post for our team to call. Richardson's Laundry.

Unless the face is set like a flint against all sin the door of the heart will open to it.

Men drift toward the devil at first. They never go to meet him on the run.

Whoever does a wrong thing to-day will have to do another to-morrow.

The man who lives only for himself robs his God and wrongs his neighbor.

The thing that hurts most is devil is not so much our profession as it is a picture.

You can't help being pleased with our laundry work. It's carefully done, washed with the best neutral soap, no acids, and finished by expert hands, help, when nicely washed ought to be taken for granted.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00 to have made.

The reason adduced by Prest. Conn for piano wire was that he had to pay $100.00

A Startling Admission.

In New York City, for five consecutive years, the proportion of Deaths from Consumption has been three in every Twenty Persons.

Epidemics of Cholera, Yellow Fever and other diseases of similar character, so terrible in their results, occasion wide spread alarm and receive the most careful consideration in their prevention and cure, while consumption receives scarcely a thought, yet the number of their victims sinks into insignificance when compared with those of consumption. The reason for this we all know well to do for their loved ones when they see them gradually lose strength, loss of color, manifest feeble vitality and emaciation, and finally death, with intermission of breathing, or hemorrhage. Coal River oil had for a long time given in all such cases, but there was no success, and its use continued with its unquestioning taste by many practitioners, as well as the public at large, to place their main reliance in Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," a deservedly popular nostrum, professedly unequalled in every case but a large percentage of cases, and we believe that 95 per cent of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the "Discovery." Dr. Pierce does not ask people to believe until they have investigated for themselves. A great Doctor Book, and one of the most professedly illustrated, has been published, naming the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, intercurrent asthma, chronic cough, consumption, and certain maladies which will be mailed free to those sending 25 cents in one-cent stamps to cover postage and expenses. You can then write them and learn their experiences. The book is a veritable medical library, complete in every way.

Address for book, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE KING'S COURIERS.

When the sun sets in his journeys,
Leaves the myrtle and the vine,
And comes riding bravely northward
Through the land of snow and pine,
Over the meadows and the forests,
Down the valley and the hills,
Brightening up the very shadows.
With their shining livery!
Up the valley and the hills,
Swinging, swinging, nodding, playing,
Comes the king and smiling train.

There are buttercups and daisies
In the fields of early spring,
And the cowslip bells of yellow,
All the flowers of the earth,
While the seraphim in Juntempe
Mid the grasses shilly sleep—
Loyal little hearts of sunshine
That the sunbeams kiss,
And the sunny black-eyed Susan Plants her fluted yellow hill
Down the river's rippling borders,
Up the crowning of the hill.

Then the goldenrod comes riding,
Doubtless to the rear,
When the king has set retirets
In the waning of the year,
How to please the flowers of frost,
Mild as the tiny breeze
With the gold and crimson mantles
Of the pages' livers!

One by one they pass before,
Till the sunbeams are all train,
Sweeping slowly to the southward,
Passes from our view again.

Mildred McNeal in Youth's Companion.

A PRUSSIAN CANNON.

I was on my way to the village, toiling up the old paved road on a slope known for miles around as the steepest climbing in the neighborhood.

As I stopped to take breath old Sauvage, the owner of the Rising Sun, an inn most discreetly perched at the top of its thirsty summit, came up behind me and accosted me with a cordial "Good day." We went on together, glad of each other's company, and at last arrived at the very steepest part of the way, a sheer incline abutting on a ravine, at the bottom of which flowed the river, and bordered by a green hedge, the only protection against a fall over its side.

Right in the very middle of this hedge was a great gap, which seemed as though some massive weight had crashed through it.

"Has there been an accident here?" I asked my companion.

"Better than that," was his answer. "That hedge wears still the scars of war, like a disabled soldier. A terrible thing happened there."

"Tell me about it," I begged, and as we advanced slowly under the burning sun he began:

"It was the 17th of December, in the year of misfortune, 1870, a date I have good reason for remembering."

"On the afternoon of the day before, a troop of German soldiers had arrived among us. No one thought much about it at first. We had grown accustomed to such visits by them, for our village is on the road to Germany, and for the last three months heaven knows we had seen nothing but Prussians and Bavarians, ulhans and artillerymen, caucassians and foot soldiers passing through—a never ending stream."

"This time it was only an infantry battalion. It halted up there in front of our place by the church. But evidently something extraordinary had happened.

"The soldiers were in a group, gesticulating, shouting, swearing. I could hear them at it from the house. The commandant was the most furious of all.

"While he was raging up and down a captain pointed out to him the house opposite to ours. And at once he seemed overjoyed. He called out some order in his lingos. Four men came out of the ranks, and, followed by them and the captain, marched forthwith to the house pointed out to him, looked at its signboard and read aloud, 'Jacques Bruléfort, engine and machinery mender.' Then he opened the door and entered with the officer.

"I wondered what the Prussians could be wanting with Jacques and said to myself, 'Look out for squalls,' for I must tell you Jacques hated the Prussians, and he was a hot headed fellow. He had served with the army in Africa, and though he was well past 40 he was as agile as a cat and dexterous as a monkey."

"So I said to myself when I saw the two Prussian officers going in to friend Jacques, 'There'll be a row, I warrant.' And I wasn't far out, as you'll see."

"They had hardly been inside for three minutes when I heard a great shouting. Then out came the commandant, as red as a cock's comb, and shouted out some rigmarole to the four men who had staid outside. They rushed into the workshop, and I knew that they must have had orders to fetch out Jacques.

"I saw a man suddenly leap out of the loft and run for dear life along the road. It was Jacques, and he went like a runaway horse, but a few minutes after a Prussian showed his ugly face at the very window Jacques had jumped out through.

"He didn't jump out, it was too far from the ground for that, but he rushed down the staircase with his men, called up the others and set them, like dogs, on the track of the runner. Ah, so he did; but there was no Jacques to be seen! Every trace of him had disappeared.

"Every one knew already what had happened. My wife had been up at Jacques' house to see what had been done, and she has a tongue of her own, you know, a regular woman."

"It seems that the commandant had wanted Jacques to go with him at once, without a moment's notice. He wanted him to repair a great steam engine he was escorting with his battalion, and that he had to leave behind a mile back. The night before the engineer had been killed as they came through a wood by a franc-tireur, and he wanted some one to replace him in bringing along the machine which was stuck there. The machine was dragging along a great cannon destined for the bombardment of Paris.

"He had come to the wrong shop this time. Jacques got white as a sheet and said, 'Supposing I won't do anything of the kind?' The commandant told him, with a sneer, 'Then you'll be forced to,' for he spoke French like a schoolmaster, the great lanky lout. Jacques, with one bound, skipped through the door behind him and once out of sight got away, as I told you.

"A few minutes after, the commandant announced to the mayor that he would now spend the night in the village, and soon we each had a place of Prussians to lodge.

"Up at the inn, of course, we had the commandant and two captains to provide for gratis and didn't feel particularly flattered by the honor. The commandant was striding up and down looking very furious. Suddenly I saw him stop and rub his hands. 'A bad sign' thinks I. And, sure enough, he calls his men and talks away to them pointing every now and then to Jacques' house.

"I didn't know yet what he was up to, but I hadn't long to wait. Outside in the street he heard a noise—loud laughs and the cries of a woman and a child. Then our door is just thrown into the room by four great ruffians, who push and drag and hustle her in.

"She struggled until she was in such a disheveled state you wouldn't have known her, screaming insult after insult at the commandant.

"He cared no more than if he had been a log, but said quietly: 'Come, come; behave yourself! You shall set free when your husband returns. If he doesn't come back, so much the worse for you. You will be our prisoner and will have to come with us.'

"I was serving at the bar when Jean Lacroix, the mason, came in. He made a sign, and I pretended that I had to go down to the cellar and went into the kitchen with Jacques.

"For greater security the commandant had a double file of men posted alongside, to the right and left of the machine. Then he himself went to the head of the column, calling out first something in German, and then in French for Jacques, 'Forward, march!'

"The machine panted and snorted and tugged with all its might. The cannon jerked off with a clash of iron, and between the two rows of soldiers who accompanied it it all proceeded slowly along the level highway.

"We had run on to the village to announce the approach of the wonderful machine, and all our folk—men, women and children—were out in the road to see it pass by. Soon were heard cries of 'It is coming! It is coming!' and there it appeared, clearly outlined against the sky, all black and smoking.

"At that moment the commandant, who was prancing along on horseback, turned round to Jacques and called out, 'Attention!'

"Don't be alarmed," sings out Jacques. "I'm going to put the brake on."

"Ah, sir, if I live to be 100, I shall never forget what happened then—no, not even one who was there and saw it all. Then I understood why Jacques had sent off his wife and the little one. Such a sight would have driven them crazy.

"Instead of slowing down, he put on all possible speed, jumped at the lieutenant, twisted his arms so that the revolver fell out of his hands and kept him fastened to the spot, shouting all the time, 'Vive la France!'

"And the machine began to rush down, leaping over the paving stones, and the gun rushed after it, gun carriage and all, making a very dense of a noise."

"The machine sped straight on, like a flash of lightning. Jacques, clinging to his Prussian, looked a regular demon. Once more we heard him shout, 'Vive la France!'

"Then, at the turn of the road, in a single bound through the hedge, everything rolled over into the ravine below. It was an awful crash. And then immediately there came a great silence. No one could speak; the women covered their heads with their aprons; we felt sick at heart.

"Well, to cut a long story short, the Prussians were more than six weeks over fishing up their big gun. When at last it was all got up out of the debris, it was too late to be of any use in the bombardment—the siege of Paris was ended.

"Good old Jacques! That was what he had wished. And to think that we could never even give him a hero's funeral."

"He had been so completely crushed that nothing of him was found but a few mangy scraps of flesh four guardians, who would not let him out of their sight for a single moment, but seemed afraid that he might vanish up the chimney.

"About 8 o'clock his wife and the child came to see him. The poor woman was crying so that she was pitiful to see.

"Listen, Catherine," he said. "You must promise me to leave the village at once and go to Uncle Francois. You see, I mean to try and escape on the way. But if you are still here they will arrest you again to get me back."

"He kissed her affectionately, most cheerfully, to inspire her a little, and pushed her toward the door. The boy stayed behind, sobbing, naturally enough. But Jacques caught him between his knees and said:

"Little man, you must be brave and not cry. Those ends are only too pleased if they see you cry. Think that I'm going off to the war and shall be coming back again. If by chance, though, things go badly with me and I never come back again, you must love your mother, my boy. You must love her for two."

"The commandant had just come out from his room, and he was no sooner down stairs than he gave the word, 'March!' Jacques took his box and followed him outside.

"The column began to march. Jacques, who was placed in the middle, walking along quite gayly, called out to us: 'I shall see you again soon. You'll be having news of me before long.'

"But I knew my man and could have sworn he had in his head some trick to play them and their machine.

"The place where the Prussians had left it was not half a league away, upon the plateau above us, and, faith, we were curious to see this engine which had come from so far.

"Soon, in the middle of the road, we saw a great black object, guarded by a little detachment that had had to camp out around it. It was that brute of a machine—a traction engine, it was called, I think—and behind, on two great carts, themselves a mass of iron, were the gun and the carriage.

"'Ah,' we said to each other, 'what a pity Jacques got taken prisoner! If only he could damage its inside a little so that it couldn't be got to move!'

"But nothing of the sort. He just gave a look to its works and in a few minutes had put everything right, for he was a rare workman, I can tell you. Then, while they were getting up steam, we heard him giving a heap of explanations to the commandant.

"The old man was afraid of the incite it had to descend. But Jacques reassured him; he understood quite well how to manage it; he would slow down; at the entrance to the village, he would put on the brake; he would shut off the steam; if necessary, he would reverse the engine.

"The commandant, however, did not yet feel quite safe about him. At the moment of starting he called a lieutenant and said something that I could not understand, though I heard him plainly. The lieutenant answered, 'Ja, commandant; ja, commandant.' Then I saw him take a revolver from his belt and climb up on the locomotive to Jacques.

"For greater security the commandant had a double file of men posted alongside, to the right and left of the machine. Then he himself went to the head of the column, calling out first something in German, and then in French for Jacques, 'Forward, march!'

"The machine panted and snorted and tugged with all its might. The cannon jerked off with a clash of iron, and between the two rows of soldiers who accompanied it it all proceeded slowly along the level highway.

"We had run on to the village to announce the approach of the wonderful machine, and all our folk—men, women and children—were out in the road to see it pass by. Soon were heard cries of 'It is coming! It is coming!' and there it appeared, clearly outlined against the sky, all black and smoking.

"At that moment the commandant, who was prancing along on horseback, turned round to Jacques and called out, 'Attention!'

"Don't be alarmed," sings out Jacques. "I'm going to put the brake on."

"Ah, sir, if I live to be 100, I shall never forget what happened then—no, not even one who was there and saw it all. Then I understood why Jacques had sent off his wife and the little one. Such a sight would have driven them crazy.

"Instead of slowing down, he put on all possible speed, jumped at the lieutenant, twisted his arms so that the revolver fell out of his hands and kept him fastened to the spot, shouting all the time, 'Vive la France!'

"And the machine began to rush down, leaping over the paving stones, and the gun rushed after it, gun carriage and all, making a very dense of a noise."

"The machine sped straight on, like a flash of lightning. Jacques, clinging to his Prussian, looked a regular demon. Once more we heard him shout, 'Vive la France!'

"Then, at the turn of the road, in a single bound through the hedge, everything rolled over into the ravine below. It was an awful crash. And then immediately there came a great silence. No one could speak; the women covered their heads with their aprons; we felt sick at heart.

"Well, to cut a long story short, the Prussians were more than six weeks over fishing up their big gun. When at last it was all got up out of the debris, it was too late to be of any use in the bombardment—the siege of Paris was ended.

"Good old Jacques! That was what he had wished. And to think that we could never even give him a hero's funeral."

"He had been so completely crushed that nothing of him was found but a few mangy scraps of flesh some days after. One couldn't even tell if they belonged to him or the Prussian. We put up a little headstone over the grave, with the inscription, 'Died for his country, under his name, then the date, and that was all.'

"The wife is dead, the house sold, he is a sergeant in the line, and the Prussians will catch it pretty hot if ever he has a chance of getting out of them. But he doesn't often get back to his old home, and with the exception of himself and a few old folks like me, who will remember Jacques Bruléfort?

"And now, sir, I've been talking long enough. I must get to my work. Your health, sir!"

"A la sante de la France, and the memory of Jacques Bruléfort. I promise you to write to you when I have time."

A YER'S
Cathartic Pills

Sick Or Bilious Headache Cured by Taking

Awarded
Medal and Diploma
At World's Fair.

Ask your Druggist for Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Hereditary Diseases.

At last, after fighting off the subject for many years, the scientist has been forced to the conclusion that many diseases that appear to be so are by no means hereditary. They have found that the tendency to a disease may be transmitted, but in maladies like tuberculosis there is no good reason to believe that the germs are implanted in the child's system by the parent. It has been shown that germs born with the child will either develop into true tuberculosis or will be destroyed by the health giving forces of the system. Much stress has been laid upon the fact that whole families die of consumption almost immediately upon reaching their majority. It is said, of course, that this disease must be hereditary, but this is only a superficial view of the case. It can easily be shown that environment has much to do with this apparent heredity.

As just stated, the conditions and tendencies are hereditary. If the parent has tuberculosis, all the children ought, according to naturally accepted notions, to fall victims to this dread disease. But we frequently see cases in which one or more children may die before reaching maturity while others never show any symptoms whatever of tuberculous conditions. This proves that the germs may have been very active in the one case and lacking in the other.

What is remarkable is that in the American colony there is only about one in every five hundred, indeed, there are families in which the single child is not represented, the husband or father being occupied on the other side of the Atlantic in making the money that is indispensable to his wife and daughters who are shining in a foreign land.

One of the motives that induce these families to live in such an unnatural way is the desire or pretext to learn French. It is the fashion in the States for children to acquire the Parisian accent. Upper tendon in New York does not consider its education complete without a finishing off in Paris. Another reason why Americans are fond of residing in Paris is that the cost of living accommodates itself to the price of rent and food.

There are certainly twice as many Englishmen as Americans in Paris, but half of the former hold only inferior positions, like that of coachman, groom, nurse or governess. On this account the English are much less noticeable than the Americans, who are usually in easy circumstances. Few English families choose to pass any length of time in Paris. They prefer Cannes, Juan or Boulogne.

What is remarkable is that in the American colony there is only about one in every five hundred, indeed, there are families in which the single child is not represented, the husband or father being occupied on the other side of the Atlantic in making the money that is indispensable to his wife and daughters who are shining

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 5, 1896.
For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral services of ex-Governor William E. Russell were held at Cambridge last Monday and his remains consigned to their last earthly resting place amid the tears of the whole Commonwealth. It was a great and solemn occasion, in which were gathered distinguished men in large numbers, among them the President of the United States, Acting Governor Wolcott and Council, State and Federal Officers, the Military, and people from all the walks of life, for William E. Russell was greatly beloved by every body, and the mourning over his bier was honest and heartfelt.

Here in Woburn due honors were paid to his memory. Between the hours of 4 and 6 in the afternoon all business houses were closed, the bell tolled a funeral knell, the flags waved at half-mast, and a sense of sorrow lay deep in all hearts. The early and sudden death of William E. Russell is mourned not only by Massachusetts but by the Nation.

From a careful and prayerful perusal of an editorial in the last week's issue of the Reading Chronicle we conclude that Editor Twombly has struck one of the most unique specimens of the genus Deputy Sheriff extant. The letter of the D. S. published with the editorial confirms such an opinion. The Journal has done business with Capt. John E. Tidd, whom Deputy Sheriff, now Court Officer at Cambridge, for 16 years, and many dollars worth of it, and never once was such a thing as "commission" demanded, lapsed, or even hinted at, by him. We have advertised for other Deputies and what we say of Capt. Tidd is true of all of them. We are inclined to believe that Editor Twombly has got snared up with a bold and ungodly exception to the general rule.

To those who have known "Charley" Conant of Winchester from a kid the fuss which some of the Boston papers made over his bolt from the Democratic party the other day was truly diverting. "Charley" was originally a Republican; apostatized and followed the Mugwump leaders into the Free Trade ranks; later posed as a Democrat; and now comes out as a "Gold Bug." The game was hardly worth the powder the Boston papers spent on him. "Charley" is a Mugwump first, last and all the time.

The Chelsea Gazette passed into new hands with the last number. For more than ten years it has been in the Champlin family. The new owners propose to make the paper a credit to themselves, to the city, and to journalism. There is a good field in Chelsea Star, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson, spent an hour in the JOURNAL sanctum last Wednesday afternoon. They are very pleasant people and good news-paper men.

The Canadian Franchise Club of this city have fixed on Labor Day for their annual picnic. It will be held in Winslow's Grove. Committees are already at work and intend to make the occasion a signal success.

On her 18th birthday, July 1, 1896, Miss Dora Wren was the delighted recipient of an elegant gold watch from her aunt, Miss Carrie W. Thompson. She also received a beautiful ring studded with pearls from her mother.

Our city hoky poky is a good thing for the city. One man and his little, odd-contrived vehicle keeps the crossings and gutters as clean as whistle, and the cost is not near what it was under the old system of street cleaning.

An open-air religious service will be held on the Common next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, by the Y. M. C. A. Rev. R. W. Haskins of Montvale will be the speaker. Gospel singing assisted by Mr. James A. Yancey, cornetist.

Rev. Mr. Scudder left yesterday for Grotto, Conn., and Rev. Mr. Scudder will overtake her there today. Both will spend next week at Shelter Island, L. I., where his brother has a cottage, and where a Scudder Family reunion will soon take place.

That old dead elm on the Common, or Market Place, ought to be cut down without delay. If it is allowed to stand much longer the city will have a big bill of damages to pay for somebody's broken head or arm or leg. It should come down at once.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Frankford Trull have concluded, and wisely we think, to remain at their fine new home on Main st. this summer instead of tramping off to the mountains or seashore for rest and comfort that can't hardly ever be found there.

Editor Maitland P. Foster of the Wakefield Citizen and Banner kindly dropped in on the JOURNAL last Saturday and passed the time between trains in newspaper chat. Editor Foster makes a lively, wideawake and most excellent paper, and, although he did not say so in many words, we have an idea that his business is a profitable one. He is a levelheaded and companionable young man.

Mr. Thomas Salmon, member of the Democratic State Committee, has declared in favor of silver and the Chicago doings, including the nominees. He does not say that he will take off his coat for them, but it is likely he will do considerable campaign work. To get his hand in he had better try to get the Boston Globe back into the traces.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

E. C. Colman-Hay.
E. Prior-Auction Sale.
A. P. French-Most. Sale.

The widening of Salem st. at the Converse place is about finished.

Drop in and see the bargains Leath has in Ladies Button Boots and Oxfords.

There was a glorious good rain Monday night. But wasn't Tuesday hot though!

Mr. E. C. Colman advertises some first quality of hay for sale. Read his card.

Dog Days will begin to-morrow, July 25. We have had a touch of them this week.

The St. Charles C. T. A. S. held an important special meeting on the evening of July 19.

People had an excuse, so far as weather entered into the question, for staying away from church last Sunday.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The property on Scott st. advertised in another column as for sale under foreclosure was sold by Charles K. Conn about five years ago.

The work of the City Assessors for 1896 is drawing to a close, and the books will pass into the hands of Collector Maguire at an early day.

The estate on the corner of Webster and Pearl sts., N. W., sold by E. J. Gregory at auction last Monday, was bought by Daniel P. O'Brien.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—if.

Orders for piano tuning by Frank A. Locke can be left as usual at store formerly occupied by Deans, the jeweler, and will receive prompt attention.

The Trinity Sunday School held a jolly picnic at City Park last Wednesday. The most favorable reports concerning it reached the JOURNAL office.

Walter, son of James Carroll, 5 years old, was badly burned in a house fire at home on Broad street last Saturday. He was sent to the hospital in Boston.

The family of Mr. Frank C. Nichols, the Woburn Ice King, are taking solid comfort at Little John's Island, off Portland, in Casco Bay, these days.

We return thanks to Mr. J. Leath for late Nebraska papers. They oppose Bryan and Sewell, and are putting in good work for McKinley and Hobart.

Our esteemed fellow-craftsmen, ex-Mayor Phil Richardson, has left the Lowell Courier and is again to be seen on the streets of Woburn. He looks fat and saucy able.

Everybody should keep an eye out for the grand circus that will show here on July 29, for it is going to be something that everybody will want to see and ought to take in.

E. Prior advertises an auction sale in Woburn at 10 o'clock Aug. 4, which ought to be carefully perused. A great deal of valuable property will be vendued off by him there.

Mr. Stephen Hadley, 82 years old, gatekeeper on the Stoneham Branch, died last Tuesday. He was a shoemaker by trade. He was a citizen of long standing and highly esteemed.

Both Editors of the Winchester Star, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wilson, spent an hour in the JOURNAL sanctum last Wednesday afternoon. They are very pleasant people and good news-paper men.

The Canadian Franchise Club of this city have fixed on Labor Day for their annual picnic. It will be held in Winslow's Grove. Committees are already at work and intend to make the occasion a signal success.

On her 18th birthday, July 1, 1896, Miss Dora Wren was the delighted recipient of an elegant gold watch from her aunt, Miss Carrie W. Thompson. She also received a beautiful ring studded with pearls from her mother.

Our city hoky poky is a good thing for the city. One man and his little, odd-contrived vehicle keeps the crossings and gutters as clean as whistle, and the cost is not near what it was under the old system of street cleaning.

An open-air religious service will be held on the Common next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, by the Y. M. C. A. Rev. R. W. Haskins of Montvale will be the speaker. Gospel singing assisted by Mr. James A. Yancey, cornetist.

Rev. Mr. Scudder left yesterday for Grotto, Conn., and Rev. Mr. Scudder will overtake her there today. Both will spend next week at Shelter Island, L. I., where his brother has a cottage, and where a Scudder Family reunion will soon take place.

That old dead elm on the Common, or Market Place, ought to be cut down without delay. If it is allowed to stand much longer the city will have a big bill of damages to pay for somebody's broken head or arm or leg. It should come down at once.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Frankford Trull have concluded, and wisely we think, to remain at their fine new home on Main st. this summer instead of tramping off to the mountains or seashore for rest and comfort that can't hardly ever be found there.

Editor Maitland P. Foster of the Wakefield Citizen and Banner kindly dropped in on the JOURNAL last Saturday and passed the time between trains in newspaper chat. Editor Foster makes a lively, wideawake and most excellent paper, and, although he did not say so in many words, we have an idea that his business is a profitable one. He is a levelheaded and companionable young man.

Mr. Thomas Salmon, member of the Democratic State Committee, has declared in favor of silver and the Chicago doings, including the nominees. He does not say that he will take off his coat for them, but it is likely he will do considerable campaign work. To get his hand in he had better try to get the Boston Globe back into the traces.

Mr. Waterman Brown was happy to furnish flowers from his garden for Dr. March's birthday present. Mr. Brown cannot with strict propriety be called a deeply religious man but he is a warm admirer of Rev. Dr. March and was proud to contribute his mite.

Mr. Richard Morris of Plympton st. suffered an apoplectic shock last Tuesday, the second one in 8 weeks. His left side is seriously paralyzed. Dr. Conway, who is his family physician, trusts that Mr. Morris will soon recover and regain his health permanently.

Col. A. L. Richardson has laid out obligations to him this week for copies of late London, Eng., papers containing some of the doings and sayings of our only own Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in the Metropolis of the World. Thanks, Colonel.

A concrete instead of brick sidewalk is being laid on Main st. opposite the Common which seems to be wise. It will make a fine walk. But who bosses the job? Shortly some of it will have to be dug up again to remove the electric poles standing there. That is a curious way to do business. It looks like working the cart before the horse.

People had an excuse, so far as weather entered into the question, for staying away from church last Sunday.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Charlie Taylor, the artist, went out to the borders of Reading last Saturday and photographed Organist Clarke while he was sitting on the porch of his home there. Taylor got fine likeness of the old organist, with which we understand he was well pleased.

MEDICAL. Arrangements have been made whereby Dr. C. H. Jordan will attend to the professional business of Dr. Frank W. Graves during his absence in Europe. Calls left at Dr. Graves' office, No. 38 Pleasant st., will be promptly attended to by Dr. Jordan.—5.

In the matter of riding on electric cars it would seem that Mr. Herbert B. Dow of Academy Hill "bit off more'n he could chew" the other day. He was a very weary person when he reached home at a late hour on Wednesday. The finest game of ball ever witnessed in this section of the country was played in City Park yesterday between the K. of C. of Lowell and a picked nine. Nothing but science and brains were exhibited, and it was a beautiful display of both by both sides. Jones' barge took heaps of bier.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The finest game of ball ever witnessed in this section of the country was played in City Park yesterday between the K. of C. of Lowell and a picked nine. Nothing but science and brains were exhibited, and it was a beautiful display of both by both sides. Jones' barge took heaps of bier.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The finest game of ball ever witnessed in this section of the country was played in City Park yesterday between the K. of C. of Lowell and a picked nine. Nothing but science and brains were exhibited, and it was a beautiful display of both by both sides. Jones' barge took heaps of bier.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of life.

The tracks are all ready for the electric from Charles st. to North Woburn.

Our clergymen are getting a good ready for their vacations. While they are away the JOURNAL will try to keep things and the people straight and up to the mark.

Our old and esteemed friend and fellow Maine-ite, Mr. Harrison Bates, will celebrate, in a quiet way, at home in Winchester, his 83rd birthday next Wednesday, July 29. May he live to round out a full century of Fair and beautiful—the woman who keeps at a distance the complexion beautifiers, and the skin pale, which soon ruin the face. A healthy glow to the skin, a face without wrinkles, glowing eyes, will be yours if you keep the system and the spirit in perfect health in good condition. The young girl, or woman, often grows pale, wrinkled and thin, eats little, everything wears her down, she has no appetite, and is soon fatigued, sleepy. Often she is troubled with headache, or a tender spine, with bearing down weight in the abdomen, or periods may be irregular or suffer extreme pain from the womb decongestants.

Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of New York, has observed that since his practice met many cases of this kind, for which he used a prescription which was found to cure such difficulties particularly in menstrual period of women. Having found so successful, Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" on the market, and it is to-day sold more largely than any other medicine for the cure of decongestants.

Mrs. MARY CRIM, of Frankfort, Franklin Co., N.Y., says: "A few years ago I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and I suffered a whole system. About a year ago, I took chills, had a fever, and I thought they were very weakening. Had pains in my left side; gradually grew worse, until I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough and could not sleep. Commenced taking your medicine, took about four bottles a day, and in seven bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stronger than I have for years."

TRICKS OF THE PHOTOGRAPH MAN.

By Tilting the Chin or Shading the Face He Makes Pretty Effects.

That the camera cannot be lie is true, but even more is it true that in the hands of a skillful photographer deft manipulation of the lenses or of the instrument itself can make or mar the face or the form that is posing.

Even the photographer has tricks. They are tricks that have an art behind them and turn the camera from a dumb mechanical instrument, which can set down on its plate only what is actually before it, into a discriminating mechanism, selecting at will, changing ugliness almost into beauty.

No body ever saw the picture of an actress that was not attractive. Some photographs of reigning queens of the stage are far more beautiful than others, but not one fails to catch the eye from the point of view of loveliness, facial or of contour. In tens of hundreds of photographs taken of women in private life few show any remarkable charm.

And yet the women on the stage, on the whole, are not more conspicuously fascinating than those who have never trodden the boards. The reason of the difference in their photographs is plain and simple. It is the trickery of the photographer, who, laughing meanwhile within his sleeve, so cleverly works that he changes—presto!—an ordinary woman into a beauty of the time.

It has remained for some French photographers to give somewhat in detail the actual science of these tricks of photography. The question is one of perspective and optical illusion. An egg, for instance, if the photographer have sufficient skill, can be so photographed that it will appear in the shape of a ball. In the same manner a nose or a neck may be made to seem short or long, a face longer or rounder, a figure stout or slender, short or tall.

In every person's face certain characteristics stand out absolutely the best in their countenance. It may be the chin, the eyes, the nose, the mouth or the forehead. Again, in every face there are features that are weak and need strengthening, hiding, or some sort of "bolstering up." With the trained eye that is gained through years of experience, the photographer sees this at once. He may not see it completely. It may require posing after posing and trial after trial, at certain angles, before he gets the proper effect. But he finds—and this fact the French photographers have just made known—that there are some combinations in every face that will give a practically perfect photograph.

If the chin recedes at all badly, by a tilt of the head and a training of his camera to the right angle it is a strong, attractive chin that appears in the photograph.

The prominent nose that throws all the rest of the face out of countenance he brings his machine to bear upon until he gets an angle at which it is softened and brought into relation picturesquely with the rest of the face.

A sidewise turn of the head, and a large, broad-lipped mouth may be photographically made into the veriest rosebud or "Cupid's bow" that a woman ever had.

An ugly forehead may be toned down into a most fetching one by catching the light upon it, by turning the head up or down, and a white face barred in every characteristic may be metamorphosed by picturing it sideways so that the tip of a rosy ear may be seen.

Sometimes photographers treat paper with chemicals so that it can be stretched over so slightly after the picture is printed on it. It is thus possible to stretch an ordinary cabinet print an eighth of an inch, thus working wonders in the picture. By it a round, chubby face has been lengthened into a Greek oval of great beauty.—Chicago Tribune.

A Tramp's Paradise.

A correspondent of the Boston Transcript says that Australia is a paradise for tramps. They comprise about one-quarter of the population and spend their life in traveling from one little colony or "station," as it is called, to another. The name "sundowner" is applied to them for the reason that the sun's setting is a signal for their coming. The "stations" being so far apart—20 or 30 miles or even more—the people have not the heart to send them adrift to their homes and have attended to their

Puritana
It cures from head to foot.

Trade Mark.
Registered.

How Passengers and Crew Are Landed by the Life Saving Service.

Suppose that a large boat—a transatlantic steamer, for example—has been stranded and the waves are running mountain high. Obviously, from its bulk, it cannot be near shore. But it is near enough to be reached by a bullet from the Lytle gun. The Lytle gun is a diminutive cannon. It was invented by Captain Dr. A. Lytle, United States Army, and has superseded the old life mortar, which is still in use in England. It is lighter than a mortar and has a longer range. It will fire a long cylinder a distance of about 695 yards. This thin line of waterproof rope is attached to this cylinder. When the gun is fired, the cylindrical bullet flies over the ship, and dropping on the other side, leaves the thin rope stretched across the deck. When the shipwrecked sailors have secured this shot line, the shore end is connected with a whip or hauling line. This is an endless rope, or ellipse, nearly an inch thick and long enough to reach from the shore to the vessel. It is reeved through a pulley block, having attached to it a "tail" or piece of rope several feet long.

The Puritanas consist of one bottle of oil of Pimento and two bottles of oil of Purslane Tallow, all in one package. Price $1. All ingredients.

Mrs. Crim.—"I have had a cold for three years now. I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and I suffered a whole system. About a year ago, I took chills, had a fever, and I thought they were very weakening. Had pains in my left side; gradually grew worse, until I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough and could not sleep. Commenced taking your medicine, took about four bottles a day, and in seven bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stronger than I have for years."

TRICKS OF THE PHOTOGRAPH MAN.

By Tilting the Chin or Shading the Face He Makes Pretty Effects.

That the camera cannot be lie is true, but even more is it true that in the hands of a skillful photographer deft manipulation of the lenses or of the instrument itself can make or mar the face or the form that is posing.

Even the photographer has tricks. They are tricks that have an art behind them and turn the camera from a dumb mechanical instrument, which can set down on its plate only what is actually before it, into a discriminating mechanism, selecting at will, changing ugliness almost into beauty.

No body ever saw the picture of an actress that was not attractive. Some photographs of reigning queens of the stage are far more beautiful than others, but not one fails to catch the eye from the point of view of loveliness, facial or of contour. In tens of hundreds of photographs taken of women in private life few show any remarkable charm.

And yet the women on the stage, on the whole, are not more conspicuously fascinating than those who have never trodden the boards. The reason of the difference in their photographs is plain and simple. It is the trickery of the photographer, who, laughing meanwhile within his sleeve, so cleverly works that he changes—presto!—an ordinary woman into a beauty of the time.

This is the only way of saving life in a hurricane at sea, which would not allow of the use of surfboats. The self-righting and self-hauling lifeboats, which can be used in almost any weather on the lakes, are, from their weight and heavy draft, impracticable along the line of the ocean. The lighter surfboat can be dragged along the sandy shore by a crew and readily launched at the proper spot, but it is more easily swamped in a very heavy sea, and its use therefore is limited to the less severe storms.

When a surfboat is launched, the helmsman armed with a long steering oar, stands erect in the stern. The crew, whose backs are to the wind, and are leaning upon him and the pole, ears in accordance with his directions. It is a dangerous and difficult task for this frail cockleshell to mount the successive crests of the big breakers that roll seawards. No sight can be more impressive. Even when the wreck is reached the danger is not yet over. A collision with the plunging hull or the floating and falling wreckage would mean the loss of the heroic little crew. But by careful management the wide open jaws of death are avoided, a boatload of passengers is taken off the sinking ship and restored to dry land, and until the last survivor has been saved the surfboat continues its journey to and from the shore.

MANIFESTATIONS OF GRIEF IN PALESTINE.

At each death the women begin a peculiar lamentation, by which the entire village is informed that a death has taken place. At once the relatives come in their best clothes and join in with the lamentation. The women nearest connected with the departed rend their clothes—i.e., the upper garment, which is in the shape of a shirt, and is held by means of a girdle around the waist. The garments they seize at the opening in front of the shirt, and when it is torn the deeper the rent becomes, the larger will be the rent. This is afterward stitched together, but in such a way as to show the seam on the outside. Then these mourners put on their best garments, uncover their heads, which at all other times are covered, tear out their hair, strike their faces, scratch their countenances, beat their breasts, and many smear soot over their faces. Occasionally it happens that men, too, give vent to the violence of grief by tearing their clothing and pulling out their beards. That these manifestations of grief are from great antiquity we can see from the book of Job, written probably 1,500 years before Christ. When Job's three comforters came to him, they, too, wept and lamented and tore their garments, and strewed dust upon their heads, and lay upon the ground for days and several nights upon the ground without speaking (Job 11). When David, according to II Samuel xviii, 33, received the news that his son was dead, he went into his room and wept. His grief was so great that those without heard him (II Samuel xix, 24).

The following day the body was carried into the church. While this is being done a number of women keep up a kind of a dance outside of the church, while they lament and moan, with their hair in disheveled state. The same thing is done at the grave. It is peculiar that the Arabs are so anxious to have their dead buried in the tomb of their ancestors, and this prevails to such an extent that many families can remember their great great great-grandfathers and all his descendants, buried up to the same grave. In case a person dies at a distance from his native village his body is brought home for burial. This reminds us of Jacob to bury him with his fathers (Genesis xvi, 30, and 1, 5-7). On the next morning, very early, certain women go to the grave, to weep over the dead, as was done by the women on the morning of Easter (Luke xxiv, 1). After they have returned to their homes and have attended to their the bush, to go hungry for the night, and they are recognized as a necessary evil. The well to do farmers have usually a "travelers' hut," and regular rations are served out to these wayfarers, a pound of the inevitable mutton, a pannikin or dipper of flour, the water bag refilled and a bunk for the night.

A STRANDED SHIP.

Suppose that a large boat—a transatlantic steamer, for example—has been stranded and the waves are running mountain high. Obviously, from its bulk, it cannot be near shore. But it is near enough to be reached by a bullet from the Lytle gun. The Lytle gun is a diminutive cannon. It was invented by Captain Dr. A. Lytle, United States Army, and has superseded the old life mortar, which is still in use in England. It is lighter than a mortar and has a longer range. It will fire a long cylinder a distance of about 695 yards. This thin line of waterproof rope is attached to this cylinder. When the gun is fired, the cylindrical bullet flies over the ship, and dropping on the other side, leaves the thin rope stretched across the deck. When the shipwrecked sailors have secured this shot line, the shore end is connected with a whip or hauling line. This is an endless rope, or ellipse, nearly an inch thick and long enough to reach from the shore to the vessel. It is reeved through a pulley block, having attached to it a "tail" or piece of rope several feet long.

The Puritanas consist of one bottle of oil of Pimento and two bottles of oil of Purslane Tallow, all in one package. Price $1. All ingredients.

Mrs. Crim.—"I have had a cold for three years now. I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and I suffered a whole system. About a year ago, I took chills, had a fever, and I thought they were very weakening. Had pains in my left side; gradually grew worse, until I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough and could not sleep. Commenced taking your medicine, took about four bottles a day, and in seven bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stronger than I have for years."

TRICKS OF THE PHOTOGRAPH MAN.

By Tilting the Chin or Shading the Face He Makes Pretty Effects.

That the camera cannot be lie is true, but even more is it true that in the hands of a skillful photographer deft manipulation of the lenses or of the instrument itself can make or mar the face or the form that is posing.

Even the photographer has tricks. They are tricks that have an art behind them and turn the camera from a dumb mechanical instrument, which can set down on its plate only what is actually before it, into a discriminating mechanism, selecting at will, changing ugliness almost into beauty.

No body ever saw the picture of an actress that was not attractive. Some photographs of reigning queens of the stage are far more beautiful than others, but not one fails to catch the eye from the point of view of loveliness, facial or of contour. In tens of hundreds of photographs taken of women in private life few show any remarkable charm.

And yet the women on the stage, on the whole, are not more conspicuously fascinating than those who have never trodden the boards. The reason of the difference in their photographs is plain and simple. It is the trickery of the photographer, who, laughing meanwhile within his sleeve, so cleverly works that he changes—presto!—an ordinary woman into a beauty of the time.

This is the only way of saving life in a hurricane at sea, which would not allow of the use of surfboats. The self-righting and self-hauling lifeboats, which can be used in almost any weather on the lakes, are, from their weight and heavy draft, impracticable along the line of the ocean. The lighter surfboat can be dragged along the sandy shore by a crew and readily launched at the proper spot, but it is more easily swamped in a very heavy sea, and its use therefore is limited to the less severe storms.

When a surfboat is launched, the helmsman armed with a long steering oar, stands erect in the stern. The crew, whose backs are to the wind, and are leaning upon him and the pole, ears in accordance with his directions. It is a dangerous and difficult task for this frail cockleshell to mount the successive crests of the big breakers that roll seawards. No sight can be more impressive. Even when the wreck is reached the danger is not yet over. A collision with the plunging hull or the floating and falling wreckage would mean the loss of the heroic little crew. But by careful management the wide open jaws of death are avoided, a boatload of passengers is taken off the sinking ship and restored to dry land, and until the last survivor has been saved the surfboat continues its journey to and from the shore.

MANIFESTATIONS OF GRIEF IN PALESTINE.

At each death the women begin a peculiar lamentation, by which the entire village is informed that a death has taken place. At once the relatives come in their best clothes and join in with the lamentation. The women nearest connected with the departed rend their clothes—i.e., the upper garment, which is in the shape of a shirt, and is held by means of a girdle around the waist.

The garments they seize at the opening in front of the shirt, and when it is torn the deeper the rent becomes, the larger will be the rent. This is afterward stitched together, but in such a way as to show the seam on the outside. Then these mourners put on their best garments, uncover their heads, which at all other times are covered, tear out their hair, strike their faces, scratch their countenances, beat their breasts, and many smear soot over their faces. Occasionally it happens that men, too, give vent to the violence of grief by tearing their clothing and pulling out their beards. That these manifestations of grief are from great antiquity we can see from the book of Job, written probably 1,500 years before Christ. When Job's three comforters came to him, they, too, wept and lamented and tore their garments, and strewed dust upon their heads, and lay upon the ground for days and several nights upon the ground without speaking (Job 11).

When David, according to II Samuel xviii, 33, received the news that his son was dead, he went into his room and wept. His grief was so great that those without heard him (II Samuel xix, 24).

The following day the body was carried into the church. While this is being done a number of women keep up a kind of a dance outside of the church, while they lament and moan, with their hair in disheveled state. The same thing is done at the grave. It is peculiar that the Arabs are so anxious to have their dead buried in the tomb of their ancestors, and this prevails to such an extent that many families can remember their great great great-grandfathers and all his descendants, buried up to the same grave. In case a person dies at a distance from his native village his body is brought home for burial. This reminds us of Jacob to bury him with his fathers (Genesis xvi, 30, and 1, 5-7). On the next morning, very early, certain women go to the grave, to weep over the dead, as was done by the women on the morning of Easter (Luke xxiv, 1). After they have returned to their homes and have attended to their

SHIP SAVED BY AN UMBRELLA.

A Yankee Captain of 1812 Used It to Defend the Enemy.

An interesting relic in the Charlestown Navy Yard museum is an umbrella which was used by the Constitution in making her escape from the English fleet in July, 1812. This is all that is told by the card attached to it, and the umbrella is a puzzle to nearly every one who visits the museum. In the first place, it is utterly unlike any umbrella that any one ever saw before, and, in the second, not more than 1 in 100 is able to figure out how the Constitution made use of it in making her escape from the British vessels. It is exactly like an umbrella frame in general shape, but the stick is about 10 feet long, with a heavy iron ring at each end, and is about 3 inches in diameter. The frame slides up and down on it just like the frame of an ordinary umbrella and is made of stout iron bars. Some people think that it may have been set up on the deck to give the officers a little shade on a hot day, but they cannot see how this helped in the escape. The purpose for which it was intended and used was as a sea anchor, and its story is as follows:

On the 1st of July, 1812, the Constitution, then cruising under the command of that famous old fighter, Isaac Hull, was surrounded by Brooke's squadron of five vessels. Before they could close in on him, however, it fell calm, and Captain Hull at once made use of the umbrella, of which there were two on board. A cable was bent to one of the umbrellas at what would be the handle in one of the ordinary kind, and the umbrella was folded up and taken out by a boat to a cable's length ahead of the vessel. It was then thrown overboard, and as soon as the crew began to haul in on the windlass it, of course, spread out, giving a drag, by which the vessel could be warped ahead. While the vessel was warping up to this one, the other one was taken out, and before the British had discovered what Hull was doing, he had got outside of the circle with which they had surrounded him. They immediately began to pursue the same tactics, but he ran two 24 pound guns out of his cabin windows and kept them from getting anywhere near him, as whenever one of the boats carrying out a drag came up astern of him, he would fire with a broadside. A cable was bent to one of the umbrellas at what would be the handle in one of the ordinary kind, and the umbrella was folded up and taken out by a boat to a cable's length ahead of the vessel. It was then thrown overboard, and as soon as the crew began to haul in on the windlass it, of course, spread out, giving a drag, by which the vessel could be warped ahead. While the vessel was warping up to this one, the other one was taken out, and before the British had discovered what Hull was doing, he had got outside of the circle with which they had surrounded him. They immediately began to pursue the same tactics, but he ran two 24 pound guns out of his cabin windows and kept them from getting anywhere near him, as whenever one of the boats carrying out a drag came up astern of him, he would fire with a broadside. A cable was bent to one of the umbrellas at what would be the handle in one of the ordinary kind, and the umbrella was folded up and taken out by a boat to a cable's length ahead of the vessel. It was then thrown overboard, and as soon as the crew began to haul in on the windlass it, of course, spread out, giving a drag, by which the vessel could be warped ahead. While the vessel was warping up to this one, the other one was taken out, and before the British had discovered what Hull was doing, he had got outside of the circle with which they had surrounded him. They immediately began to pursue the same tactics, but he ran two 24 pound guns out of his cabin windows and kept them from getting anywhere near him, as whenever one of the boats carrying out a drag came up astern of him, he would fire with a broadside. A cable was bent to one of the umbrellas at what would be the handle in one of the ordinary kind, and the umbrella was folded up and taken out by a boat to a cable's length ahead of the vessel. It was then thrown overboard, and as soon as the crew began to haul in on the windlass it, of course, spread out, giving a drag, by which the vessel could be warped ahead. While the vessel was warping up to this one, the other one was taken out, and before the British had discovered what Hull was doing, he had got outside of the circle with which they had surrounded him. They immediately began to pursue the same tactics, but he ran two 24 pound guns out of his cabin windows and kept them from getting anywhere near him, as whenever one of the boats carrying out a drag came up astern of him, he would fire with a broadside. A cable was bent to one of the umbrellas at what would be the handle in one of the ordinary kind, and the umbrella was folded up and taken out by a boat to a cable's length ahead of the vessel. It was then thrown overboard, and as soon as the crew began to haul in on the windlass it, of course, spread out, giving a drag, by which the vessel could be warped ahead. While the vessel was warping up to

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLVI.

WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1896.

Entered at the Woburn, Mass., Post Office, as second-class matter.

NO. 34.

Brooks's Malaria Remedy

Is a sure cure for all forms of Malaria.

25c. Five packages for $1.00.

F. P. BROOKS, Pharmacist,

361 Main Street, Woburn.

Boston & Maine RAILROAD.

Southern Division.

JUNE 28, 1896.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, $3.50 6.50 6.61, 7.18, 7.35, 8.14, 8.22, 9.00, 10.31, 11.35, A. M., 12.52, 1.10, 2.20, 3.01, 4.12, 5.04, 5.11, 5.39, 5.56, 6.10, 6.30, 6.45, 6.50, 6.55, 6.60, 6.65, 6.70, 6.75, 6.80, 6.85, 6.90, 6.95, 7.00, 7.05, 7.10, 7.15, 7.20, 7.25, 7.30, 7.35, 7.37, 7.40, 7.45, 7.50, 7.55, 7.60, 7.65, 7.70, 7.75, 7.80, 7.85, 7.90, 7.95, 8.00, 8.05, 8.10, 8.15, 8.20, 8.25, 8.30, 8.35, 8.40, 8.45, 8.50, 8.55, 8.60, 8.65, 8.70, 8.75, 8.80, 8.85, 8.90, 8.95, 9.00, 9.05, 9.10, 9.15, 9.20, 9.25, 9.30, 9.35, 9.40, 9.45, 9.50, 9.55, 9.60, 9.65, 9.70, 9.75, 9.80, 9.85, 9.90, 9.95, 10.00, 10.05, 10.10, 10.15, 10.20, 10.25, 10.30, 10.35, 10.40, 10.45, 10.50, 10.55, 10.60, 10.65, 10.70, 10.75, 10.80, 10.85, 10.90, 10.95, 11.00, 11.05, 11.10, 11.15, 11.20, 11.25, 11.30, 11.35, 11.40, 11.45, 11.50, 11.55, 11.60, 11.65, 11.70, 11.75, 11.80, 11.85, 11.90, 11.95, 12.00, 12.05, 12.10, 12.15, 12.20, 12.25, 12.30, 12.35, 12.40, 12.45, 12.50, 12.55, 12.60, 12.65, 12.70, 12.75, 12.80, 12.85, 12.90, 12.95, 13.00, 13.05, 13.10, 13.15, 13.20, 13.25, 13.30, 13.35, 13.40, 13.45, 13.50, 13.55, 13.60, 13.65, 13.70, 13.75, 13.80, 13.85, 13.90, 13.95, 14.00, 14.05, 14.10, 14.15, 14.20, 14.25, 14.30, 14.35, 14.40, 14.45, 14.50, 14.55, 14.60, 14.65, 14.70, 14.75, 14.80, 14.85, 14.90, 14.95, 15.00, 15.05, 15.10, 15.15, 15.20, 15.25, 15.30, 15.35, 15.40, 15.45, 15.50, 15.55, 15.60, 15.65, 15.70, 15.75, 15.80, 15.85, 15.90, 15.95, 16.00, 16.05, 16.10, 16.15, 16.20, 16.25, 16.30, 16.35, 16.40, 16.45, 16.50, 16.55, 16.60, 16.65, 16.70, 16.75, 16.80, 16.85, 16.90, 16.95, 17.00, 17.05, 17.10, 17.15, 17.20, 17.25, 17.30, 17.35, 17.40, 17.45, 17.50, 17.55, 17.60, 17.65, 17.70, 17.75, 17.80, 17.85, 17.90, 17.95, 18.00, 18.05, 18.10, 18.15, 18.20, 18.25, 18.30, 18.35, 18.40, 18.45, 18.50, 18.55, 18.60, 18.65, 18.70, 18.75, 18.80, 18.85, 18.90, 18.95, 19.00, 19.05, 19.10, 19.15, 19.20, 19.25, 19.30, 19.35, 19.40, 19.45, 19.50, 19.55, 19.60, 19.65, 19.70, 19.75, 19.80, 19.85, 19.90, 19.95, 20.00, 20.05, 20.10, 20.15, 20.20, 20.25, 20.30, 20.35, 20.40, 20.45, 20.50, 20.55, 20.60, 20.65, 20.70, 20.75, 20.80, 20.85, 20.90, 20.95, 21.00, 21.05, 21.10, 21.15, 21.20, 21.25, 21.30, 21.35, 21.40, 21.45, 21.50, 21.55, 21.60, 21.65, 21.70, 21.75, 21.80, 21.85, 21.90, 21.95, 22.00, 22.05, 22.10, 22.15, 22.20, 22.25, 22.30, 22.35, 22.40, 22.45, 22.50, 22.55, 22.60, 22.65, 22.70, 22.75, 22.80, 22.85, 22.90, 22.95, 23.00, 23.05, 23.10, 23.15, 23.20, 23.25, 23.30, 23.35, 23.40, 23.45, 23.50, 23.55, 23.60, 23.65, 23.70, 23.75, 23.80, 23.85, 23.90, 23.95, 24.00, 24.05, 24.10, 24.15, 24.20, 24.25, 24.30, 24.35, 24.40, 24.45, 24.50, 24.55, 24.60, 24.65, 24.70, 24.75, 24.80, 24.85, 24.90, 24.95, 25.00, 25.05, 25.10, 25.15, 25.20, 25.25, 25.30, 25.35, 25.40, 25.45, 25.50, 25.55, 25.60, 25.65, 25.70, 25.75, 25.80, 25.85, 25.90, 25.95, 26.00, 26.05, 26.10, 26.15, 26.20, 26.25, 26.30, 26.35, 26.40, 26.45, 26.50, 26.55, 26.60, 26.65, 26.70, 26.75, 26.80, 26.85, 26.90, 26.95, 27.00, 27.05, 27.10, 27.15, 27.20, 27.25, 27.30, 27.35, 27.40, 27.45, 27.50, 27.55, 27.60, 27.65, 27.70, 27.75, 27.80, 27.85, 27.90, 27.95, 28.00, 28.05, 28.10, 28.15, 28.20, 28.25, 28.30, 28.35, 28.40, 28.45, 28.50, 28.55, 28.60, 28.65, 28.70, 28.75, 28.80, 28.85, 28.90, 28.95, 29.00, 29.05, 29.10, 29.15, 29.20, 29.25, 29.30, 29.35, 29.40, 29.45, 29.50, 29.55, 29.60, 29.65, 29.70, 29.75, 29.80, 29.85, 29.90, 29.95, 30.00, 30.05, 30.10, 30.15, 30.20, 30.25, 30.30, 30.35, 30.40, 30.45, 30.50, 30.55, 30.60, 30.65, 30.70, 30.75, 30.80, 30.85, 30.90, 30.95, 31.00, 31.05, 31.10, 31.15, 31.20, 31.25, 31.30, 31.35, 31.40, 31.45, 31.50, 31.55, 31.60, 31.65, 31.70, 31.75, 31.80, 31.85, 31.90, 31.95, 32.00, 32.05, 32.10, 32.15, 32.20, 32.25, 32.30, 32.35, 32.40, 32.45, 32.50, 32.55, 32.60, 32.65, 32.70, 32.75, 32.80, 32.85, 32.90, 32.95, 33.00, 33.05, 33.10, 33.15, 33.20, 33.25, 33.30, 33.35, 33.40, 33.45, 33.50, 33.55, 33.60, 33.65, 33.70, 33.75, 33.80, 33.85, 33.90, 33.95, 34.00, 34.05, 34.10, 34.15, 34.20, 34.25, 34.30, 34.35, 34.40, 34.45, 34.50, 34.55, 34.60, 34.65, 34.70, 34.75, 34.80, 34.85, 34.90, 34.95, 35.00, 35.05, 35.10, 35.15, 35.20, 35.25, 35.30, 35.35, 35.40, 35.45, 35.50, 35.55, 35.60, 35.65, 35.70, 35.75, 35.80, 35.85, 35.90, 35.95, 36.00, 36.05, 36.10, 36.15, 36.20, 36.25, 36.30, 36.35, 36.40, 36.45, 36.50, 36.55, 36.60, 36.65, 36.70, 36.75, 36.80, 36.85, 36.90, 36.95, 37.00, 37.05, 37.10, 37.15, 37.20, 37.25, 37.30, 37.35, 37.40, 37.45, 37.50, 37.55, 37.60, 37.65, 37.70, 37.75, 37.80, 37.85, 37.90, 37.95, 38.00, 38.05, 38.10, 38.15, 38.20, 38.25, 38.30, 38.35, 38.40, 38.45, 38.50, 38.55, 38.60, 38.65, 38.70, 38.75, 38.80, 38.85, 38.90, 38.95, 39.00, 39.05, 39.10, 39.15, 39.20, 39.25, 39.30, 39.35, 39.40, 39.45, 39.50, 39.55, 39.60, 39.65, 39.70, 39.75, 39.80, 39.85, 39.90, 39.95, 40.00, 40.05, 40.10, 40.15, 40.20, 40.25, 40.30, 40.35, 40.40, 40.45, 40.50, 40.55, 40.60, 40.65, 40.70, 40.75, 40.80, 40.85, 40.90, 40.95, 41.00, 41.05, 41.10, 41.15, 41.20, 41.25, 41.30, 41.35, 41.40, 41.45, 41.50, 41.55, 41.60, 41.65, 41.70, 41.75, 41.80, 41.85, 41.90, 41.95, 42.00, 42.05, 42.10, 42.15, 42.20, 42.25, 42.30, 42.35, 42.40, 42.45, 42.50, 42.55, 42.60, 42.65, 42.70, 42.75, 42.80, 42.85, 42.90, 42.95, 43.00, 43.05, 43.10, 43.15, 43.20, 43.25, 43.30, 43.35, 43.40, 43.45, 43.50, 43.55, 43.60, 43.65, 43.70, 43.75, 43.80, 43.85, 43.90, 43.95, 44.00, 44.05, 44.10, 44.15, 44.20, 44.25, 44.30, 44.35, 44.40, 44.45, 44.50, 44.55, 44.60, 44.65, 44.70, 44.75, 44.80, 44.85, 44.90, 44.95, 45.00, 45.05, 45.10, 45.15, 45.20, 45.25, 45.30, 45.35, 45.40, 45.45, 45.50, 45.55, 45.60, 45.65, 45.70, 45.75, 45.80, 45.85, 45.90, 45.95, 46.00, 46.05, 46.10, 46.15, 46.20, 46.25, 46.30, 46.35, 46.40, 46.45, 46.50, 46.55, 46.60, 46.65, 46.70, 46.75, 46.80, 46.85, 46.90, 46.95, 47.00, 47.05, 47.10, 47.15, 47.20, 47.25, 47.30, 47.35, 47.40, 47.45, 47.50, 47.55, 47.60, 47.65, 47.70, 47.75, 47.80, 47.85, 47.90, 47.95, 48.00, 48.05, 48.10, 48.15, 48.20, 48.25, 48.30, 48.35, 48.40, 48.45, 48.50, 48.55, 48.60, 48.65, 48.70, 48.75, 48.80, 48.85, 48.90, 48.95, 49.00, 49.05, 49.10, 49.15, 49.20, 49.25, 49.30, 49.35, 49.40, 49.45, 49.50, 49.55, 49.60, 49.65, 49.70, 49.75, 49.80, 49.85, 49.90, 49.95, 50.00, 50.05, 50.10, 50.15, 50.20, 50.25, 50.30, 50.35, 50.40, 50.45, 50.50, 50.55, 50.60, 50.65, 50.70, 50.75, 50.80, 50.85, 50.90, 50.95, 51.00, 51.05, 51.10, 51.15, 51.20, 51.25, 51.30, 51.35, 51.40, 51.45, 51.50, 51.55, 51.60, 51.65, 51.70, 51.75, 51.80, 51.85, 51.90, 51.95, 52.00, 52.05, 52.10, 52.15, 52.20, 52.25, 52.30, 52.35, 52.40, 52.45, 52.50, 52.55, 52.60, 52.65, 52.70, 52.75, 52.80, 52.85, 52.90, 52.95, 53.00, 53.05, 53.10, 53.15, 53.20, 53.25, 53.30, 53.35, 53.40, 53.45, 53.50, 53.55, 53.60, 53.65, 53.70, 53.75, 53.80, 53.85, 53.90, 53.95, 54.00, 54.05, 54.10, 54.15, 54.20, 54.25, 54.30, 54.35, 54.40, 54.45, 54.50, 54.55, 54.60, 54.65, 54.70, 54.75, 54.80, 54.85, 54.90, 54.95, 55.00, 55.05, 55.10, 55.15, 55.20, 55.25, 55.30, 55.35, 55.40, 55.45, 55.50, 55.55, 55.60, 55.65, 55.70, 55.75, 55.80, 55.85, 55.90, 55.95, 56.00, 56.05, 56.10, 56.15, 56.20, 56.25, 56.30,

THE WOBURN JOURNAL. FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.

For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

Of all the various departments in our City Government, the one which attracts the most abuse and the least credit is that of the Highways. This Department is under the direction and absolute control of the Joint Standing Committee on Highways. The Superintendent of Streets under the Committee's supervision has absolute control of all employees. He has the right to employ and discharge his men and is alone responsible for the kind of men he employs. The Committee simply can designate the number of men and upon what work they shall be employed.

Contrary to the general belief the Mayor is a member of the Highway Committee, nor has he the power to direct the Department, except through the Committee. He may, if in his judgment the interests of the city require it, suspend work for a definite period and renew the suspension almost indefinitely.

Some of the more important undertakings of the Committee this year have been the rebuilding of Jefferson Avenue for which purpose the waste material from the blasting near the skating rink was used. This, we understand, was furnished free by Mr. J. M. Ellis if the city teams would remove it. Main street in North Woburn between its junctions with Elm street has been thoroughly regraded. For this work the Committee used gravel from an adjacent bank on Alfred street, the lease of which expires soon.

The opening of the Woburn & Reading Railroad has necessitated widening and repairs on Salem street which will soon be completed and will be decided improvement.

— A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathet's, 425 Main street.

It is reported that Supt. Haynes of the Woburn Electric Co. has re-signed.

— Aren't the National Band going to give us some open air concerts this summer?

— Mr. McCarthy has been under the weather lately. It was an attack of rheumatism.

— The Woburn Brass Band gave a concert on Reading Common last Wednesday evening.

— Miss Annie Cummings, at Cummings' Chute & Co's coal office, has returned from Nova Scotia.

— The church choirs and ministers of this city are, the most of them, away on their summer vacations.

— The Canadian French Union of Woburn and Winchester will hold a picnic in Winslow's Grove tomorrow.

— For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

— The Wyman Green fountain will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The Mayor will make an address of course.

— A new concrete sidewalk has been built from Mann's Court to Franklin street and is a vast improvement on the old one.

— Miss Annie Wood, Second Assistant Librarian, is quite ill at her home on Pleasant st. Mr. Cutter hopes she will be back after her post shortly.

— Librarian Cutter thinks strongly of passing his vacation term under his own vine and figtree on upper Main st. A wise thought, thinks the JOURNAL.

— Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—ff.

— Orders for piano tuning by Frank A. Locke can be left as usual at store formerly occupied by Deans, the jeweler, and will receive prompt attention.

— The alarm from box 61 at 7 o'clock last Wednesday evening was for a fire in the loft over J. J. Hern's Marble shop on Salem street. Damage slight.

— Mr. Edward E. Parker has been awarded the contract for supplying the residence of Editor Wilson of Winchester with heating apparatus. It will be well done.

— Mrs. John Roach who lived and died at Lexington and whose funeral was held there last Monday morning was buried in the Catholic cemetery in this city on the same day.

— Mr. Herbert W. Mann is to occupy the residence which Mrs. Ellis is building on Bennett st. It is an excellent location and will be a fine dwelling when completed.

— We are indebted to Miss Ruth Sanborn for a beautiful nosegay plucked in her father's garden for the JOURNAL last Monday evening. The little one has our thanks for the present.

— The Reading & Wakefield S. R. Co., which is substantially the Woburn & Reading, and the No. Woburn Companies are about to build an electric road from Reading to Lawrence.

— Co. G., Capt. L. E. Hanson, returned from general muster at South Framingham in fine trim last Saturday evening. Everyone said he had the best kind of a time during the week.

— It was a mighty hot afternoon and evening for the circus last Wednesday but that didn't prevent heaps of people from going. The two lines of electric make the ball grounds handily.

— Programmes of concert Wednesday evening, Aug. 5, by the Woburn Brass Band.

— A reliable vegetable vendor said that the thunder storm at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning was very destructive to fields and gardens at Billerica. The hail was terrific and did a great deal of damage.

— Eames & Carter, the coal merchants, successors of H. E. Lord, are doing a thriving good business and are certain to do more. They are completely equipped for the trade, and are reliable men.

— On Wednesday next, Aug. 5, the Grocers Clerks Association will hold their annual "Day," and it is said that "Merchant's Day" will also be observed then. Among the latter we hear of no arrangement for a picnic in force, but the Clerks propose to do things as an association. We see placards up announcing the closing of stores on that day.

THE POPULISTS.

This strange lot of freaks held a convention at St. Louis last week to put up National nominees and made a botch of it, as everybody expected they would. They chose Bryan for presidential candidate, and Watson of Georgia, one of the wildest of their party, for vice. Sewell was rejected, but why was he, after Bryan was taken, can be explained only by considering the character of the men composing the convention. By that token anything unreasonable and freakish might justly be expected of them.

The bimetallic faction had announced the Democratic candidates, Bryan and Sewell, which was the only consistent thing for them to do. It was not an agreeable pill for Republican protectionists to swallow, but they looked on the money question as paramount to all others and cast in their lot with the Democrats. But the populists showed the same kind of sense at their convention that they show in other things, which is no sense at all, and the result will be that they will find themselves tailenders in the fall and with no chance in the Democratic administration, if there should be one.

— We hear that the Republicans of Reading are favorably disposed towards James W. Grimes, Esq., as their candidate for Representative from this District this fall, and that if the nomination is offered to him without a contest he will probably accept. Hon. S. Bancroft has had the place the customary two terms; he has filled it with honor to himself and his constituents; and it is not expected that he will ask for another one. The Republicans are therefore looking towards Lawyer Grimes as his successor. It is said that Mr. Grimes is an estimable gentleman; a young man of ability and excellent character; he is a sound Republican; and, with Mr. Beegs, would represent the District most creditably.

— The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, of which our own Dr. Frank Graves and Col. A. L. Richardson and members, were expected to reach the wharf in Boston at 6 o'clock this morning. The Servia sailed a week ago from Liverpool. After a multitude of the highest honors heaped upon them by royalty and the nobility of England, the Boston papers fear that there will be no living with the Ancients for some time to come.

— Unless something unexpected turns up Col. Woodward of Wakefield is likely to have an easy walkover for Senatorial nomination. Not a word of opposition to him is heard in any quarter of the District. No competitor for the place has appeared, and the Colonel's friends believe he will easily win the prize.

— If the gold faction of the Democratic party of Boston could somehow manage to suppress John B. Moran its chances for success would greatly increased. As a Ward politician—and that is the size of him—he manages to make himself an insufferable nuisance.

— LOCAL NEWS.
New Advertisements.

Burlette—College,
J. W. Johnson—Citation.

— There has been a plentiful supply of very hot weather this week.

— It looks as though more Woburn people than ever are away this summer.

— There was a charming picnic of young people in City Park last Wednesday.

— A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathet's, 425 Main street.

— It is reported that Supt. Haynes of the Woburn Electric Co. has re-signed.

— Aren't the National Band going to give us some open air concerts this summer?

— Mr. McCarthy has been under the weather lately. It was an attack of rheumatism.

— The Woburn Brass Band gave a concert on Reading Common last Wednesday evening.

— Miss Annie Cummings, at Cummings' Chute & Co's coal office, has returned from Nova Scotia.

— The church choirs and ministers of this city are, the most of them, away on their summer vacations.

— The Canadian French Union of Woburn and Winchester will hold a picnic in Winslow's Grove tomorrow.

— For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

— The Wyman Green fountain will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The Mayor will make an address of course.

— A new concrete sidewalk has been built from Mann's Court to Franklin street and is a vast improvement on the old one.

— Miss Annie Wood, Second Assistant Librarian, is quite ill at her home on Pleasant st. Mr. Cutter hopes she will be back after her post shortly.

— Librarian Cutter thinks strongly of passing his vacation term under his own vine and figtree on upper Main st. A wise thought, thinks the JOURNAL.

— Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—ff.

— Orders for piano tuning by Frank A. Locke can be left as usual at store formerly occupied by Deans, the jeweler, and will receive prompt attention.

— The alarm from box 61 at 7 o'clock last Wednesday evening was for a fire in the loft over J. J. Hern's Marble shop on Salem street. Damage slight.

— Mr. Edward E. Parker has been awarded the contract for supplying the residence of Editor Wilson of Winchester with heating apparatus. It will be well done.

— Mrs. John Roach who lived and died at Lexington and whose funeral was held there last Monday morning was buried in the Catholic cemetery in this city on the same day.

— Mr. Herbert W. Mann is to occupy the residence which Mrs. Ellis is building on Bennett st. It is an excellent location and will be a fine dwelling when completed.

— Programmes of concert Wednesday evening, Aug. 5, by the Woburn Brass Band.

— A reliable vegetable vendor said that the thunder storm at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning was very destructive to fields and gardens at Billerica. The hail was terrific and did a great deal of damage.

— Eames & Carter, the coal merchants, successors of H. E. Lord, are doing a thriving good business and are certain to do more. They are completely equipped for the trade, and are reliable men.

— On Wednesday next, Aug. 5, the Grocers Clerks Association will hold their annual "Day," and it is said that "Merchant's Day" will also be observed then. Among the latter we hear of no arrangement for a picnic in force, but the Clerks propose to do things as an association. We see placards up announcing the closing of stores on that day.

— Mr. William Kimball of Wilton, N. H., paid Woburn a visit last week and enjoyed meeting his many friends here. He is 80 years old—pretty ripe age, but as smart as a whip. He lays it to New Hampshire air.

— Supt. Winslow hopes the day is not far distant when he can run his cars from No. Woburn to Winchester without hitch or hindrance from dug up streets. He has had a tough time of it with his cars this summer.

— Roadmaster Stickney of the B. & M. RR. sent his men here last week and improved the property at Central Square Station by removing a fence and reggrading the driveways and lawn. It is a decided improvement.

— Mr. W. F. Sawyer has bought a residence site on the Calvin Simonds place in Burlington for a summer home. It is on the road to Lexington, on or near Cambridge street, and one of the pleasantest locations in Burlington.

— Gangs of men are working this way from Charles st. on the N. W. S. R. and soon the connections will be made. The Company are making a firstclass job of the whole thing. Next will be Winchester to Medford.

— An alarm was sounded last Monday evening for the firemen to hasten to the residence of Mr. B. H. Nichols, 112 Main street and prevent a conflagration from burning chimney. No damage worth speaking of was done.

— Over a thousand friends of Rev. Daniel March, D. D., filled the Congregational Church, Woburn, Tuesday night to join in celebrating the aged divine's eightieth birthday.—Boston Courier. It was a great occasion and mysteriously as it came.

— Just the other side of the Winchster line in Woburn there is a drinking trough much resorted to by tired and thirsty horses. Unfortunately, close to the fountain is a liquor saloon and it is no uncommon sight to see three or four horses standing at the trough while the drivers are inside the saloon, much to the annoyance of numerous drivers of other vehicles who are thereby unable to shake the thirst of their horses. The saloon or fountain should be moved.—Winchester Star.

— Mr. Charles H. Taylor of Pleasant st., this city, has been engaged by the publishers of the "Illustrated History of Lowell," on which Mr. D. F. Moreland of Woburn has been at work for several months, to do the photographic work for the illustrations and entered on it last Wednesday morning. Orders for 108 buildings have already been given, and the publishers expect to swell it to 150. It will be a valuable volume when completed. The work of taking the pictures could not have been given into better hands than those of Mr. Taylor. He is careful, painstaking, and has a true eye for effects; and besides, he is reliable. It will take him several weeks to complete the job.

— It is said that in a year or so an electric road will be built from Woburn over the "mountain" to Cross st. and thence to Washington st., there connecting with the Mystic Valley Railroad.—Winchester Star. Also an electric road to Cummingsville (mebby thence to Arlington) will soon be built, and the gap between No. Woburn and Wilmington will be closed shortly. This latter is very much needed.

— The family of Dr. Geo. P. Bartlett are at No. Conway, the "Poet's Paradise."

— H. A. Billings was booked at the Albian House, White Mts. for a few days ago.

— Miss Bertha W. Tidd is spending her vacation at Millford, N. H., and in that region.

— F. B. French and F. B. Richardson put up at the Pilgrim House, Province town, last week.

— Henry Carton, salesman at Dickinson's market, is spending his vacation at Montpelier, Vt.

— Judge Johnson has returned from N. H. and is officiating on the Bench of the District Court.

— Mr. Howard Nason took a party to the White Mts. last weekend and got back Saturday evening.

— John Brown got back from New Hampshire last Saturday evening after a pleasant visit in that state.

— F. O. Moore and Thomas Morley left here for New York last Saturday. They went for pleasure principally.

— New Hampshire rocks, hills, streams and air are good enough for Mr. Charles M. Monroe, wife and boys.

— The family of Mr. Julian F. Ramsdell are taking life quietly and comfortably at Hotel Humarock, Sea View.

— The register of Pendexter Mansion, Intervale, N. H., contains the names of H. P. Johnson and K. S. Johnson.

— Mr. P. E. Bancroft, Mr. F. A. Buckman and Mr. J. M. Wallace went touster at So. Framingham last Friday.

— Mr. C. J. Chase, locomotive engineer on the B. & M. Railroad, Southern Division, has gone to New York on visit.

— For making things lively, for stirring up matters, for preventing bleeding of blood, we place our money on the Water Board every day in the week. This time it is a bicycle. It was no use, they couldn't tool it any longer, and so they bought a bicycle. (We should like to see Com. Kelly on a bike!) Auditor Jones sympathized with the Board and cheerfully endorsed the bill for the wheel. Not so the Committee on Accounts—they rejected it. The result can be easily imagined—there was a row. It is still on, with the betting 3 to 1 in favor of the Water Board. In the mean time the bike is chained up in Water Registrar Barrett's office, directly under that gentleman's eye, where it will remain until the matter is settled. But to make the case still more lively and interesting the Common Council ought to get hold of it somehow, with the Mayor on the other side, and then we'll have a real trial.

— For making things lively, for stirring up matters, for preventing bleeding of blood, we place our money on the Water Board every day in the week. This time it is a bicycle. (We should like to see Com. Kelly on a bike!) Auditor Jones sympathized with the Board and cheerfully endorsed the bill for the wheel. Not so the Committee on Accounts—they rejected it. The result can be easily imagined—there was a row. It is still on, with the betting 3 to 1 in favor of the Water Board. In the mean time the bike is chained up in Water Registrar Barrett's office, directly under that gentleman's eye, where it will remain until the matter is settled. But to make the case still more lively and interesting the Common Council ought to get hold of it somehow, with the Mayor on the other side, and then we'll have a real trial.

— For making things lively, for stirring up matters, for preventing bleeding of blood, we place our money on the Water Board every day in the week. This time it is a bicycle. (We should like to see Com. Kelly on a bike!) Auditor Jones sympathized with the Board and cheerfully endorsed the bill for the wheel. Not so the Committee on Accounts—they rejected it. The result can be easily imagined—there was a row. It is still on, with the betting 3 to 1 in favor of the Water Board. In the mean time the bike is chained up in Water Registrar Barrett's office, directly under that gentleman's eye, where it will remain until the matter is settled. But to make the case still more lively and interesting the Common Council ought to get hold of it somehow, with the Mayor on the other side, and then we'll have a real trial.

— For making things lively, for stirring up matters, for preventing bleeding of blood, we place our money on the Water Board every day in the week. This time it is a bicycle. (We should like to see Com. Kelly on a bike!) Auditor Jones sympathized with the Board and cheerfully endorsed the bill for the wheel. Not so the Committee on Accounts—they rejected it. The result can be easily imagined—there was a row. It is still on, with the betting 3 to 1 in favor of the Water Board. In the mean time the bike is chained up in Water Registrar Barrett's office, directly under that gentleman's eye, where it will remain until the matter is settled. But to make the case still more lively and interesting the Common

A QUARTET

OF BARGAINS is a condensed way of stating it. It's the whole thing in a nutshell. A story quickly and plainly told suits the discerning buyer. Our Quartet of Bargains this week is a lot of GROCERIES, DYES, MUSLINS, and CLOTHES, at a general price of 10 cents per yard. You will tell them apart in the dark by finger contact. You know they are seasonable. All that remains for us to tell you is that they are fine in quality and pretty in pattern, that the lot is a limited one, and that at the price—10 cents per yard—they will melt away like dew before the sun.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond
In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

Two Stores: 409 Main Street, Woburn.
South Berwick, Me.
Telephone, 4-3.

G. R. GAGE & CO.

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - - - Woburn.
JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.HIGHLEY'S
Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER,
and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience.
Boston Office: Halsted & Davis, Piano Rooms, 175
Tremont St., Boston. 100,000 Pianos Tuned.
Store, 379 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - - - - WOBURN.

We are constantly placing on our counters new lines of SMALL WARES, Ladies', Misses' and Children's HOSE, Stocking Supporters, etc. Our regular Line of Ladies', Misses', and Children's, SUITS, WRAPPERS, etc., are always new and styles changed every week.

*Please call and see us even if you do not want to purchase.

Plumbing Plumbing

I have in my employ the best of workmen and good help, personal attention to all jobs. I guarantee the best of work at lowest possible rates.

Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT,
Main St.

North Woburn.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at Perkins Bros. store.

Master Leroy Lewis spent last week in Lynn.

Mr. E. B. Blanchard is on a business trip in Maine.

The edgestones are being put in on School street.

Mr. Walter Sears and his wife of Towns end are visiting in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark of Tidd Ave., have arrived home from their Western trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Pyatt and Mrs. E. C. DeLuce of Chicago are visiting relatives in town.

Mr. Arthur H. Lincoln arrived home from a business trip through Michigan, New York, and New Jersey, last Saturday.

Our citizens are kicking because the telephone wires are in front of their houses. It is said that the Company will move them if the people who with them moved will stand the expense.

Last summer one of our grand children was sick with a severe bowel trouble. Our doctor's advice was to take a cold bath in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief. We regard it as the best medicine ever put on the market for bowel complaints.—Mrs. M. E. Gregory, Frederickson Mo. This certainly is the best medicine ever put on the market. The bowel trouble was successfully treated by Dr. John L. Pippy, the Editor of the JOURNAL, had the sale of it in Woburn. Its weird advertisement appears in the paper, and the editor, who intended to convert red or gray hair into a beautiful black or brown, the moment it was applied, without staining the skin or injuring the hair in the least. Ayer's Pills were another favorite advertisement, and so was the "Pills of the Month." However, for eradicating tan and freckles, and so forth, the local advertisements are found on the first and third pages of the weekly paper and the old standys from about the fourth.

The statistics of the census of the town of Woburn taken by Edward Simonds and Mr. Parsons are presented in the Journal for Sept. 1895. The total population during the last five years had increased nearly one-half, and public improvements were many and business had doubled. There were those still in the town who viewed the improvements as extravagant and said, "What the wants of the people and their business has led to?" One hundred and twenty different occupations were represented. The total population numbered 1,626, a little over half of the whole, and Ireland supplied 1,000. The total number of inhabitants was 3,788. The gain by 1895 was 1,662 or 44.1%. Of the occupations in town, there were 1 Artist, 1 Bookkeeper, 1 Collector of Customs (Gen. Pease), 1 Deputy Sheriff, 1 Dentist, 1 General Physician, 1 Innholder, 1 Newspaper Boy, 2 Nurses, 12 Carpenters, 350 Cardmakers, 2 Tailors, 3 Engravers, 27 Gentlemen, 5 Harness-makers, 72 Patent Leather Japaners, 361 Laborers, 2 Music Teachers, 9 Physicians, 3 Slates, and a small army of other occupations, including 85 tanners of the soil by profession. These figures were followed by more in a later issue.

The new liquor law passed by the Legislature was enforced in Woburn at this period and examples are given in the local paper of its enforcement. In September, 1855, a quantity of unchained liquor, taken under the pretense of being destroyed by the constable, was spilled upon the street, and it was scattered over a considerable space in the street, and the forged flames rose higher, it remained until about a miniature resemblance to a lake that burned forever and ever," presented here for the edification of the multitude.

A flour and grain ledger was started at this time. The plan was to send an agent

Looking Up.

Word comes from Woburn that the shoe stock industry, which gives occupation for a large part of the laboring people thereabouts, is picking up again. For several months this has been on the wane, but of late the manufacturers have experienced a revival of business. At the Russel Counter Company's factory a machine is being put together, which when in working order, is expected to do the work formerly done by about twenty girls. The branch which the new machine is expected to revolutionize is known as "cementing," and about ninety girls are employed at it at Russell's alone. —Shoe & Leather Review.

The Celebration.

At the Woburn Congregational church, last Tuesday evening, a service generally united in a service celebrating the eightieth birthday of the Rev. Daniel March, D. D., Pastor Emeritus of that church, and a man of remarkable physical and mental power, illustrated by the fact that until last year he filled unaided the exacting duties of pastor of this church of over 700 members. Mayor Allen, Supt. of Schools, Richardson, Hon. J. G. Pollard, and pastors of other local churches made addresses.—Arlington Advocate.

An edict of the Emperor Tiberius forbade Roman citizens to wear any garments made in whole or part of silk.

Woburn in 1855.

A CHRONICLE.

Jeduthan Fowle's advertised sale of 75 houses in the present Highfield district, on Aug. 1, 1855, was an important undertaking, but the result was not reported in the paper.

Continuing description of manufacturing establishments the JOURNAL describes the tanning and curving establishment of A. Weston & Co., in the town, Aug. 25, 1855. It was the oldest, and, with one exception, the most extensive, in Woburn. The senior member of the firm had conducted the business for upwards of thirty years. The present firm, consisting of A. Weston, George Dows, and Horace Conn, was formed in 1836. The senior member, with the exception of the Hon. William Sturgis, was at this time the wealthiest citizen of the town, President of the Woburn Bank, and a shareholder and member of the Woburn Manufacturing Company. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who would not work, but were determined to fatten and grow rich on the hard earnings of the industrious workers. This class were not popular in Woburn, and the founders had to gather strength for protection against the present market monopoly. In my youth I used to hear a great deal from housekeepers and others who had been in Woburn, "the men," who intervened in the purchase of all the necessities of life at every step, and were branded as a class who

Old Fashioned—compound cathartic pills, the purest calomel, or other medicinal preparations, should not be used in these days of enlightened medical science, when it is so easy to get a purely vegetable pill in concentrated form, larger, and in glass vials, at any store where medicine and tea are kept.

Dr. Pierce was first to introduce a Little Pill to the people. Many have imitated them, but none have approached his "Pleasant Pellets" in purity, or virtue, or for all laxative and cathartic purposes.

Once Used, they are Always in Favor.

A taste Nature's little now and then with a gentle cleansing laxative, thereby ridding offending matter from the stomach and bowels, toning up and invigorating the liver and quieting its tame activity, will do you more good than the cause of a multitude of distressing diseases, such as headaches, indigestion, or dyspepsia, biliousness, pimples, eruptions, boils, constipation, piles, &c., and maladies too numerous to mention.

If people would pay more attention to properly regulating the action of their bowels, they would have less frequent occasion to call for their doctor's services to subdue attacks of dangerous disease.

That of all known agents to accomplish this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are unequalled, in that the fact that one-half of them are given for their secondary effect is to keep the bowels open and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. Hence, their great popularity, and their habitual constipation piles and induration.

They absolutely cure sick headache, biliousness, griping, coated tongue, poor appetite, dyspepsia, and kindred disturbances.

A free sample of the "Pellets" (4 to 7 doses on trial), mailed to any address, post-paid, on receipt of name and address on postal card.

Address for free sample, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 63 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

YOUNG CORPORAL JIM.

[As told by a veteran.]
Twas down in the valley in sixty-four,
With a faint glimmer of breaking day;
That young Jim, he said, salath and gay,
As a full-fledged private in old Troop K.

His eyes were as big and as bright as a girl's,
And clear'd off his head crest his short hairy brows;

And his figure was graceful and lithe and slim.
As a willow that grows near the river's brim.

He was a lad, not beyond eighteen,

But the things that he knew and sights he had seen.

Were marvelous even to soldiers old,

And though gentle in nature, his spirit was gay,

So they made him a corporal so gallant and gay.

And he carried the guidon in old Troop K.

Twas a close June morn when the sun was gray,

With a faint glimmer of breaking day;

The trumpets were sounding the reveille.

When off to the north, like a surging sea,

Came the rattle of muskets, the rolling of drums,

And "Charge!" sang the trumpets. "To arms, the foe comes!"

"Trot!" "Gallop!" then "Charge!" and we rode to the hill.

At that first sight both officers dropped.

For a moment we wavered, we almost were stopped,

When just like a flash to the front young Jim sprang,

Waved the guidon on high while we all held our breath.

And then like a hero rode straight to his death.

Did we carry the place? Just you read the report.

That Phil Sheridan made to the point, sharp and short:

"While the troops all fought well, the event of the day,"

Was the falling of Mount Hill by galloping to the hill—

And Jim, yes, we found him quite come to the hill—

Shot down through the head, sir—all quiet and still.

Fast clasping the guidon, lay on the sand,

His young boy face turned straight up to the sky.

We buried him close to the spot where he fell,

From that deadly shower of bullets and shell.

We gave him a headboard—the best that we could;

Not much twas to look at—unpainted wood.

But one fellow, a poet, wrote this on the board:

"Corporal Jim, who died game in his boots, and the Lord."

—T. H. Wilson, in New York Sun.

REBEL IN THE WOODS.

When the abled-bodied citizens of the village formed a company and marched away to the war, Major Tom Boldin assumed in a manner the burden of the village cares. Everybody ran to him when they felt obliged to discuss their affairs. The sorrows of the town were dragged before him. His little bench at the sun-side of Mugglesville, a cavern became a sort of an open court where people came to speak respectfully of their grievances. He accepted his position and struggled manfully under the load.

Finally Mrs. Goodwin said: "I wish you goin' to th' turn o' th' road anymore." Mrs. Alletts and Mrs. Joe Peterson, her particular friends, cried out at this temerity, but she said: "Well, I'm goin' anyhow."

She called Bronson.

"Come on, Jerozel. Y'hre a man, an if he should chase us why yeh must pitch int'nem. Hey?"

Bronson always obeyed everybody.

He grimed an assent and went with her down the road.

A little boy attempted to follow them, but a shrill scream from his mother made him hale.

The remaining women stood motionless, their eyes fixed upon Mrs. Goodwin and Jerozel. Then at last one gave a laugh of triumph at her conquer of caution and fear and cried:

"Well, I'm goin' too!"

Another instantly said, "So am I." They began a general movement. Some of the little boys had already ventured a hundred feet away from the main body, and at this unmammous advance they spread out ahead in little groups. Some recounted terrible stories of rebel ferocity. Their eyes were full of excitement. The whole thing, with its possible danger, had for them a delicious element. Johnnie Peterson, who could whip any boy present, explained what he would do in case the enemy should pounce out at him.

The sparrows wrangled desperately in the road, defying perspiration. Once a time a single winged and crackling prance raised a yellowish blur of dust before the soft tones of the field and sky. In the long grass of the meadow across the road the insects chirped and chattered.

Suddenly a frowzy headed boy appeared in the roadway, his bare feet patterning rapidly. He was extremely excited. He gave a shrill whoop as he discovered the sleeping major and rushed toward him. He created a terrific panic among some chickens that had been scratching intensely near the major's feet. They clattered in an insanity of fear and rushed hither and thither seeking a way of escape, whereas in reality all ways lay open to them.

This tumult caused the major to awoke with a sudden little jump of amazement and apprehension. He rubbed his eyes and gazed about him. Meanwhile some clever chicken hid him, and he crept along to safety and let the flock into the garden, where they squawked in sustained alarm.

Panting from his run and choked with terror the little boy stood before the major, struggling with a tale that was even upon the tip of his tongue.

"Major—now—major!"

The old man, roused from a delicious slumber, glared impatiently at the little boy.

"Come, come! What's th' matter with yeh?" demanded. "What's th' matter? Don't stand there shaking. Speak up!"

"Let's th' matter," the little boy shouted valiantly, and a courage born of the importance of his tale. "My ma's chickens 'us all stole, an now—she's over in the woods!"

"Who's th' who is over in the woods?

Go ahead!"

"Now—th' rebel is!"

"What?" roared the major.

"Th' rebel!" cried the little boy with the fast breath.

The major bounced from his bench in tempestuous excitement. He seized the little boy by the collar and gave him a great jerk.

"Where? Are yeh sure? Who saw 'im? How long ago? Where is now?" Did yeh see 'em?"

The little boy, frightened at the major's fury, began to sob. After a moment he managed to stammer a calm, and self-contained manner of hearing it. "Hol on a minnit," piped old Peter.

"He's now—he's in the woods! I saw 'im! He looks uglier'n anything!"

The major released his hold upon the boy, and pausing for a time, indulged in a glorious dream.

"By thunder, we'll ketch the cuss!"

"Yeh wait here," he told the boy, "an don't say a word t' anybody. Do yeh hear?"

The major, still weeping, nodded, and the major hurriedly entered the inn. He took down from its pegs an awkward, smooth, smooth rifle and carefully examined the enormous percussion cap that was fitted over the nipple. Mis-trusting the cap, he removed it and replaced it with a new one. He scrutinized the gun keenly, as if he could judge in this manner the condition of the load. All his movements were slow and careful.

When he arrived at the cornfield, he halted and waited for Peter. He suddenly felt that indefinable menace in the landscape.

"Well?" demanded Peter, panting.

The major's eyes wavered a trifle.

"Well?" he repeated. "Well? What's th' goin' to do?"

The major, with a gesture of supreme desperation, wheeled again and went on. When he reached the top of the fence, he removed it and replaced it with a new one. He scrutinized the gun keenly, as if he could judge in this manner the condition of the load. All his movements were slow and careful.

When he arrived upon the porch of the tavern, he beheld the yard filled with people. Peter Withely, soot-faced and grinning, was in the van. He looked at the major.

"Well?" he said.

"Well?" returned the major, bridling.

"Well, what's th' goin' to do?" said old Peter.

"Got? Got a rebel over in th' woods?"

At this sentence the women and boys who had gathered eagerly about him went to startled cries. The women had come from adjacent houses, but the little boys represented the entire village. They had miraculously heard the first whisper of rumor, and they performed their duty with the spot. They clustered around the important figure of the major and gazed in silent awe. The women, however, burst forth. At the word "rebel," which represented to them all the terrible things they deluged the major with questions, which were obviously unanswered.

He shook them off with violent impatience. Meanwhile Peter Withely was trying to force exasperating interrogations through the tumult to the major's ears.

"What? No! Yes! How d' I know?"

The maddened veteran snarled, as he struggled with his friends. "No! Yes! What? How in thunder d' I know?"

Upon the steps of the tavern the landlady strolled weeping forlornly.

The major broke through the crowd and went to the roadway. There, as they all screamed after him, he turned and faced them.

"Don't look a-here! I don't know any more about this than yeh do," he told them firmly. "All that I know is that there's a rebel over in Smith's woods, an all I know is that I'm a-goin' to find 'em."

"And 'tis a-some!" sang the trumpet.

"'Trot!' "Gallop!" then "Charge!" and we rode to the hill.

At that first sight both officers dropped.

For a moment we wavered, we almost were stopped,

When just like a flash to the front young Jim sprang,

Waved the guidon on high while we all held our breath.

And then like a hero rode straight to his death.

Did we carry the place? Just you read the report.

That Phil Sheridan made to the point, sharp and short:

"While the troops all fought well, the event of the day,"

Was the falling of Mount Hill by galloping to the hill—

And Jim, yes, we found him quite come to the hill—

Shot down through the head, sir—all quiet and still.

Fast clasping the guidon, lay on the sand,

His young boy face turned straight up to the sky.

We buried him close to the spot where he fell,

From that deadly shower of bullets and shell.

We gave him a headboard—the best that we could;

Not much twas to look at—unpainted wood.

But one fellow, a poet, wrote this on the board:

"Corporal Jim, who died game in his boots, and the Lord."

—T. H. Wilson, in New York Sun.

Why, it took my breath away. Goodness sakes, don't holier like that again."

"Hol on a minnit," Peter Withely said.

He was crying to the major as the latter, full of the importance and dignity of his position as protector of Mugglesville, paced forward swiftly. The veteran almost fell upon his brow a wreath formed of stars of gratitude, and as soon as he was absorbed in planning a calm and self-contained manner of hearing it. "Hol on a minnit," piped old Peter.

"He's now—he's in the woods! I saw 'im! He looks uglier'n anything!"

The major released his hold upon the boy, and pausing for a time, indulged in a glorious dream.

"By thunder, we'll ketch the cuss!"

"Yeh wait here," he told the boy, "an don't say a word t' anybody. Do yeh hear?"

The major, still weeping, nodded, and the major hurriedly entered the inn. He took down from its pegs an awkward, smooth, smooth rifle and carefully examined the enormous percussion cap that was fitted over the nipple. Mis-trusting the cap, he removed it and replaced it with a new one. He scrutinized the gun keenly, as if he could judge in this manner the condition of the load. All his movements were slow and careful.

When he arrived at the cornfield, he halted and waited for Peter. He suddenly felt that indefinable menace in the landscape.

"Well?" demanded Peter, panting.

The major's eyes wavered a trifle.

"Well?" he repeated. "Well? What's th' goin' to do?"

The major, with a gesture of supreme desperation, wheeled again and went on. When he reached the top of the fence, he removed it and replaced it with a new one. He scrutinized the gun keenly, as if he could judge in this manner the condition of the load. All his movements were slow and careful.

When he arrived upon the porch of the tavern, he beheld the yard filled with people. Peter Withely, soot-faced and grinning, was in the van. He looked at the major.

"Well?" he said.

"Well?" returned the major, brid

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, AUGUST 7, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, AUG. 7, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.

Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.

For Vice President of the United States.

Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

WORK AND MONEY.

Start the mills and furnaces again; set the wheels rolling in the factories; make a demand for more meat and flour from people who have been living on a low scale because their incomes have been on a low scale, and there will be no grumbling about the quality of currency that is offered in pay for it. What "Old Hayden" wants is what the country wants—more work for Americans to do. The money of to-day will be good enough for the enlarged business that Protection will insure—American Economist.

The above were the sentiments communicated by the Economist, the organ of the American Protective Tariff League, and the ablest exponent of the American idea of home protection in this country, on a speech by "Old Hayden," a colored man and a favorite of the Thirteenth Ward Republican Club of Chicago, published in the Inter Ocean, which closed with these sage words from the old darkie: "The work question is on top. Settle it and the money question settles itself. Give Old Hayden work to do and he'll tell you what he gets the money."

The Economist believes that the tariff, although not made so by the politicians, is the real issue in this campaign—it is the live, vital question, the question that the people, the working people, understand and want to vote on next November. Hundreds of thousands of men will cast their ballots for McKinley on this question next fall who know nothing about the money issue and care less. Start anew the industries of the country and money matters will settle themselves.

HOME PROTECTION.

Protect American labor, American investment and the American market, and there will be an end to the present evils that threaten the very Government itself.—N. Y. Press.

This is the McKinley doctrine—it is the doctrine that all genuine Americans believe in. Very few working people know anything about the money issue forced on the Republican party by Democratic schemers, but when it comes to the question of tariff they are at home, having learned by bitter experience what the opposite of home protection, the Gorman policy, means. By this token hosts of them will vote the Republican ticket this fall for the first time.

W The Democratic ratification meeting came off at Lyceum Hall in this city last Tuesday evening as per programme. Although extremely hot a large crowd were present to hear George Fred Williams discuss the issues of the campaign, over which considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Lawrence Read, Esq., presided and introduced the speakers. Quite a number of leading Democrats occupied seats on the stage. The speakers were late in reaching town and in the meantime the National Band gave an excellent concert near the Hall. The meeting lasted until nearly 10:30 o'clock.

W It was expected that the Republicans of this city would have held a McKinley and Hobert ratification meeting before now, but they have not moved in that direction yet. We should hope that general apathy had not got the party here in its toils. It would seem as though a mass meeting might be a good thing to hold. But perhaps President True of the Ward and City Committee knows what he is about.

W The County Commissioners have been giving hearings this week preparatory to making up the Representative Districts in the county. Lowell, because they wanted Reading, tried to disrupt the 13th District, but a change is not probable. Woburn and Reading will continue to form the District.

W A typographical mistake made us say in "Highway Department" last week that the Mayor is member of the Highway Committee. The word "not" was left out and thus caused an untruth to be uttered. The Mayor is not a member of the Highway Committee.

W President George C. Conn of the Common Council will please accept our thanks for a bound copy of the "Manual of City Government, Woburn, Mass., 1896."

W Speaker Reed made a great speech at Alfred, Maine, last week. He pursued a middle course on the money question and handled it with an ability that has never been surpassed.

W The country is safe; Sam McColl, M. C., of Winchester is going to stump the West for the "gold bugs."

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

F. A. Lock—Pianos,
Binghams—Taxi List,
Dr. Channing—Medical,
T. C. Evans—Bank & School.

Contributions for the St. Charles Association are pouring in finely.

It was cool, nice and comfortable after Wednesday afternoon's shower.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathes', 425 Main street.

A landscape gardener is putting the Unitarian church lawn into fine shape.

Not a few voters in this city can't tell exactly where they are at politically these times.

Dr. Chalmers advertises for an experienced woman to do housework. Note his ad.

There was a fine rain last Saturday night and Sunday morning. It was greatly needed.

Miss Mary Moagher of this city, will spend the month of August at Annisquam, Cape Ann.

The 39th Regt. will hold their reunion on Sept. 2, at Nantasket.

Miss Lucia L. Barrett, daughter of the Water Registrar, is visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

About 25 Knights of Columbus went to Lowell yesterday and were guests of the Lowell Council.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

That steam road roller ought to be kept moving. It cost $3200 and should not be allowed to rust out.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Chief of Police McDermott is about to repair to Woods Hole by the seaside where he will spend his vacation.

The engagement has been announced of Miss L. Maud Weston of this city and H. E. Ruggles, Esq., of Franklin, Mass.

We're closing out our straw hats at half price, which means a heap of value for the money. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Cineo & Crovo make a fine daily exhibition of fruit at their store. They always buy the best, sell cheap, and are popular dealers.

The cars of the Woburn & Reading Street RR, now run down to and on Main street in this city, which is a great improvement.

"Is it hot enough for you?" has been an easy question to answer this week. But the absence of old humidity was one comfort about it.

As Frank A. Locke, the piano tuner, will take his vacation day or two at a time only. All orders will receive prompt attention.—5.

Charles R. Rosengquist, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Call or write.—5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes of East Boston visited relatives in this city yesterday. Mr. Holmes is engineer on the Harbor Police Boat of Boston.

It is apparent to the most casual observer that Mr. Junkin's flowers at the station will bear a good deal of bragging on. They are ahead of last year.

Miss Carrie L. Morrill of 5 Franklin street sent us in a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas and asparagus yesterday afternoon, for which she will please accept our thanks.

The JOURNAL's fashion editor telegraphs from Pooduk, where she is summering, that Balloon Sleeves have seen their best days and are in a rapid decline. This is indeed good news.

Woburn has already begun the no-license campaign. One should also be inaugurated against the Aldermen who favored price fighting—Winchester Star. We are after them with a sharp stick.

Mayor Allen and the Highway Committee held an amicable conference last Saturday evening and now it is announced that Main st. will be macadamized to the Winchester line this season.

The Salvation Army continue to do good work here for the Lord. Their evening meetings on Market Square are attended by quiet, well behaved, and evidently interested listeners in large numbers.

Miss Ada D. Carter of Bennett st. is passing her vacation at home with her grandmother, Mrs. M. Richardson, where she will remain until the beginning of the fall term of her school at Plainfield.

Mrs. B. A. Tripp is a guest at the Aldine, Old Orchard, and has for company Mrs. E. E. Thompson and other members of that family. Mr. Tripp will go down in a day or two and take a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore gave a party in honor of James F. McCormick who will soon enter a Maryland College, last Monday evening. It was a recherche affair and exceedingly pleasant.

Mr. Winton Hammond and family left here Wednesday with their own turnout for a leisurely carriage tour through New Hampshire. They started in high spirits because of a fair prospect of a fine trip.

Perfectly satisfactory. Isn't that the kind of laundry work you want? That's the kind we guarantee you and our guarantee means something. Ours is a laundry not a bleaching. Richard's Laundry, 429 Main street.

Mr. H. A. Murdock of this city and Miss E. G. Jones of Roxbury, were united in the bonds of matrimony at Winchester on Aug. 3. Peace and prosperity attended them in their journey through life, says the JOURNAL.

Notwithstanding the great heat which has prevailed this week men have persisted in discussing with spirit the 16 to 1 problem on our streets, but without any noticeable results that we have heard of. It is a pleasant, if not profitable, pastime.

They say that Mr. Alvan Wiswell of Richardson's Mills, or Mishawum, has accumulated a handsome fortune by the sale of Colorado mining stock. We have heard that he has been operating with George A. Crawford, D. D., ex-Chaplain in the U. S. Navy, whose headquarters are in the U. S.

"Merchants Day" was kept in due and proper form in this city Wednesday. The Grocers' Clerks Association went to Nantasket accompanied by many outsiders, and all kinds of trade took a rest. Stores were closed and a Sabbath Day air pervaded the city.

The most grateful shower that has visited this region for a long time was that of last Wednesday afternoon. The day had been intensely hot and uncomfortable, but just before 3 o'clock dark clouds gathered in the west, the excess being composed mainly of a younger class of pupils owing to the removal of the egg restriction.

The present term of the Woburn Industrial School, Mr. Willis S. Carter, Principal, will close next Friday, Aug. 14, with a public exhibition to begin at 9 o'clock in the morning. The public are cordially invited to attend and examine the work of the School. The attendance this summer has been much larger than ever before, the excess being composed mainly of a younger class of pupils owing to the removal of the egg restriction.

We should almost feel guilty if we kept silent about the extraordinary value we are offering in hose for men. We have all grades and the prices are from 25 to 50 percent less than you can get the same goods elsewhere, simply because we buy in large quantities for our wholesale trade. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Not a few voters in this city can't tell exactly where they are at politically these times.

Dr. Chalmers advertises for an experienced woman to do housework. Note his ad.

There was a fine rain last Saturday night and Sunday morning. It was greatly needed.

Miss Mary Moagher of this city, will spend the month of August at Annisquam, Cape Ann.

Edwin G. Clarke, son of the ex-organist, has been appointed bandmaster of the 21st U. S. Regiment stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he has opened a school for military bands, with the co-operation of the U. S. officers. Mr. Clarke is a native of Woburn.

Walter C. Knapp of Church ave., foreman of the Woburn Gas Works, wife and the Water Registrar, are visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

That steam road roller ought to be kept moving. It cost $3200 and should not be allowed to rust out.

Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. Church, and Mrs. Osgood went to Lowell yesterday and were guests of the Lowell Council.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Chief of Police McDermott is about to repair to Woods Hole by the seaside where he will spend his vacation.

The engagement has been announced of Miss L. Maud Weston of this city and H. E. Ruggles, Esq., of Franklin, Mass.

We're closing out our straw hats at half price, which means a heap of value for the money. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Cineo & Crovo make a fine daily exhibition of fruit at their store. They always buy the best, sell cheap, and are popular dealers.

The cars of the Woburn & Reading Street RR, now run down to and on Main street in this city, which is a great improvement.

"Is it hot enough for you?" has been an easy question to answer this week. But the absence of old humidity was one comfort about it.

Edwin G. Clarke, son of the ex-organist, has been appointed bandmaster of the 21st U. S. Regiment stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he has opened a school for military bands, with the co-operation of the U. S. officers. Mr. Clarke is a native of Woburn.

Walter C. Knapp of Church ave., foreman of the Woburn Gas Works, wife and the Water Registrar, are visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

That steam road roller ought to be kept moving. It cost $3200 and should not be allowed to rust out.

Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. Church, and Mrs. Osgood went to Lowell yesterday and were guests of the Lowell Council.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Chief of Police McDermott is about to repair to Woods Hole by the seaside where he will spend his vacation.

The engagement has been announced of Miss L. Maud Weston of this city and H. E. Ruggles, Esq., of Franklin, Mass.

We're closing out our straw hats at half price, which means a heap of value for the money. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Cineo & Crovo make a fine daily exhibition of fruit at their store. They always buy the best, sell cheap, and are popular dealers.

The cars of the Woburn & Reading Street RR, now run down to and on Main street in this city, which is a great improvement.

"Is it hot enough for you?" has been an easy question to answer this week. But the absence of old humidity was one comfort about it.

Edwin G. Clarke, son of the ex-organist, has been appointed bandmaster of the 21st U. S. Regiment stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he has opened a school for military bands, with the co-operation of the U. S. officers. Mr. Clarke is a native of Woburn.

Walter C. Knapp of Church ave., foreman of the Woburn Gas Works, wife and the Water Registrar, are visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

That steam road roller ought to be kept moving. It cost $3200 and should not be allowed to rust out.

Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. Church, and Mrs. Osgood went to Lowell yesterday and were guests of the Lowell Council.

Open air service in charge of Mr. T. F. Kelley of Boston, on the Common at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Chief of Police McDermott is about to repair to Woods Hole by the seaside where he will spend his vacation.

The engagement has been announced of Miss L. Maud Weston of this city and H. E. Ruggles, Esq., of Franklin, Mass.

We're closing out our straw hats at half price, which means a heap of value for the money. Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Cineo & Crovo make a fine daily exhibition of fruit at their store. They always buy the best, sell cheap, and are popular dealers.

The cars of the Woburn & Reading Street RR, now run down to and on Main street in this city, which is a great improvement.

"Is it hot enough for you?" has been an easy question to answer this week. But the absence of old humidity was one comfort about it.

Edwin G. Clarke, son of the ex-organist, has been appointed bandmaster of the 21st U. S. Regiment stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he has opened a school for military bands, with the co-operation of the U. S. officers. Mr. Clarke is a native of Woburn.

16 to 1...

Is great odds, but as nothing compared to the closing-out Bargains we are offering. This is the Buyer's Golden Opportunity. We stocked our stores with staples and novelties for the Summer Season. Our trade has been gratifying, and we are confident that we have never come nearer anticipating public demand. But in every large stock there remains, towards the end of the season, odd lots which must be turned into cash. We need the room they occupy for Fall Goods, and so have made a point to provide for cheapness, values considered. These remarks apply especially to Parasols, Shirt Waists and Light Dress Goods. We need not enumerate. All standard goods, excellent quality, good values. Take a moment and examine them. It's more than 16 to 1 you will buy.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

RE-OPENS SEPT. 1st, 1896.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough and complete, and is fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.THE FACULTY embraces a list of more than twenty teachers and assistants, all with special reference to each department.THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of energy and enthusiasm.THE DISCIPLINE
Is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any similar institution in the world.THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership is as being well known. Its INSTITUTION is generally acknowledged.SPECIAL COURSE,
Shorthand, Type Writing, Composition and Correspondence.SITUATIONS in business houses among pupils among the varied inducements to attend this school.THE SCHOOL BUILDING, 68 Washington Street, Boston, is centrally located, and is open daily from 9 till 2 o'clock. Prospectus Post Free.

H. E. HIBBARD, Principal.

Another girl were about the only servants in this town in the year above mentioned, and I have since seen the manuscript of the classmate of the man as to excite no further notice. The fathers of that generation were accustomed to industry, economy, and plain manners. The children of the period of the 'fifties with greater wealth and better opportunity cultivated themselves more freely, than their fathers, and were more inclined to be supported by education and lyceum lectures, and a more liberal patronage of the fine arts.
Men's leisure allowed this. The pensions were general, money was accumulated and a general degree of prosperity was enjoyed. It was, as it were, called it a "golden age." The health of Woburn, when contented, if such did exist, and manufacturing prosperity in the favored village reigned supreme.

Journalists, The Birthplace of the Order of Cincinnati, The Story of Cleveland, Jefferson and Hamilton in Our Education, all handsomely illustrated and deeply interesting. Published by Warren F. Kellogg, 5 Park Square, Boston.

Since 1858 there have been many cases of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Calo-chela and Diarrhoea Balsam was used with perfect success. Dysentery, when epidemic, is almost as severe and dangerous as Asiatic cholera. Therefore the best remedy is to be found in this medicine, however, has cured the most malignant cases, both of children and adults, and under the most trying conditions, which proves it to be the best medicine in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by A. W. Whitehead, druggist.

Sent It to His Mother in Germany.

Mr. Jacob Ehrenson, who is at Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I have just sent some medicine back to my mother in the old country, that I know from personal use to be the best remedy for dysentery. The results have been most gratifying, and I am sure it will be of great service to others."

Mr. K. — "The pensions were general, money was accumulated and a general degree of prosperity was enjoyed. It was, as it were, called it a "golden age." The health of Woburn, when contented, if such did exist, and manufacturing prosperity in the favored village reigned supreme.

The Penny Magazine.

This is a 50-page, 16mo, monthly published in New York by the Penny Company, for a copy of which we are under obligations to the publishers.

The July number, the one before us, gives a good table of contents, and several of its papers are finely illustrated. Thomas C. Quinn, a Woburn boy, formerly Editor of the N. Y. Press, one of the best all round newspaper men in the country, is interested in the publication of The Penny Magazine, its Editor, we believe, by which taken it ought to be popular with,
and secure many subscribers among,
Woburn people.

A good friend in a searching hot day is one of our cool Vestal Neglige Shirts.
Have you ever tried one? If not, you don't know what you're missing. Richardson's,

431 Main Street.

— WINCHESTER.

Scores of our people are away on vacation.

There is mourning over the loss of the big elms at the Centre.

Fishermen find good catches of bass and other fish at the reservoir.

The Selectmen denied the petition for widening Thompson street.

The N. W. S. R. will cross the B.
& M. tracks at right angles from Church street.

Bucklin's Arctic Salvage.

The Best Salvage in the world for Cuts
Braces, Sashes, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever
Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Irritations, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.
For sale by Gordon Parker.

HOOD'S PILLS cure Liver Bla-blisters, Indigestion, Headache,
A pleasant laxative. All Druggists.

AN OPEN LETTER.

WHAT MRS. I. E. BRESSIE SAYS TO AMERICAN WOMEN.

Speaks of Her Melancholy Condition
After the Birth of Her Child.

I feel as if I was doing an injustice to my suffering sisters if I did not tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me, and other friends to their funeral.
The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made a considerable impression on the community. He was well-known, popular, and generous.
A special train from Boston brought the body home, and the friends and other friends to his funeral. The members of the Woburn Mechanic
Phalanx, of whom he was a staff officer,
had given him a testimonial, and adopted
resolutions on his death.

The death of a young man, Edward
E. Conner, aged 18, by sudden death, at 1 A.M., made

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLVI.

WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1896.

Entered at the Woburn, Mass., Post Office, as second-class matter.

NO. 36.

Brooks's Malaria Remedy

Is a sure cure for all forms of Malaria.

25¢. Five packages for $1.00.

F. P. BROOKS, Pharmacist,

361 Main Street, Woburn.

Boston & Maine Railroad.

Southern Division.

JUNE 28, 1896.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 5.50, 6.14, 5.51, 7.18, 7.53, 8.14, 8.22, 9.06, 10.31, 11.35, A. M., 12.32, 1.10, 2.10, P. M., 3.11, 4.14, 4.50, 5.14, 5.50, 6.14, 6.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 11.20, P. M., 3.05, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

SUNDAY-TO Boston, 6.23, 11.01, A.M., 12.05, 2.00, 3.25, 4.02, 5.45, 6.35, 9.05, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

3.25, 4.02, 5.45, 6.35, 9.05, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

FOR BOSTON, 6.30, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

FOR LAWRENCE, 6.11, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

FOR GREENSBORO, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

FOR NEWCASTLE, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

FOR MONTREAL, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., WINCHESTER and WOBURN, 5.50, 6.14, 6.50, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.15, 11.20, P. M.

Leave Woburn for Winchester, Symmes' Corner, 6.25, 11.11, A. M., 4.42, 4.42, 4.42, 4.50, P. M., RETURN, 6.00, 6.55, 7.35, 8.00, 9.15, 10.45, 11.35, 12.30, 1.15, 2.10, 3.10, 4.15, 4.40, 5.10, 5.35, 6.00, 6.35, 7.00

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, AUG. 14, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.
For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

CHANGING FRONT.

Before the St. Louis convention the Republicans had the Democrats whipped. So demoralized were they that it was doubtful if they did more at their convention than to vote themselves licked. That was on the tariff issue. But some Democrats are smart and some do not know it when they are defeated. These befooled themselves of the financial question, on which they knew the Republicans were divided. They set the trap and the Republicans walked into it.

But the Republicans are getting their eyes open and seeing their mistake. They have now gone to work to rectify it, and if they succeed the Democrats will be less jubilant during the rest of the campaign.

Washington dispatches of Aug. 11, say:

"The tariff issue is to be pressed by the Republican managers, who seem to be unwilling, if not afraid, to conduct their campaign on the silver question alone, and feel that the way to insure success is to divert the minds of the voters to the benefits of a protective tariff, and especially to working-quality.

"Secretary Mercer of the Republican Congressional Committee, who represents the Omaha district in the House, and therefore has particular charge of the Congressional campaign in Nebraska and surrounding States, announced today that the tariff issue would be forced upon the voters in the West from now on.

"Another Republican leader, who would not allow his name to be used, said today that Mr. Hanna had said substantially the same thing at one of the conferences in Philadelphia last week. This gentleman was astonished to hear Mr. Hanna say that in order to succeed it would be absolutely necessary to bring the tariff question to the front, and that he proposed, as soon as he returned to Cleveland, to send out orders to all Republican editors, speakers and workers to press it upon the attention of the people. Mr. Hanna is quoted by him as saying that he believed the farmers and the working-men could be won to the support of the Republican ticket, even against the seductive free coinage issue, by an effective presentation of the benefits of protection, especially in the way of providing work for the unemployed and better wages for all, with practical illustrations and object lessons."

"All of this was surprising to the gentleman who related it, who had gone to the conference supposing that Hanna had come to realize that the tariff question was secondary in this campaign, and also that he would find Hanna proposing to raise money enough to buy the election, if necessary, of the doubtful States.

"When he heard today Secretary Mercer's announcement that the tariff was now to be brought to the front in the western States, he saw that Manager Hanna had lost no time in issuing his new orders."

It is one of the unaccountable things in politics that Jeremiah O'Sullivan of Lawrence, the original silver Democrat of this State, should cherish a desire to run for Congress in this District. He and every other Democrat must know for a dear certainty that Congressman Knox will carry the District by a larger plurality than two years ago, and why any Democrat should crave the job of running against him is beyond our comprehension. And yet we are told that Mr. O'Sullivan, or "Jerry-john," as the Boston Journal calls him, is actually in the Congressional race. If Congressman Knox lives to see Nov. 3 he will be re-elected. This is not questioned by anyone who has a correct understanding of the political situation in this District; and still, O'Sullivan, unless the Lowell Democrats cheat him out of the nomination, will presume to contest the election with Mr. Knox, the present able and satisfactory member.

Replying to the question of some religious contemporary "Why are not the clergy dead?" the Congregationalist of Aug. 6, said: "Look at the City of Woburn, without distinction of creeds, paying tribute to Dr. March, who at the very receiptes, as he has for scores of years, the love and veneration of men, women and little children." It is safe to say that no man, minister or layman, was ever more universally or warmly loved than Rev. Dr. March.

The Boston Sunday papers contained a long list of names of members of a new Business Men's Organization formed to promote the election of the Republican National ticket and the maintenance of the single gold standard, among which appeared those of Charles A. Burdett and Albert F. Converse. The organization will work actively and vigorously for McKinley, especially on educational lines, and is expected to do good service.

The gold standard wing of the Democratic party will probably hold a convention and nominate a presidential candidate early in September. A meeting was held by a large number of the leaders at Indianapolis last week, when a convention was virtually determined on. The movement will help Bryan and the silver cause.

Our own Mr. Burns, the Senator, of Ayer Junction, is preparing to run for Congress. Personal ambition is responsible for many strange things on this mundane sphere.

Woburn has already begun the no-license campaign. No license campaign in Woburn cannot begin too early.—Wakeland Citizen and Banner.

Right you are, Editor Foster.

The present representation of Middlesex county in the House of Representatives is 37; hereafter, for the next 10 years, it will be 47.

There never was the least danger of a change in this Representative District. The fuss made over it was entirely gratuitous.

LOCAL NEWS.

E. P. Dodge has sold out his business and gone away.

A horse was killed by a B. & M. train at North Woburn last Saturday.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Show for $1 at Leathé's, 425 Main street.

Mayor Allen attended the funeral of Officer Holland at Winchester last Monday.

Not much is doing towards making house connections with the sewer mains.

Miss Flora Nichols, the accomplished schoolma'am, has returned from her vacation.

Assurances are not wanting that electric cars will soon run on the No. Woburn road.

Miss Winnie S. Meagher started yesterday to enjoy a few weeks outing at Beachmont.

A half a day off Wednesday afternoon constituted the JOURNAL's summer vacation this year.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The Woburn Brass Band will give their fortnightly concert on the Common next Wednesday evening.

Richardson Bros., were several times obliged to suspend work in their laundry department this week owing to the excessive heat.

Thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to burglarize the residence of Mr. A. H. Holland on Middlesex st., last Tuesday night.

Collector Maguire says the taxes for 1895 have been paid up fairly well—better than was reasonably to have been expected.

Chief of Police Charles McDermott attended the funeral of Officer Holland last Monday. The two gentlemen were personal friends.

Blasting for the Towanda Cycle Club bowling alley goes bravely on. Except last Monday when the heat drove the men from their work.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st., Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Call or write.—tf.

During the intensely hot spell work was suspended on several outdoor jobs, and no wonder, for it was not only disagreeable but dangerous to work in the sun.

Reports on Wednesday bad it that two of Capt. J. M. Ellis's horses, and one of Cummings, Cane & Co.'s, had succumbed to the heat, but they were not true.

Mr. John Seaver, for many years a valued employee of Paine's great furniture establishment in Boston, will build a residence on Eaton ave. in the near future.

The present hard times make business good at Mrs. Jennings' Employment Office, 417 1/2 Main st., the only reliable establishment of the kind in this part of Middlesex county.

License Commissioner Mr. John J. Munroe and Mrs. Munroe has been at the Atlantic House, Nantasket Beach, two weeks. The date of their intended home coming has not yet been announced.

A regular customer while sipping nectar there yesterday morning felt sure that nobody's soda water syrup equal those of Gordon Parker, the druggist. He appeared to know what he was talking about.

5th Regiment War Veteran and an old resident, Joseph Adison Parker, died at his home in Cummingsville last Monday after a long sickness. He was very much respected by all who knew him.

This is the day for a public exhibition of this season's work of the Woburn Industrial School of which Mr. Willis Carter is Principal. The affair opened at 9 o'clock this morning, and admission was free to all.

Mr. Charles M. Strout returned from Northport, Me., yesterday morning. Mrs. Strout and a son are still there. Mr. Strout said it was quite warm during the day time down there, but the nights were cool and fine.

Mr. O. Wheeler, Manager of the Worcester Land Improvement Co., accompanied by his wife, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Elmore A. Pierce. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler formerly lived in Woburn.

A car on the W. & R. road got stalled at corner of Main st. and Montvale ave. Tuesday evening, and drew a crowd. The trolley pole hit and knocked down the trolley wire which caused a suspension of business for some little time.

The sun yesterday was very hot, very scorching, but an east wind, although of no great force or frigidity, helped to make existence endurable. Then, the assurance of a change did much towards making people think they felt more comfortable, at any rate.

Last Tuesday morning an electric car on the Woburn & Reading road came on the Woburn & Reading road and a team driven by a man named Conway were in collision on Montvale ave., near Greenwood ave., in which the horse was fatally injured, the wagon smashed, and Conway considerably hurt.

The papers reported that a Woburn citizen contributed $100 to the great money outpouring of the Faith campmeeting at Old Orchard last week. The amount contributed under the tremendous stress of excitement, in money, jewels, houses, lands, etc., was $102,000.

Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. Church, went to Nantucket Wednesday for a fortnight'souting. On Aug. 24 he has charge of the Question Box at the campmeeting of the Epworth League at Sterling, which opens there that day, and will attend to the duties of the same. During the two weeks following the campmeeting Rev. Mr. Osgood and Mrs. Osgood will spend in rest and recreation at places by seashore, or in the mountains not now determined on.

Judge Convers's new book, Woburn Legends, will contain a list of all the postmasters Woburn has had together with the several locations of the offices, from 1790 to the present. Besides being of interest this feature of the new volume will be valuable for reference.

Judge Convers's new book, Woburn Legends, will contain a list of all the postmasters Woburn has had together with the several locations of the offices, from 1790 to the present. Besides being of interest this feature of the new volume will be valuable for reference.

Mr. Fred Gowling, the orchestra leader, makes regular trips to the medicinal spring at North Woburn to fill his jars with the water for home consumption. He deposits the water in an icechest and uses it as wanted. He says it is a fine drink, and possesses medical virtues.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor of Pleasant st. left here yesterday noon for Wells Beach, Maine. Mr. T. carried his picture taking apparatus with him of course. He expected to go into the surf last evening and remain until the weather moderated if he had to wait a month.

In the death of their wife and mother, Mrs. Bridget E. Menard, the husband, Mr. William Menard, and daughters, Arabella and Gertrude, have assurance of the deepest sympathy of all their friends and acquaintances. Her death, unexpected, although she has been ill several months, is a severe blow to the family.

As far as possible the JOURNAL's ice-cart horses was stricken down by the heat at noon Wednesday near the Pleasant street crossing and had to be killed.

The public will be glad that the clock on the Congregational church has been put in working order. Generally it is looked up to for the correct time, but of late no dependence can be placed on it.

At last accounts Rev. Doremus Scudder, pastor of the Orthodox church, was at Camp Bemis, Lake Moosehead-macuntee, Maine, where he was having a royal good time. On August 10 he had taken out 4 trout, enough for a foundation for any number of whipping great fish stories, which may or be used—adapting all depending on the weather.

Rev. Doremus Scudder, Editor of The Corner Stone, regrets exceedingly that the printer of the paper for August should put Daniel, instead of Samuel, March under the portrait of Rev. Dr. March's father on page 63. It was clearly a typographical error, an unfortunate one, and very annoying to the Editor. The August number is a Rev. Dr. March memorial one, and exceedingly interesting. It contains six portraits of the Doctor made at different periods of his life, and much of the letterpress is devoted to a history of him. There are other illustrations. It will be preserved as a souvenir and the demand for it will no doubt be large. Editor Scudder deserves credit for giving the church and public so many good things, in pen and pencil, about the well beloved Dr. March.

A report has been going the rounds of the newspapers that a cementing machine is being put into the factory of the Russell Counter Company which will revolutionize things there. It is claimed that it will do the work of 20 girls, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work. Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Mr. Frank E. Cotton, bookkeeper there, tells our reporter that all the foundation there is for the story is that a certain man, the inventor perhaps, has been experimenting at the factory with some sort of a cementing machine, and that that many will be discharged when the machine gets fairly to work.

Halt price on balance of straw hats at Richardson's, 431 Main street.

"Steeple Jack" has been doing work on the spire of St. Charles church during the week.

The whereabouts of John J. Mulvey are unknown. His leavetaking was quiet and unexpected.

The boys are to be prohibited from going in swimming in 16 to 1...

Is great odds, but as nothing compared to the Closing-out Bargains we are offering. This is the Buyer's Golden Opportunity. We stocked our stores with staples and novelties for the Summer Season. Our trade has been gratifying, and we are confident that we have never come nearer anticipating public demand. But in every large stock there remains, towards the end of the season, odd lots which must be turned into cash. We will therefore they apply for us, and we will give you a reasonable price paid all such as prices now before equalled for cheapness, value considered. These remarks apply especially to Parasols, Shirt Waists and Light Dress Goods. We need not enumerate. All standard goods, excellent quality, good values. Take a moment and examine them. It's more than 16 to 1 you will buy.

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond
In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech, but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

Two Stores: { 400 Main Street, Woburn.
South Berwick, Me.
Telephone, 4-3.

G. R. GAGE & CO.

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street. - - - - - Woburn.

JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S
Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER
AND REPAIRER.—24 years practical experience, both at home and abroad. David Paine Room 179,
Tremont St., Woburn Office, 179 Pleasant St.,
Store, 375 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - - WOBURN.

We are constantly placing on our counters new lines of SMALL WARES, Ladies', Misses' and Children's HOSE, Stocking Supporters, etc. Our regular Line of Ladies', Misses', and Children's, SUITS, WRAPPERS, etc., are always new and styles changed every week.

Please call and see us even if you do not want to purchase.

Plumbing Plumbing

I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal attention to all my work. I guarantee the best of work at lowest possible prices.

Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT.

Main St.

392 Woburn in 1856-57.

A CHRONICLE.

A Kansas Aid Meeting, on July 29, 1856, to hear an address by J. P. Lowry, Esq., was held, and a committee was appointed to secure subscriptions in aid of the state families there was appointed. The Salem Cadets, 70 muskets, encamped on the grounds of the Home Pond, the last of this month. The bright uniforms and handsome equipments presented a gay appearance.

The Editor, who was a gauntlet with Boston, and, in their uniforms, new uniforms, discoursed fine music and the scene and the attractiveness of the spot made a popular display for our citizens. The camp was a day's march.

The Public Library opening is announced for August 13, 1856. Hours of opening to be from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. from six to nine o'clock, P.M. The books did not begin till Aug. 13, 1856, with what was in the Town Hall, up stairs. The loan was remarked on this occurrence.

This is an event of importance to the present and future generations that had no parallel. A library of useful books, under proper management, is not a thing for the day, but a blessing for the ages. The skillful and judiciously mentioned, the instructive power of such an institution, the character of its books, and the manner of their using is commented on.

The catalogues were printed in the issue of the paper for Aug. 9, 1856.

On Franklin street, on Franklin street, was struck by lightning on Aug. 8, shattering a chimney and doing other damage to the house. A fire in a shop owned by John Pollard, Patent Leather factory, occurred on the morning of Aug. 14, the building being wholly consumed. The cause was a short circuit. Two men, Mr. Pollard and Mr. C. W. Hastings, were hurt by a man knocking him down and falling on him. He escaped with one or two severe bruises.

The Rev. Daniel March, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was announced to preach in the First Congregational church, on the 20th inst., in Woburn. The sermon was delivered on the afternoon of January 20, 1856. Crime was not absent. I have spotted writes that the horse railroad could be extended from Porter's Station to West Cambridge, and Arlington, and along the side of Medford Pond to the level of the old canal, at but little expense. To extend it to Cambridge, he said, would be a service to the town.

David Wilson, Esq., now of Woburn Woods, and in the city, almost to the centre, opposite the Revere House, was a young manufacturing community known to the world as the town of Woburn had by that time become a sturdy and growing town. With its growth some evils had also grown with it. The strength. There were also grown too. The discrediting succeeded a young married woman, the presence of a small child, on the afternoon of January 20, 1856, was one. Crime was not absent. I have spotted writes that the horse railroad could be extended from Porter's Station to West Cambridge, and Arlington, and along the side of Medford Pond to the level of the old canal, at but little expense. To extend it to Cambridge, he said, would be a service to the town.

The Rev. Daniel March, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was announced to preach in the First Congregational church, on the 20th inst., in Woburn. The sermon was delivered on the afternoon of January 20, 1856. Crime was not absent. I have spotted writes that the horse railroad could be extended from Porter's Station to West Cambridge, and Arlington, and along the side of Medford Pond to the level of the old canal, at but little expense. To extend it to Cambridge, he said, would be a service to the town.

The Rev. Daniel March, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was announced to preach in the First Congregational church, on the 20th inst., in Woburn. The sermon was delivered on the afternoon of January 20, 1856. Crime was not absent. I have spotted writes that the horse railroad could be extended from Porter's Station to West Cambridge, and Arlington, and along the side of Medford Pond to the level of the old canal, at but little expense. To extend it to Cambridge, he said, would be a service to the town.

The Rev. Daniel March, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was announced to preach in the First Congregational church, on the 20th inst., in Woburn. The sermon was delivered on the afternoon of January 20, 1856. Crime was not absent. I have

RE-OPENS SEPT. 1st, 1896.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thoroughly enlarged and improved. Pupils are admitted for the fall and winter of every year.THE FACULTY embraces a list of more than twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency and character.THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of energy and zest.THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any similar institution in the world.THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as being the Standard Institution of its kind is well known and acknowledged.SPECIAL COURSE Shorthand, Type Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.STUDENTS in business, law, medicine, sports among the various incidents to attend this school.THE SCHOOL BUILDING, 603 Washington Street, Boston, is centrally located, facing the Common, and is open daily from 9 to 12 o'clock. Prospectus Postpaid.

H. E. HIBBARD, Principal.

matter till about 1830, when James F. Baldwin planted ten of the trees at his own expense, an act for which his memory will long be held in grateful remembrance. About 1850, the trees set out a number more. In 1857 there were on the Common twelve large trees, a little over twenty-five years old, and in 1867, twenty years old, and in 1887, twenty-five years old, and in 1897, thirty years old. The spot would be covered by a green oasis, embosomed among many cent stores and palatial homes.

The sixth volume of the Woburn Journal, with the number for Oct. 3, 1857, and with the date this chronicle is ended also.

The Funeral.

The funeral of the late Jacob Brown was held at his residence on Canal street, Friday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends and neighbors.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce, deputized Benjamin Hinckley, 2d VP.; A. S. Brown, Luke W. Fowle, Edwin Robinson, Frank L. Ripley, to represent it at the funeral. The First National Bank of Woburn, and the Savings Bank, were also officially represented.

The Chamber of Commerce adopted the following resolution:

As a member of the firm of A. S. & J. Brown, wholesale fruit dealers, he was for nearly a century identified with the development of the foreign trade of this country, retiring from active business at the commencement of the present year on account of failing health. Mr. Brown had been a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and was a member of the First National Bank of Woburn.

In his long and successful career, he maintained an enviable reputation for honor and business integrity. Kindly and unassuming in manner, uniformly courteous in his dealings with his business associates, he adhered to his principles with the highest standard of fidelity. His death removed the confidence and respect of the entire business community. In his death this organization loses a valued member.

The Secretary is hereby instructed to place his memorial upon the records of this body and send a copy to the family of the deceased.

The following voiced the action of the First National Bank of Woburn:

Jacob Brown, who became a Director of the Bank, January 11, 1876, died Aug. 5, 1896.

By this minute, his associate Directors extend on their record and make known to his family and to the public their appreciation of his worth and their sorrow for his loss.

We know him as one who held strong convictions and placed much trust in matters which demanded his attention. He was discreet in his utterances, courteous and genial in his manners, and his death deprives this bank of a useful adviser and director of a helpful and pleasant associate.

The interment was at Woodbrook cemetery in this city.

A Good Rock.

CHESTER, PENNSYLVANIA, for THE THORNTON, JR.
VALUES. By William Horatio Clarke, author of "The Organists Retrospect," etc., etc., p. 41.
[Read, Mass.]: E. T. Clarke, 1896, price 50 cents.

A carefully written history of this little volume, written by a gentleman of unusual culture, himself an invalid, cannot but impress a reader.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 20, 1856, occurred the loss of little Ellen Pippy, the daughter of the Editor, who strayed into a doorway, with a candle in her hand, for a night, a virtually lost child. Bells were rung and three hundred citizens gathered and began a search for the missing child, who was found sleeping quietly in one of the cushioned pews in the body of the church.

The crowd gave cheer upon finding out a merry peal, telling to the sad hearts of the parents that the lost had been found.

This night of agony was the first of many.

There were obtained and used for the recovery of the child, a bottle of opium, a dose of camphor, a dose of laudanum, and a dose of belladonna.

On Friday morning, Nov. 21, 1856, the child was found to be dead.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

We commend the perusal of this book to all who hold strong convictions and place much trust in matters which demand his attention.

A HARD-WORKING WOMAN

A few moments later all doubt vanished, for a snapping of twigs and crashing of leaves told that a large body of men was advancing through the forest.

At the report of the lieutenant's revolver the camp awoke, and for a few moments, while the bugles rang out the alarm, there was a scene of wild confusion. Men still half asleep stumbled over one another toward the stockade. Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

The colonel, however, was advancing through the smoke. Dropping his smoking revolver he sprang among his men shouting, "Cease fire!" But the hammering of the sniders drowned his voice and the acrid smoke choked him. He reared and watched the fight. It did not last long. The swarm of savages had not nerve to rush upon the unbroken line of flashing bayonets—they turned and fled from the impregnable breast-work. Then came the turn of the defences, and, with horse-shots the west Indians leaped over the brushwood and with dripping bayonets drove them through the forest.

The colonel sat down with his back to a tree, a horrible fear in his heart, and longed for the dawn as he had never longed for anything in his life.

"Meet them with the bayonet!" The colonel hardly knew his own voice, it sounded so hoarse and cracked. Then he gasped: "Good heavens! What was that?" For above the rattle of the rifle the words "Courage, mes braves!" rang sharp and clear through the smoke.

Dropping his smoking revolver he sprang among his men shouting, "Cease fire!" But the hammering of the sniders drowned his voice and the acrid smoke choked him. He reared and watched the fight. It did not last long. The swarm of savages had not nerve to rush upon the unbroken line of flashing bayonets—they turned and fled from the impregnable breast-work. Then came the turn of the defences, and, with horse-shots the west Indians leaped over the brushwood and with dripping bayonets drove them through the forest.

In just time, for an outburst of howls and yell-sounds on the night air. A crackling blaze of rifle fire ran round the bush and while the bullets sang overhead or rippled through the leafy screen a swarm of dark figures dashed across the open space toward the camp.

"Fire volleys by half companies!" shouted the colonel as his heart bounded and the blood surged through his body.

"No! Haussas—fire!" the voice of the constabulary captain sounded clear and distinct, and a blaze of light burst from one side of the stockade, while the crashing report of a volley rang out through the darkness. Before the sound had died away a west Indian lieutenant, farther off in the gloom, re-called the command, "A comp'y—fire!" And a sheet of flame blew along the two ends of the square.

Before the almost simultaneous discharge the front of the attacking force melted away. Men lay scattered in pools and knelt beneath the bush, but the Muscallyans, with visions of black-eyed hours and the tree of Sedat before his eyes, had little fear of death; so with loud yells they fell spread out and at full speed made for the breastwork.

"Independent firing—command!" roared the colonel, and after captain and lieutenants repeated the order, the Haussas, who used to frontier warfare from childhood, think themselves marksmen, took snap shots at the flitting figures, but did little harm beyond clipping clusters of leaves from overhanging cottonwoods. Meantime the West Indians, who are accustomed to drill in battalions, and fancy they are quite equal to white infantry, after a desultory shot or two retreated in disorder, except at the defense only to be met by a glistening wall of steel, and for a space both sides were locked in a deadly struggle, the officers working their revolvers until the barrels had already solved their riddle, then gasped, "Holas, mes amis!" and swooned away.

A few drops of spirit were poured down his throat, and then after awhile the eyes reopened and he murmured the story low, deceived by a native chief, Koronah, he supposed the British force to be Sofas and did not find out the mistake until too late.

"There—there, that will do. Don't fret yourself. It's a ghastly thing, but it can't be helped. Take another drink and go to sleep," said the surgeon. The Frenchman swallowed a mouthful of the liquor, then his speech wandered and his eyes closed. "I have no more to say, English officer." After a moment, "But we must do what we can for him. Take him to the tent, sergeant."

It would have been an instructive lesson to the colored editors of the Sierra Leone journals, who are fond of declaiming against the "dissolute soldiers," to have seen an Englishman seated by the side of his late foe mortifying the black parched lips from time to time and wiping the hot perspiration from the hot forehead. The commanding officer came round occasionally, and the last time the younger man raised his head for silence, "Hush! He's coming!" he said. The white lids opened and a faint smile shone in the tired eye. The wounded officer raised his head. He stretched out a cold hand, and then like ice when the Englishman took it.

"Adieu, mes amis—je vous souhaite bon succès à votre révolution," he gasped, then broke off and choked. A stream of dark blood stained his white uniform and he sank dead like children before him.

"Quick!" cried Graves, leaning far down from his saddle, extending his strong hand and locking it around the enveloped hand of young Adams. "Swing up behind!"

Adams mounted behind the sergeant. The Indians did not recover from their surprise and shock of the young giant's charge until the west Indians were of two whites on a single horse riding away in the moonlight at a speed that mocked pursuit, riding away to be joined by the Sofas.

"Hooray for the first of December!" cried the colonel. In that year a small British force, comprising detachments of black Mohammedian Haussas of the frontier constabulary and negroes of the west Indian regiment from Sierra Leone, stumbled through the dense forests of the Kongou country. The day had been intensely hot, for this is the dry season in west Africa. The tired troops dragged themselves painfully along, with a company of Kroobey bearers ahead, slashing a pathway for them through almost impenetrable thickets. At sunset they reached a small, clear space, surrounding a deserted village, and there, at the word of command, the worn-out men were glad to pile their arms and prepare to camp.

A rough breastwork of brushwood was soon arranged in a hollow square, and throwing themselves down on the moist earth, amid the crimson shoots of trailing plants and flowers of many hues, the soldiers spread their simple meal, the tall Haussas in their crimson fez and dark rifle uniform separating themselves from the men of the west Indian regiment, for the latter profess a debased form of Christianity mixed with black practices, and the true Musulman will not, if he can help it, eat with the infidel.

The young west Indian lieutenant on guard leaned against the great buttress shaped root of a cottonwood, and as he mopped the perspiration from his brow and fought the bloodthirsty mosquitoes with both hands, said wicket things about the fact that he had come into this dreary country." He was Irishman, and when he heard these things in general, as frontier officers occasionally do, the powerful eloquence of the Celtic tongue relieved his feelings best. From time to time he looked out into the darkness, but there was little to be seen; the shadow of the trees closed round the camp like a wall, and no sound other than the usual night voices of the African forest broke the stillness. From a hidden creek came the floundering and splashing of an alligator; at times the branches of the cottonwoods rattled as a monkey swung himself from bough to bough, or the rustling of grasses marked the passage of a huge snake.

The white man at last found the smell of the forest, which at times will cause a man to vomit up his insides, though no one knows why. Creeping noiseless, though his hands trembled as he settled the chin straps of his pith helmet, "Pah! how this night watching gets on one's nerves," he said; "it shows what the climate will bring a man to. Even the 'drip, drip' of the water there is enough to drive me mad—Hello!" He sprang back, with a hand on his revolver butt, as a dark figure rose up out of the bushes beside him.

"Sergeant Amun Sah," said a tall Haussa, saluting; "think there be Sofa man in the bush; monkey frightened live for go away, leopard live for go away too."

The lieutenant listened, while the veins tightened across his forehead, and something seemed to click beneath his right eye, and sure enough a rustling amid the trees announced the passage of a troop of monkeys, while the long howl of a leopard drifted down the night breeze.

"A company fire—ready No. 2!" shouted the lieutenants, but the men were now past all control. They had comrades' blood to avenge and shouted and yelled as they thrust cartridge after cartridge into the chamber as fast as they could turn the sniders over. The rest of the fight was on them, for they now felt their time had come after the weary waiting.

"Meet them with the bayonet!" The colonel hardly knew his own voice, it sounded so hoarse and cracked. Then he gasped: "Good heavens! What was that?" For above the rattle of the rifle the words "Courage, mes braves!" rang sharp and clear through the smoke.

Men still half asleep stumbled over one another toward the stockade. Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

Officers ran here and there with sharp words of command, while the Haussa sergeants effectually aroused any lag-gard with the rifle.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, AUG. 21, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.
For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

CAUCUSES.

The Republican State Committee has issued notice for the Republicans to hold caucuses to elect delegates to the several Republican conventions, except to Representative conventions, on Wednesday, Sept. 16, or Thursday, Sept. 17, 1896. Caucuses to choose delegates to Representative conventions may be held on Wednesday, Oct. 7, or Thursday, Oct. 8, 1896.

BORN OF TROUBLE.

Last Saturday an immense Republican mass meeting was held at Columbus, Ohio, at which Senator-elect Foraker was the principal speaker. Among other good things he said:

"A new issue, that of free silver, has been made, born of Democratic preparations for the tariff question. The Democrats were overwhelmedly defeated before the fight commenced. That everybody now understands the tariff question and had become a Protectionist. If the Democratic party had not seen defeat ahead on its old issues it would not have made this new issue. It is the product of an emergency. It has been born of trouble, and that of itself should be enough to create distrust of it."

That is just what the JOURNAL has been saying all along.

CHANGE OF FRONT.

After a speech delivered in the presence of 4000 people at Holton, Kansas, last Saturday, discussing the outlook with friends, ex-U. S. Senator John S. Ingalls said:

"From the audiences I have met so far I conclude that the people much less interested in the silver question than in the other aspects of the campaign. I look for an entire change of front in our line of battle before the campaign ends. I feel entirely confident that we will carry this State and the country."

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

It has been decided by the State Committee we believe that the Republican State Convention is to be held on Oct. 1.

The State Committee have selected Roger Wolcott, present Acting Governor, for the gubernatorial candidate; Mr. Crane of Dalton for Lieut. Governor, and perhaps some others; and what the committee says goes.

A pretty contest is on between Messrs. Crane and Winslow for the Republican nomination for the office of Lieut. Governor. It is said that Mr. Crane is ahead and will probably win.

So far as our information goes Mr. Crane appears to be the favorite with the people. His services to the Republic party in the past, his clean character, and personal worth, command him strongly to the masses, and it is believed the convention will turn a deaf ear to the popular sentiment, and nominate the gentleman of Dalton for Lieut. Governor.

In case Representative Beggs should decline a re-election there will be a scramble for his shoes. We have in mind no less than four Republican gentlemen who are being groomed for the place, each of whom has friends, some more than others, all confident of winning the prize. Next week the JOURNAL will publish the names of these gentlemen with such others as may enter the lists between this time and August 27. In the mean time Lawyer Grimes is likely to be the Reading colleague of whoever Woburn may make choice of.

If Col. Woodward of Wakefield wasn't one of the best fellows in the country the ease with which his friends have captured the chairmanship for him would be remarkable, but as the matter stands there is nothing strange about it. It is not usual though for an astute lawyer to be able to make the run without a single contest, but that is Col. Woodward's case. No other man has been mentioned for the honor, nor is there likely to be, for everybody appears to be satisfied to have the Colonel represent this District in the next Senate.

We are indebted to Hon. Horace G. Wadlin, Chief of Bureau of Statistics for a copy of Part 3, Vol. 1, of the Census of Massachusetts, 1895, which treats of Polls and Voters, Political Condition by Sex, Political Condition by Age Periods, with Tabular Analyses, etc., which will be found a valuable public document. The issue contains 105 pages laden with important figures and statements, and is a publication that one should preserve for future reference.

Circular No. 122, issued by the United Treasury Department, containing information respecting U. S. Bonds, Paper Currency, Coin, Production of Precious Metals, etc., of date July 1, 1896, revised edition, should be in the hands of everyone who desires facts in relation to the subjects treated. Of course it is intelligible to nobody but an expert accountant, but from a casual glance at its pages we conclude that it is a storehouse of financial information.

Mr. John Connolly has favored this office with a copy of the "Annual Report of the Woburn City Government for the year 1895," for which we are grateful. It was printed in Boston by J. W. Pitman & Son, of Woburn, and is a good piece of typographical work. It contains 480 pages with a map of the Sewerage System, and presumably is reeking with precious information.

Notwithstanding it is alleged that he has said some things that look the other way, it is believed that Representative William Beggs will be induced to accept the Republican nomination again this fall. If so, he will be elected without doubt.

John L. Parker, Editor of the Lynn Item, writes a very interesting letter to the JOURNAL's correspondent "C." which we publish with pleasure this week. Mr. Parker wrote the best Regimental History that has ever been published—at least competent judges say it is the best—and war articles from his pen are always entertaining and instructive.

Miss Abigail Dodge, better known as "Gail Hamilton," died at her home at Hamilton on Monday evening from a shock of paralysis. She was one of the ablest writers in this country. She was born in 1830, the same year as James G. Blaine, to whose wife she was a cousin, and the literary executor of the great statesman.

John B. Moran of Boston, the Democratic ground and lofty tumbler, as soon as possible after reading the JOURNAL's item concerning him on July 31, left the Gold Standard wing of his party (with an "open letter," of course), and has adopted the role of political guerrilla. He is well fitted for that sort of service.

If reports are true, Francis P. Curran, Esq., will be the Woburn Democratic candidate for Representative. If he is nominated, now that the two wings of the local Democracy are flocking together more than formerly, Lawley Curran would make a strong run.

In Maine the Republicans are giving the tariff question a front seat in the campaign. Seth Millikin, Congressman from the Third District, is talking it to the farmers with the best of effect. They are largely for silver, but want protection a great deal more, and will therefore vote for McKinley.

Vey Holman is the leader of the gold wing of the Locofoco of Maine. He is a candidate for Senator in Knox county. "Vey" is not a stranger to Woburn people.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Dr. Charles Martin, Church of England, F. B. Bullock—To Let.

Read "Wanted" on page 3.

Rev. D. Scudder was on the coast of Maine last week.

Paving street crossings on the W. & R. electric road is now in order.

Aberjona Colony held a meeting last Wednesday evening. A good one too.

Mr. John O'Brien, the accomplished letter carrier, is out on vacation.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathé's, 425 Main street.

The Towanda Club are going to have the best bowling alley in Middlesex county.

Capt. John P. Crane returned from his vacation last Monday, hale and hearty.

Mr. Joseph Keaney, of Boston has been spending several days with relatives here.

Copeland & Bowser make an important announcement in a new advertisement this week.

The Aldermanic Board held a meeting last evening. With what result we have not time to tell.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

Capt. Charles S. and Mrs. Converse took a trip to Billerica last Wednesday and visited friends there.

Any person in want of a first-class heating furnace very cheap can be accommodated by calling at No. 14 Church avenue.

Mr. Ervin Hatch, of Button End sent the Editor a mess of sweet corn, which is doing a fine business in ladies and children's clothing and smallwares, with which other goods in the same line, are manufactured at his establishment. The excellent quality of his goods and the low figures placed on them draw a large and profitable custom.

Mr. Thomas Heartz, Treasurer of the Woburn Y. M. C. A., and his daughter Gertrude went to Gloucester last Tuesday to visit a brother of Mr. Heartz who resides there. Mrs. Heartz and "the Twins" returned from their outing at Forest Hills a few days ago, and Miss Grace is still tarrying there.

Station Agent Jenkins has never had flower beds on the station grounds that equal in beauty the present ones. We can see no reason why he should not win the Railroad Company's First Prize of $50 this year. Mr. Jenkins has taken infinite pains with his flowers, and the beds are perfect beauties.

By the will of the late Charles W. Oxford of Cambridge, of which Mr. Hubbard Copeland of this city and Mr. Thomas Morris of Winchester are executors, the Woburn M. E. church receives $2000 to be used in the liquidation of the church debt, and an additional $1000 as a charity fund.

Mr. Thomas Heartz, Treasurer of the Woburn Y. M. C. A., and his daughter Gertrude went to Gloucester last Tuesday to visit a brother of Mr. Heartz who resides there. Mrs. Heartz and "the Twins" returned from their outing at Forest Hills a few days ago, and Miss Grace is still tarrying there.

Mr. G. T. Conner, 347 Main street, is doing a fine business in ladies and children's clothing and smallwares, with which other goods in the same line, are manufactured at his establishment. The excellent quality of his goods and the low figures placed on them draw a large and profitable custom.

Mr. J. J. Grothe, of the firm of Pollard & Grothe, and family are entertaining as guests their nieces Misses Ade and Maria Gilmore of Omaha, Nebraska. Being of the same State with candidate Bryan it is fair to presume that these young ladies are for Bryan and Sewell and free silver, first, last and all the time.

The Board of Health have asked for an additional appropriation to defray the expenses of finishing the job of cleaning Horn Pond. They have done a good work there but at it must be more of it and money is necessary. The authorities however hold back and it is quite doubtful if the appropriation asked for will be voted.

As malaria is still painfully in evidence in this city we cheerfully refer readers of the JOURNAL to a reader in this paper in reference to the subject, furnished by Dr. B. T. Church of Winchester who everybody in Woburn knows would not recommend a specific for malaria unless he knew positively it was there. Read the card.

Conductor Richard Carton is anxious that Mr. Waterman Brown should finish up the gravestones he has in the rough for his grave, and it is likely they will soon be completed. Mr. Brown has selected and written out an epitaph for the stones, which begins with: "He sleeps his last sleep. He has fought his last battle," etc.

The National Band will give an operatic concert at the Jefferson House at the lower end of Main street this evening under the auspices of the citizens in that part of the town.

Mrs. Hubbard Copeland is visiting the State of N. Y., and at last accounts her health was some better. She was taken ill three years ago last June and has not yet fully recovered.

In the course of 10 days nearly everybody who has been away on vacation will have returned to their homes. A great many have already got back. The principal question to be decided is, did it pay?

A little past noon on Wednesday there was a smart shower here accompanied with quite a fall of hail and some electrical manifestations. Had there been a wind of considerable force the hail must have done much damage for the stones were large and jagged.

All work on the highways has been put a period to until the imbroglio in which the highway authorities now find themselves is settled. When that will be the Lord only knows. It is a deplorable condition of things, but the right must be fought out, and the fight must be fought out, and the right of the people be d—d."

The Evangelical Lutherian church will give a Literary and Musical Feast at Mechanics Hall on tomorrow evening, Aug. 22, for the benefit of the society. A very fine program has been laid out and the best of artists have been secured to perform it. The Feast will be opened with an address by Mayor Allen, and that will be followed by musical numbers and readings of the best class. Miss Mabel H. Nelson of Worcester will give several vocal solos; from Lynn will render pieces; and Miss Gertrude Heartz will execute piano solo in her best style. Doors open at 7:15, and entertainment begin at 7:45. The price of admission is only 25 cents.

Notwithstanding it is alleged that he has said some things that look the other way, it is believed that Representative William Beggs will be induced to accept the Republican nomination again this fall. If so, he will be elected without doubt.

The weather was simply charming last Sunday, and the churches were the gainers by it. Indeed, after the hot spell broke on Friday there was no more suffering from the heat, at least no intense suffering.

S. B. Goddard, Esq., and family have been at the Atlantic, Jerusalem Road, during the vacation. They like very much and managed to keep cool while the hot spell was on. Mr. Goddard goes down evenings.

Cars on both the L. & B. and W. & R. were stalled last Sunday evening with irritating frequency. They carried immense loads of people all day and nearly all night. At times the power was insufficient and ugly waits resulted.

Messrs. Stearns & Waterman, 90 Canal st., Boston, furnish splendid plate portraits of the presidential candidates, which make a fine souvenir. We have one of McKinley, through which the Inspector was perfectly legitimate, and the city ought to pay for it. Just for the fun of the thing we would like to know what was passing through those men's minds when they voted to postpone consideration of the bill for years and more.

Mr. George A. Day, Cashier of the First National Bank, will be billeted at Mrs. McDonald's on Bennett street while his mother, Mrs. Julia A. Day, and his sister, Miss Jessie A. Day, the teacher, remain in Vermont where they are now visiting.

Hon. E. E. Thompson and family arrived home from Old Orchard last Tuesday evening after a pleasant tarry at that popular seaside resort. Mr. Thompson says immense numbers of people from everywhere have been there this season.

Mr. John Hooper, the boss plumber of this place, has applied for a patent for "Hooper's Soapsipe Cleanout," a recent invention of his, which he says is away ahead of anything of the kind in existence. He explains it in a way that goes to show that his words are true. It is a simple contrivance, but effective, as the JOURNAL will demonstrate in a future notice, and it looks as though there might be a mint of money in it.

The will of the late Clarissa R. Parker of Winchester was filed in the Middlesex County Probate Court last Wednesday morning. The Home Missionary Society of New York, the Women's Auxiliary Board of Missions, and the First Congregational Society of Woburn are given $300 each. The Ladies' Charitable Reading Society and the Young Ladies' Social and Benevolent Society of the First Congregational Church, Woburn, are left $100, and the Home for Aged Women is given $500.

Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was delayed to accommodate the new fountain at Wyman Green and having heard nothing to the contrary we make the announcement that the job was accomplished. Rev. A. M. Osgood, pastor of the M. E. church, made the presentation speech which is safe to say, was a good one, and Mayor Allen accepted the handsome gift for the city in a genuine burst of eloquence. There was a band concert, illuminations, etc., all very fine and quite appropriate. The fountain is a nice thing to have on Wyman Green. If we knew the name of the generous donor it would be here given with pleasure. There are other nooks and corners in the city that might be made beauty spots at small expense, and ought to be. They would add to the value of real estate.

— Last evening the programme was

THE DELINEATOR

for September is the finest number yet issued of this great Fashionable Magazine. It is the herald of Autumn Styles, and contains no less than nine beautiful colored plates of Fashions and Millinery in lithograph, half-tone and oleograph effects. Nothing like it has ever been attempted before, and at its subscription price of $1.00 a year it is more than ever a marvel. Copies for sale and subscriptions taken by

RE-OPENS SEPT. 1st, 1896.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of everyday life.

THE REPUTATION

embaces a course of more than twenty teachers and assistants, each with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence

THE DISCIPLINE

is of the highest order and includes valuable business training.

THE PATRONAGE

is the largest of any similar institution in the world.

THE REPUTATION

of this school is unsurpassed and unchallenged and as being the Standard Institution is generally acknowledged.

SPECIAL COURSE,

Short-hand, Type Writing, Composition and Correspondence, by the best known practical course.

SITUATIONS

In business houses furnished pupils among the most successful and prominent.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING,

608 Washington Street, Boston, is centrally located and purposefully constructed. Office open daily, from 9 till 12 o'clock. Prospectus Post Free.

H. E. HIBBARD, Principal.

William W. Wade, Joseph H. Parker, Jr., Ralph F. Goddard, David P. Carney, T. C. T. Tidwell.

In the funeral procession were many carriages containing relatives and friends in this city and elsewhere, and citizens who embraced the opportunity to show their regard for the family and the deceased. The remains were deposited in the receiving tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

Since 1878 there have been nine epidemics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epidemics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

SINCE 1878 there have been nine epi-

demics of dysentery in different parts of the country in which Chamberlain's Cod-

liver and Diarrhoea Remedy was used.

The most recent and severe was the

Asiatic cholera.

Heretofore the best efforts of the most skilled physicians have failed to check its ravages, this

remedy, however, has completely put it to flight.

The remains were deposited in the receiving

tomb at Woodbrook cemetery, where they are to rest until arrangements are made for their interment in the family lot there.

—

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, AUG. 28, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.

Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.

For Vice President of the United States.

Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

THE READING CANDIDATE.

It is generally expected this year that Lawyer W. Grimes will be a candidate, not so much from what he has said himself, but from what his friends prompted by an interest to have it which met a cordial response from the members. The Committee will keep open house during the campaign and hold weekly business meetings.

LEOPOLD THE REPUBLICAN WARD AND CITY COMMITTEE are preparing for a vigorous and aggressive campaign in this city. At a meeting held one evening late last week Chairman True outlined the work to be done and how to do it which met a cordial response from the members. The Committee will keep open house during the campaign and hold weekly business meetings.

LEOPOLD An excellent portrait and biographical sketch of Col. Woodward of Wakefield, who is to be the Republican candidate for Senator in this District, appeared in the last issue of The Young Republican of Boston.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.
Wm. M. Dickey—
Woburn—
Miss Porter—Piano,
Ayer & Son—Armchair,
C. H. Smith—
S. Jennings—Mort. Sale,
Co-operative Bank—Notice.

A woman wants work. See ad.

Henry Harrington went to Bennington, Vt., yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dow will return next Wednesday.

Mr. Dennis D. Begley is away now in the South on his vacation.

— It looks as though the Common Council have but little faith in the utility of the cleansing of Horn Pond else they would not have refused an additional appropriation of $2,000 for the work. There is never any telling where either of the Boards of our city government will light.

— Miss Florence S. Porter, the piano teacher, has a card in this issue of the JOURNAL, to which we direct attention. She has had a thorough musical education under competent instructors, and is well fitted to train pupils in the art of piano playing. She will doubtless have a large class this fall.

— Conductor Richard Carton entered the employ of the Boston & Lowell Railroad Company in Jan., 1865, and has been there and with the B. & M. continuously ever since. He has been Conductor many years, and is probably one of the oldest ticket punchers, in point of service, on the road.

— Monday was another scorcher. It can't be denied that the hot weather this year has been of the most torrid kind.

— As to whether we know of nothing more agreeable than a gentle summer Sunday rain. That is what we had last Sunday.

— Mr. Edwin K. Porter and his sister Florence S. are at Bayside, Greenland, N. H., for a week's vacation, and enjoying it.

— The liquor dealers held a meeting at the Central House last Saturday evening to confer together on matters of interest to their trade.

— Clerk Finn did yeoman's service delivering the City Reports first of the week. Mr. John Connolly was a "potent factor" in the work.

— Not a few of our influential citizens are talking of John W. Johnson, Esq., for Representative, and it is said the matter has been broached to him, not however with much satisfaction. He hesitates, so our informant says, to accept a nomination even with a good prospect for an election, and it is hardly probable that he will be a candidate.

— Quesly Court 32, M. C. O. F., are making extensive preparations for their annual ball to be held on Oct. 30. It promises to be a great event.

— Mr. Nowell, the photographic artist, has returned from a pleasant vacation. He is now doing business at the old stand, Wade's Block.

— Charles R. Rosengren, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class machine for $30.00. Call or write.—

— Mayor Allen was laid up last week, and has not yet got over it, with a lame leg. He had Dr. Peck to it several times. It is mending now.

— Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Tripp have departed for West Brookfield, Mass., where they will spend their outing at the home of Mrs. Tripp's mother.

— The next session of the Massachusetts Library Club will be held in this city on Oct. 8. It is expected that a large number of Library people will be present.

— Labor Day will come along in one week from next Monday. Several picnics have been planned for that day and we hope they will have good weather for them.

— Librarian W. R. Cutler and Leonard Thompson, Esq., are letting on attending the convention of the American Library Association at Cleveland, Ohio, next week.

— As it is the fashion of the present political campaign for newspapers to publish the names of prominent men who refuse to go with their party this year, we announce with pleasure that Judge P. L. Converse of this city, a Democrat by birth, will vote for McKinley and Hobart in Nov. if he is alive and well. As is well known Judge Converse is one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Woburn; he is a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat; but, as he publicly announces, he cannot swallow Bryan and Sewell, and will vote the other ticket.

— The JOURNAL is authorized to state that Francis P. Curran, Esq., who is doing some effective campaign work on the stump for Bryan and Sewell, is a candidate for no office in the gift of the people, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. Neither will he accept any offer of nomination for any office. It has been said that he is seeking a Legislative election, but such is not the case.

— Mr. Charles B. Stone of Acton is in the field for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner and it is said he has secured a strong backing in the upper part of the county. We are informed that he is a very worthy gentleman, that he has ability, and would fill the bill in good shape. That change ought to be made this fall in the personnel of the county government is generally admitted.

— Hon. Thomas B. Reed made a great speech at Old Orchard last Tuesday. It was one of his best and held the attention of the multitude like steel cords. Speaker Reed is head and shoulders above them all as orator or statesman. His speech was brassy, original, unique, and convincing.

— The impression prevails and is gaining headway daily that Ex-Alderman W. Frank Fowle is to be Mr. John L. Munroe's successor on the Board of License Commissioners. Certain potent influences are operating in that direction and at the present writing the consensus of opinion in political circles is that the Mayor will appoint him.

— Ham & Co. say they can't see but that horses have to eat when the times are hard just the same as they do when times are easy; at least there is something to do we are glad of it.

— Edward J. McDonald of Jones Court lost a valuable dog on the evening of the other night, the third within a short time. Anyone who would kill a dog in that mean, stealthy way, without good and sufficient reason, would be mean enough to do almost anything.

— Francis P. Curran, Esq., addressed the Jefferson Club of Lynn last Wednesday evening on the financial issue of the campaign. On the 20th he made a rousing speech for the free coinage of silver at Salem, and the papers of that city praised it highly.

— Mr. Winthrop Hammond and wife returned from an extended carriage drive through New Hampshire last Friday feeling better than when he went away. Nothing ailed him much, only kind of overworked and tired. He contemplated another brief outing.

— The Woburn Electric Light Co. are putting in additional machinery for the purpose of furnishing the N. W. S. R. Co. with power. A larger dynamo and boiler are among the improvements. They expect to have the power ready as soon as it is wanted by the R. R. Co.

— It looks as though the Common Council have but little faith in the utility of the cleansing of Horn Pond else they would not have refused an additional appropriation of $2,000 for the work. There is never any telling where either of the Boards of our city government will light.

— A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leath's, 425 Main street.

— The alarm of fire Tuesday was for a brush blaze at Mishawum. No damage.

— Mr. Charles Fitz of the Boston Branch went to Bangor, Me., last Tuesday.

— Elliot Trull left here last Saturday for Bethlehem, N. H., a fashionable mountain resort.

— The Co-operative Bank has a notice in this paper, from Secretary Whitcher, which should be read.

— Miss Florence S. DeLand is seeing a good deal of high life and is enjoying it at the Vermont House, Saratoga.

— For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

— Monday was another scorcher.

— We think it would be a good plan for Supt. Sanborn to make and promulgate a rule that all handcars on the road should come to a full stop before crossing a street. A terrible accident, which would no doubt have involved one human life at least, from a collision between a rapidly moving car and an equally rapidly moving team, was averted by only a hair's breath in this city a few days ago. It was a very narrow escape for all parties concerned, and set us to thinking how such accidents might be prevented, and to suggest the plan of stopping the cars.

— Mr. James W. Alexander, General Agent for the "Home Treatment Improved Gold Cure," is doing a good work in this city in "rescuing the perishing" from the slavery of strong drink, and his good work deserves the encouragement and material support of all friends of temperance and those who care for the welfare of their fellowmen. There is no question but that the cure permanently reforms and saves nine men out of ten who take it, and the records give better reports than that even. It is a living knowledge. It cures. Drunkenness is a disease, as much so as typhoid fever, and only medicine can save the victim.

— The able and impartial Woburn reporter for the Boston Globe has at last hit the nail on the head. Last Wednesday he said, "there is a strong sentiment in favor of locating an ornamental drinking fountain on the site of the big tree near the Common," etc. Exactly! that's what's wanted, and there are myriads of ears to the ground waiting to hear Mayor Allen speak.

— Some people wonder why the Park Commissioners do not give the big Park an official name. It should have one. Some call it "The Woburn Park," some, "City Park," others "Baldwin Park," and so it goes. It ought to have an official name. The commissioners should advertise for names and it invite everybody to send one in, and then let the majority rule. In this way the People would name the Park.

— The able and impartial Woburn reporter for the Boston Globe has at last hit the nail on the head. Last Wednesday he said, "there is a strong sentiment in favor of locating an ornamental drinking fountain on the site of the big tree near the Common," etc. Exactly! that's what's wanted, and there are myriads of ears to the ground waiting to hear Mayor Allen speak.

— Mrs. Henry A. Mott and daughter were thrown from a carriage last week and severely hurt. Luckily they escaped without fatal injuries.

— Quesly Court 32, M. C. O. F., are making extensive preparations for their annual ball to be held on Oct. 30. It promises to be a great event.

— Clerk Finn did yeoman's service delivering the City Reports first of the week. Mr. John Connolly was a "potent factor" in the work.

— Not a few of our influential citizens are talking of John W. Johnson, Esq., for Representative, and it is said the matter has been broached to him, not however with much satisfaction. He hesitates, so our informant says, to accept a nomination even with a good prospect for an election, and it is hardly probable that he will be a candidate.

— As to whether we know of nothing more agreeable than a gentle summer Sunday rain. That is what we had last Sunday.

— Mr. Edwin K. Porter and his sister Florence S. are at Bayside, Greenland, N. H., for a week's vacation, and enjoying it.

— The liquor dealers held a meeting at the Central House last Saturday evening to confer together on matters of interest to their trade.

— Clerk Finn did yeoman's service delivering the City Reports first of the week. Mr. John Connolly was a "potent factor" in the work.

— Not a few of our influential citizens are talking of John W. Johnson, Esq., for Representative, and it is said the matter has been broached to him, not however with much satisfaction. He hesitates, so our informant says, to accept a nomination even with a good prospect for an election, and it is hardly probable that he will be a candidate.

— Quesly Court 32, M. C. O. F., are making extensive preparations for their annual ball to be held on Oct. 30. It promises to be a great event.

— Mr. Nowell, the photographic artist, has returned from a pleasant vacation. He is now doing business at the old stand, Wade's Block.

— Charles R. Rosengren, 36 Green st. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class machine for $30.00. Call or write.—

— Mayor Allen was laid up last week, and has not yet got over it, with a lame leg. He had Dr. Peck to it several times. It is mending now.

— Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Tripp have departed for West Brookfield, Mass., where they will spend their outing at the home of Mrs. Tripp's mother.

— The next session of the Massachusetts Library Club will be held in this city on Oct. 8. It is expected that a large number of Library people will be present.

— Labor Day will come along in one week from next Monday. Several picnics have been planned for that day and we hope they will have good weather for them.

— Librarian W. R. Cutler and Leonard Thompson, Esq., are letting on attending the convention of the American Library Association at Cleveland, Ohio, next week.

— As it is the fashion of the present political campaign for newspapers to publish the names of prominent men who refuse to go with their party this year, we announce with pleasure that Judge P. L. Converse of this city, a Democrat by birth, will vote for Bryan and Sewell, is a candidate for no office in the gift of the people, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. Neither will he accept any offer of nomination for any office. It has been said that he is seeking a Legislative election, but such is not the case.

— Mr. Charles B. Stone of Acton is in the field for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner and it is said he has secured a strong backing in the upper part of the county. We are informed that he is a very worthy gentleman, that he has ability, and would fill the bill in good shape. That change ought to be made this fall in the personnel of the county government is generally admitted.

— Hon. Thomas B. Reed made a great speech at Old Orchard last Tuesday. It was one of his best and held the attention of the multitude like steel cords. Speaker Reed is head and shoulders above them all as orator or statesman. His speech was brassy, original, unique, and convincing.

— City Collector Maguire is busily making himself obnoxious to the public by distributing the tax bills for 1896, just as though there was any need of his going to all that pains! But some people are happiest when swimming against the tide.

— Ham & Co. say they can't see but that horses have to eat when the times are hard just the same as they do when times are easy; at least there is something to do we are glad of it.

— Edward J. McDonald of Jones Court lost a valuable dog on the evening of the other night, the third within a short time. Anyone who would kill a dog in that mean, stealthy way, without good and sufficient reason, would be mean enough to do almost anything.

— Francis P. Curran, Esq., addressed the Jefferson Club of Lynn last Wednesday evening on the financial issue of the campaign. On the 20th he made a rousing speech for the free coinage of silver at Salem, and the papers of that city praised it highly.

— Mr. James T. Freeman, of J. T. Freeman & Co., machinists, says business has not been so dull with them for years as at the present time. Leather establishments are putting in new machinery, and repairing is light. Whereas the firm usually employ from 30 to 40 hands they have less than a quarter of that number now. If McKinley is not elected business will be even worse than at present. It is for the interest of workingmen and manufacturers to do all they can to elect him.

— The celebration of Mr. Charles Williams' 71st birthday at his house, 191 Salem st., last week Thursday, was a very pleasant affair. Quite a good many people gathered at the home of Mr. Williams to congratulate him on his safe arrival at his 71st milestone of his life, by whom an agreeable season was spent. All were cordially welcome and handsomely treated by the family. Everything was provided to make the affair a happy one, and such a day it was.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer residence at Billerica last Sunday. It was a dinner party in which several Boston residents and gentlemen appeared besides Mr. and Mrs. Phiney. Mrs. Phiney's description of weather, sports and amusements at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, N. B., we would remark, were almost as good as actual enjoyment of them as she recounted them to us on her return from that ideal seaside resort.

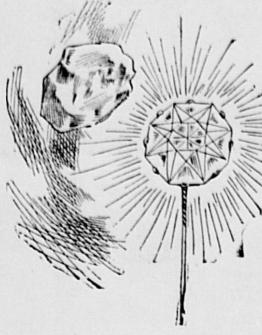

— Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. W. Phiney of Warren street were guests of Representative Joshua B. Holden at his fine summer for September is the finest number yet issued of this great Fashionable Magazine. It is the herald of Autumn Styles, and contains no less than nine beautiful colored plates of Fashions and Millinery in lithograph, halftone and oleograph effects. Nothing like it has ever been attempted before, and at its subscription price of $1.00 a year it is more than ever a marvel. Copies for sale and subscriptions taken by

THE DELINEATOR

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

A Diamond In the Rough

may do as a figure of speech, but what we want in the actual article is a diamond that sparkles. We have a good assortment of dazels. A very attractive stone can be secured for a comparatively small price.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

Two Stores: { 409 Main Street, Woburn.
South Berwick, Me.
Telephone, 4-33.

G. R. GAGE & CO.
FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street, - - - Woburn
JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S
Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke.

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER
and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience.
Boston, Worcester, & Danvers, Mass., 179
Tremont St., Woburn, 11. W. Dean's Jewel Store, 379 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

We are Selling a Regular 50c. Corset for 39c.

Our regular BV Corset for 50 cents is an exceptionally good quality. We have a good line of Ladies' and Children's Hostess' pieces from 5 cents a pair up. If you are going to have a nice dress you had better call and see how nice you can have the skirt made for $2.00. We sell a nice lined Skirt for $2.95.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - - WOBURN.

Plumbing Plumbing

W. C. T. U.

I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal attention to all I have to do, so that the work at lowest possible prices.

Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT,

392 Main St.

SUNSET AT PASQUANEY.

Clouds, as islands on a darkening sea,

The light of westward hastening sun,

But outlined are, with such a radiance,

As if molten gold, that eye, outdone,

The hills top,

The hills top,

Would one aspire.

But stealthy night with somber shade, though decked

By clouds still effulgent in the west,

All so quiet were that none would list,

The hills top,

The hills top,

Would one aspire.

With silent grace. — o. q. jn.

His Silence Was Golden.

When Mr. Bryan delivered his 16,000 word speech in New York, as well as during his tour Eastward, he has not once mentioned the Tariff. Well, that is his safest course, considering his record, and a very shrewd course it is. His avoidance of the Tariff issue is Mr. Bryan's way of saying, "The Tariff is settled." Not that Mr. Bryan believes that the Tariff is settled, any more than does Mr. Whitney or any of the other Tariff reformers. Three years ago Mr. Bryan declared the Tariff a vital issue and advocated Free-Trade as the panacea for all ills. Nor did he accept the Wilson-Gorman bill as a settlement of the question. He said, during the discussion on the Wilson bill:

"I think the duties all the way through will be higher than necessary and that the bill is because of the position, not because the duties are brought down as low as they might be, but because the bill is infinitely better than the law which we now have, and is a step in the right direction."

Why does Mr. Bryan falter in his steps? toward Free-Trade? Why does he not labor for that "perfect" bill which would give us Free-Trade? Can it be because he is afraid to face the issue, after two years' test of only "Tariff Reform?"—American Economic.

Send it to His Mother in Germany.

Mr. Jacob Ehrenson, who is in the employ of the Chicago Lumber Co., at Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I have just sent some medicine to my mother in the old country, that I know well, because she is the best medicine in the world for rheumatism, having used it in my family for several years. It is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It always does the work." 50 cent bottles for sale by A. W. Whitcher, druggist.

All to Himself.

Col. Charles F. Woodward of Wakefield seems to have the field all to himself in his candidacy for the Senatorship in the Middlesex-Essex District. The Colonel has developed a well directed capacity for business in his career, and "business" is what is wanted in the Legislature.—Reading Chronicle.

RE-OPENS SEPT. 1st, 1896.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the dead and world of daily life.

THE FACULTY embraces a large number of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any similar institution in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership is being the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

SPECIAL COURSE.

Invaluable lessons furnished pupils among the most advanced and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS

Invaluable lessons furnished pupils among the most advanced and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

H. E. HIBARD, Principal.

North Woburn.

Mr. Carl Perkins was in town this week. Mr. A. R. Linecott is visiting in Waterbury, Conn.

Miss Nellie Rodd of Haverhill spent last week in town.

Mr. Clarence Pierce and his wife are away for a few weeks.

Mr. Walter Searles and his wife of Townsend are visiting in town.

Mr. Lewis Bond and family are at Nantasket Beach for the week.

Mr. Whidden and his daughters have returned from New Hampshire.

Mr. Daniel O'Brien is fixing up the place which he recently bought on Pearl street.

Mr. Irick Peters and Horner Dartforth left Monday for Bangor, Maine, in the vicinity of which they will make a short visit.

Mr. Jonathan Thompson of Elm street was at first thought to have suffered a slight shock of paralysis is up and around again.

Mr. Lewis F. Bond fell fourteen feet in the elevator of his store in Boston last week but was fortunate enough to escape with only a bad shaking up.

The steam road roller has not been used on the new roadbed on School street and consequently it looks much as though a sand-storm had just struck it.

Quite a large number gathered at the Baldwin Lodge, I. O. G. T., at Vinal Hill on Tuesday evening. Addresses were made by several members from other lodges and there were readings and music.

Quite a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Linecott gave them a pleasant surprise last Monday evening, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of their marriage. There was music and dancing and refreshments were served. A handsome wall-cabinet and other presents were received by them.

The Rumford Cycle Club race will be held sometime between the 15th and last of September. It will be a 10 mile race open to all and probably over the same course as last year, and some valuable prizes will be given. The Club is in a prosperous condition and is constantly taking in new members.

The old cannon lying on Newton Mountain near Mountaine st., and regarding the history of Woburn, was loaned to the Rumford Historical Association of this village. This old piece was bought in 1849 by subscription raised by some of the people of North Woburn, the greater part of which went to the Union Church. Mr. Marion Eaton of Somerville, probably the only person living who subscribed to it, and he has given his part to the Rumford Association. By the will of Mrs. Winn who was at first thought to have suffered a slight shock of paralysis is up and around again.

The Cannon Club had a grand time in the elevator of his store in Boston last week but was fortunate enough to escape with only a bad shaking up.

The steam road roller has not been used on the new roadbed on School street and consequently it looks much as though a sand-storm had just struck it.

Such is the influence exerted by the Gulf Stream here, that plants are seen which could not exist on the mainland, while some northern species are seen which are not anywhere south of Southern Labrador, except in Watkin's N. Y.

Mosquitoes are unknown. People who cannot sleep, ten miles away, on the adjacent shore, find it hard to keep awake at 10 o'clock at night, and have to shake them up to get them down to breakfast in season. The sea breeze sets in every day, at about 10 o'clock in the morning and the land breeze blows out at 1 o'clock.

One of the peculiarities of the place is the number of fresh water ponds, which are said to exist, one Great Pond, covers 1000 acres.

These ponds have the biggest water area in New England, and have been seen, the surface being fairly covered.

From the highest point, "Beacon Hill," 300 feet high, this "Gen. of the Sea," has stretched out far below, like a flat plain, but the people here, and the yachtsmen, play their little games of life, in the spaces walled in; while on all sides are seen the boats fitting for the "Puffing Devil," the steamship sailing along West India fish, which come to these shores in summer with the Gulf Stream, in view of the surface, from Beacon Hill, eastward, and the coast described, may be saying, that it looks like a heavy choppy sea considerably magnified.

Mosquitoes are unknown. People who cannot sleep, ten miles away, on the adjacent shore, find it hard to keep awake at 10 o'clock at night, and have to shake them up to get them down to breakfast in season. The sea breeze sets in every day, at about 10 o'clock in the morning and the land breeze blows out at 1 o'clock.

Such is the influence exerted by the Gulf Stream here, that plants are seen which could not exist on the mainland, while some northern species are seen which are not anywhere south of Southern Labrador, except in Watkin's N. Y.

No snakes, mosquitoes, or other wild animals exist here.

This is a natural harbor, and no dock could make a landing, till the present breakwater was constructed, but now steamers run regularly, in the winter, from Boston to New Bedford, touching intermediate points, coming round the famous Point Judith, which is shorn of its teeth to prevent the tides from sweeping over the beach.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

Here is the famous place of all ages.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

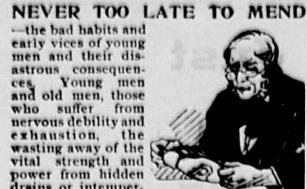

The Spring House where your correspondent is having away the time, is on a high point overlooking the air, and is said to be the prettiest in the country.

The value of the seaweed annually gathered is $20,000.

It is a place of great beauty.

There are a dozen or more good hotels here.

The Spring House where your correspondent is

SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS OF MASSACHUSETTS

ISSUE AN ADDRESS TO THE PUBLIC.

Leading and Influential Citizens Urge Adherence to Time-Honored Principles of the Party.

NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND
—the bad habits and early vices of young men and their disastrous consequences. Men and old men, those who suffer from nervous debility and exhaustion, are wasting away at the vital strength and power from sudden drains and intense physical habits can readily find relief for body and mind by writing the Woburn Journal, 108 Merrimac Street, Woburn, Mass., N. Y. There enter a full staff of physicians and specialists who treat at a distance by correspondence or at the invalid hospital and surgical institute of Boston, all this and more. Those who suffer from low spirits, irritable temper, a broken-down nervous system, and suffering from backache, dizziness, shooting pains in head or chest and indigestion, sexual excesses or abuses, all the result of exhausting disease, may secure a permanent cure after taking the special prescriptions sent them from the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. This association has issued a pamphlet of over 100 pages, profusely illustrated, written in plain language, treating of the nature, symptoms and curability, by how-to-treat yourself. The World's largest and most famous Medical Association, Proprietors of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. will accept of twenty-five cents postage and twenty-five cents for postage and wrapping only mail, this useful book. It should be read by every young man, parent and guardian in the land.

The Key to the Situation
—if you suffer from such various Headaches, Bilious Attacks, or any derangement of the system, live well, exercise, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild and effectively, they cleanse and purify the entire system, while three little "Pellets" for a gentle laxative, are perfectly harmless; these tiny sugar-coated granules of Dr. Pierce.

A PICTURESQUE JAPANESE ISLAND.

An Ideal Place Where Death Has Never Come and Where Poesy Dwells.

Miyajima is an island midway in the inland sea, lying so far within the bend of the Aki shore that it cannot be seen from the coast of the ocean, except when passing through those protected waters. To reach it most appropriately one must take one of the tiny coasting steamers from Osaka, and, touching at a dozen quaint little ports on the matchless voyage, at last see the mountainous green island, with temple roofs showing here and there through all the dense foliage of the heights, and, standing far out in the water, a heroic torii, fit gateway to that ideal place where death has never come, where religion and landscape loveliness, legend and poesy, still dwell, where the simple villagers, the gentle old Shinto priests and the tame deer protected by the gods and loved by the people, maintain an atmosphere foreign to the busy new Japan of railroads, parliaments, impeded military tactics and modern war vessels. Or one may take the way from Kobe to Hiroshima and then, by land and boat, cross a narrow strait to this isle of the sun, which will impress the more with its Arcadian features when one comes to it from all the bustling, parade and din of mimic war that goes on in the shadow of Hiroshima's picturesque castle keep and at its port of Ujina, chief naval station of the empire, and, during that victory year of 1894, of port departure of transport ships to Korea and China. Then one can accept the legend that Miyajima grew from one of the concealed drops that fell from Izamami's jeweled spear, and that Itsukushima and her two sisters, daughters of the god of the sea, apply chose it for their home, and the temple rose from and floated in from the sea, so that the water torii grew with the tides as naturally as any coral reef.

There is a small village at the foot of a green bank, but that is off by its com-monplace profane self, and the temple is embayed in an amphitheater of the hills, with a shore and water foreground all its own. On the shore line at the edge of the village a noble torii of Oshima granite, each pillar and crossbeam a single stone, marks the entrance to sacred ground, and this road, following the curve of the shore, is lined for a quarter of a mile to the temple with tall stone lanterns, the same alignment of votive lights continuing for half a mile along shore at the other side of the green bank.

The isolated torii is the unique and great feature of Miyajima's shrine, and one grows very familiar with it from its representation by Japanese artists in every line. The colosses are formed of great beams, each hewn from the single trunk of a camphor tree and strengthened at the base by crossbeams joining low parallel columns, which give it balance and solidity and most impressive effect. These beams are covered below the water line with such a heavy growth of barnacles and marine plants that the torii seems very reasonably a part of the sea god's kingdom and creation.

The isolated torii is the unique and great feature of Miyajima's shrine, and one grows very familiar with it from its representation by Japanese artists in every line. The colosses are formed of great beams, each hewn from the single trunk of a camphor tree and strengthened at the base by crossbeams joining low parallel columns, which give it balance and solidity and most impressive effect. These beams are covered below the water line with such a heavy growth of barnacles and marine plants that the torii seems very reasonably a part of the sea god's kingdom and creation.

What Free Coinage Means.

Free coinage at 16 to 1 means the substitution of silver now worth about 50 cents on the dollar for the money now in circulation.

This would tend to an advance of about 10 per cent in the prices of all commodities.

Such an advance would mean a loss of about one-half of the purchasing value of the annual incomes of all persons living on salaries, pensions and fixed incomes, and of the cash value of insurance policies, savings bank deposits, and all similar investments.

It would mean a loss of about 50 per cent in the purchasing power of wages if these were to be paid on the basis of existing rates.

The only way for those dependent on day wages or annual salaries to equalize these conditions would be to secure by strikes and agitation an increase of 100 per cent.

If such an increase were to be secured, the wage-earner and the salaried employee would gain nothing over present conditions. Their money would buy no more than it does today.

Every one knows, however, that wages and salaries could not be doubled or increased in the same ratio as the prices of commodities; and, therefore, the wage-earner and salaried employee, two classes of persons who are the chief people of this country, are sure to be hopelessly injured by the free coinage of silver.

Nobody can make anything by a depreciated currency except the employee of labor, the employer of persons on a salary, the dishonest debtor, the financial speculator who can turn any condition to his profit, and the owners of silver mine wealth.

The only way for those dependent on day wages or annual salaries to equalize these conditions would be to secure by strikes and agitation an increase of 100 per cent.

If such an increase were to be secured, the wage-earner and the salaried employee would gain nothing over present conditions. Their money would buy no more than it does today.

Everybody else, and, above all others, the wage-earner, must lose.

Moreover, such a change in our standard of value would certainly be accompanied by financial panic, business disaster, and industrial depression, throwing hundreds of thousands out of employment.

The experience of 1893 shows that such a catastrophe of what would happen.

Believing that a depreciated currency is one of the worst evils that political folly can bring about, believing also that the special mission of the Democratic party should be today, as in the past, to stand for the poor, the weak, the ignorant, the uneducated and the unprotected of the federal government, and for the liberty of the individual, we are unalterably opposed to the un-Democratic doctrines of the Chicago platform.

Ezra Ruhamah Seidmore in Century.

The Cheapest Funeral.

Some millionaires during their lives appear to enjoy the luxury of preparing at great expense the splendid mausoleums they wish to occupy after death.

Mr. Lalanne, wealthy Parisian, went to the other extreme and had a tower of anything like ostentation, funerals, and after bequeathing over 1,000,000 francs to various public institutions of his native town, he directed that his body should be buried at the cheapest possible rate—in fact, like that of a pauper. A shabby one-horse vehicle carried his remains to the fosse commune or common grave, and the cost of the funeral was only 6 francs, or less than 5 shillings—that being the charge for the cheapest kind of funeral under the French system, where the undertaker's business is a state monopoly.—Chambers' Journal.

Insect Bites.

The London Lancet remarks: "Many people do not know how easily they can protect themselves and their children against the bites of gnats and other insects. Weak carbolic acid sponge on the skin and hair, and in some cases clothing, will drive away the whole tribe. We have no doubt that horses and cattle could be protected in the same way from flies, which sometimes nearlyadden them."

Adhere to Principles.

The London Lancet remarks: "Many voters of Massachusetts to co-operate with us in a patriotic and determined effort to prevent any departure in our party action from these time-honored principles of popular government which have been the special property of the Democratic party from the days of Thomas Jefferson to the days of Grover Cleveland."

We urge them to send honest money delegates to the state convention, to the end that every body may make a stand for true Democratic doctrines; may support the state platform of April 1896, rather than the Chicago platform of July, may nominate candidates for the electoral college who, if chosen thereto, will vote only for such men for president and vice president as believe in honest money and the principles laid down in the aforesaid state platform; and may select candidates for state offices Democrats of like belief.

At the recent convention in Chicago a platform was adopted by a majority of the delegates declaring for the free coinage of silver at a ratio which would inevitably result in the substitution of the single silver standard of value for that now existing, for a partial repudiation by payment in depreciated silver of the obligations of the United States government, for an indefinite issue by the federal government of legal tender paper money, for the abolition of the individual right of private contract in financial matters for the protection of the federal judiciary. In the interest of party politics and for other doctrinal reasons, the Chicago convention was at variance with the well recognized principles of the Democratic party as formally set forth in all previous party platforms.

We appeal to our fellow-Democrats throughout the state to spare no personal effort to protect the party and the nation from the greatest danger that has confronted either for more than a generation.

We appeal to them to unite in a determined effort to save the Democracy from absorption in Populism, to protect the people from the incalculable evils of a depreciated currency, and to save the country from repudiation and dismemberment.

Frederick O. Prince, Boston; Nathan Matthews, Jr., Boston; Thomas J. Garigan, Boston; John C. H. Williams, Worcester; Dr. T. McLaughlin, Saugus; James E. McConnell, Fitchburg; Henry R. Reed, Boston; Henry C. Thacher, Yarmouth; John M. Moran, Boston; John F. Cronan, Boston; George F. Maxwell, Brookline; John L. Nichols, Somerville; Charles E. Stratton, Boston; Frank Atkinson, Quincy; Butler, Boston; Charles F. Adams, 2d, Quincy; Alfred S. Hayes, Boston; Charles Head, Boston; John C. Lane, Norwood; William T. Jenney, Medford; Godfrey Morse, Boston; Alfred J. Gould, Boston; John M. Moore, Boston; Walter G. Thornton, New Bedford; W. Lyman Underwood, Boston; Osborne Howes, Brookline; Alfred J. Hunter, Boston; Augustus Hemmenway, Boston; Robert C. Howard, Boston; John L. Hinckley, W. H. Hinckley, Charles A. Hall, Ashland; Arthur Dohon, H. Hill, Chestnut; C. C. Jackson, Boston; John G. Knight, South Hanover; Ed J. Keating, Hyde Park; Levi Kilburn, Orange; George W. Kelly, Rockland; Henry W. Laverne, Pleasantville; Charles Lincoln, Somerville; Charles L. Lincoln, Boston; William Frazee Lee, Boston; J. A. McDonald, Charlestown; Michael F. McGrath, Cambridge; William Merrill, Jr., West Newton; O. P. Morris, Swampscott; John H. Morris, Boston; C. J. Murphy, Norfolk; Albert Matthews, Boston; John F. J. Mulhall, Boston; Steven N. Myrick, Boston; Godfrey Morse, Boston; T. P. McGlynn, Winchester; Thomas F. Mahoney, Norwood; C. J. Murphy, Norfolk; A. D. Makepeace, Hyannis; J. J. Quinn, Somerville; James P. Miller, West Newton; John T. Meader, Boston; R. C. McKay, Boston; Henry C. Mulligan, Natick; Harry J. McGlynn, Boston; Lawrence Minot, Boston; John F. Moore, Boston; Edwin G. McInnis, Boston; R. E. McInnis, Boston; Samuel A. Nash, Boston; John D. Nash, Winchester; William Nassau, Boston; George R. Nutter, Boston; F. J. O'Hara, Winchester; J. A. O'Connor, Mil, D. Dorchester; Joseph F. O'Connor, Roxbury; Dr. W. C. Pollard, C. H. Duringham, Winchester; Frank H. Perkins, Plymouth; Asa Pingree, Newburyport; Edward E. Parker, Woburn; Charles H. Pellett, Southbridge; Charles O. Parker, Methuen; George B. Parker, Woburn; Edward Phillips, Foxboro; R. M. Pratt, Boston; F. A. Patten, Quincy; Horace Quimby, Essex; Arthur H. Russell, Winchester; W. D. Richards, Winchester; J. B. Roomey, Walpole; W. B. Rice, Quincy; D. L. Richards, Boston; R. S. Risley, Quincy; Charles P. Sippman, Boston; George Y. Stratton, Winchester; Benjamin Savine, Brookline; Sidney M. Shattuck, Winthrop; Moses T. Stevens, North Andover; E. S. Stevens, Dudley; George D. Storrs, Ware; Dexter A. Smith, West Gardner; John W. Smith, Gardner; G. Stanley Lovell, Lowell; S. Stevens, Somerville; Alfred, Walter G. Saunders, Boston; Walter Dean Sawyer, Cambridge; Solomon Scheinfeld, Boston; William E. Sibley, Milton; William A. Stetson, Boston; Charles W. Turner, Middleboro; H. F. Tripp, Middleboro; Edward P. Tucker, North Easton; Charles T. Tracy, Tiverton; John T. Turner, Tiverton; W. L. Turner, W. Wardman, Bradford; Charles W. Williams, Easton; George W. Woodward, Cambridge; Michael H. Walsh, Woods Hole; Frank W. Williams, Boston; H. A. White, Boston; Moses Williams, Boston; William H. White, Boston; Andrew H. Ward, Allston, and many hundred others.

Rivers Versus Sewers.

The sweet poet William Cowper is needed to sing the funeral dirge of English rivers. About 50 years since I had to pass a year in smoky Manchester. In 1860 the river Irwell, flowing through the town, was the purest in which some of the mill owners used the water of the canal passing through the town, so that my thoughts were specially directed to the welfare of the river.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

We found that the necessity for an adequate medium of exchange in all sections of our country shall be met by provision for the free coinage of silver and any further purchase of silver bullion or the coinage of paper money.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL.

Published Weekly: Every Friday Morning by George A. Hobbs. Office at 434 Main Street. $2.00 a Year. Single Copies 5 Cents.

VOL. XLVI.

WOBURN, MASS., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1896.

Entered at the Woburn, Mass., Post Office, as second-class matter.

NO. 39.

Brooks's Malaria Remedy

Is a sure cure for all forms of Malaria.

25c. Five packages for $1.00.

F. P. BROOKS, Pharmacist.

361 Main Street, Woburn.

Boston & Maine Railroad.

Southern Division.

JUNE 28, 1896.

Passenger Service from Woburn.

FOR BOSTON, 6:30, 6:45, 6:51, 7:18, 7:25, 8:14, 8:22,

9:00, 10:31, 11:35, A. M., 12:32, 1:10, 2:20, 3:01,

4:12, 5:04, 5:11, 5:39, 5:46, 6:16, 9:30, 10:39, P. M., 11:30, 12:30, 1:10, 2:00, 3:00, 4:15, 4:45, 5:14, 5:30,

5:55, 6:15, 6:40, 7:35, 9:00, 10:15, 11:30,

12:30, 1:15, 2:15, 3:00, 4:00, 5:00, 7:35, 9:00,

11:00, A. M., 12:40, 2:15, 4:00, 5:00, 7:35, 9:00,

11:00, P. M., Return. 9:00,

12:00, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30,

6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30,

2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30,

11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30,

8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30,

5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30,

1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30,

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30,

7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:30, 2:30, 3:30,

4:3

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, SEPT. 4, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States.
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

VERMONT FOR PROTECTION.

At the Vermont State election held last Tuesday the Republicans rolled up the tremendous majority of over 38,000, and Grout received the largest vote ever cast for Governor in that State.

Vermont is and always has been as solid as the adamentine hills for home protection, and no other watchword can tax her loyalty to that policy. She is an American State.

We understand that there are many voters in this city who would like to see Mr. Benjamin Hinckley a candidate for Representative to the Legislature this fall. It is said that there is a possibility, a probability perhaps, that he will be nominated by the Republicans and supported at the polls by all parties whose wish is to see the District ably and honorably represented. Whether this shall be so or not depends, it is further said, on Mr. Hinckley himself.

One day late last week the Journal establishment was honored with a call from Mr. Jeremiah O'Sullivan of Lawrence, the original Democratic Massachusetts Silverite, delegate to the Chicago convention, and at present running for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this District. He is a gentleman of parts, gracious of manners, an expert in the use of the American language, entertaining, and with an excellent sort of a person—a Democrat.

It had been intimated that Mr. Thomas Salmon, the Democratic wheelhorse of Woburn, was not sound on the goose from a Bryan and Sewell standpoint, but at a meeting of the Democratic State Committee in Boston last Friday he manfully stood in line with the regulars for the Chicago ticket, and was duly counted as one of them. He is not a boater or Mugwump, but a party man to the backbone.

Agent the JOURNAL's remarks on the Boss of Winchester we suppose the Star of that town will admit that there are several ways of doing the same thing. One person denies a request so nicely that the applicant feels a favor has been done him. Another grants one so haughtily and with such ill grace that the favor is robbed of nearly all its satisfaction. A guide-board is not necessary to enable the Star to find the point made above.

Something of a scramble is going on for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner. Mr. Levi S. Gould of Melrose is a prominent aspirant for the office and the papers over in that section of the county claim that he stands more than an even chance of getting there. We hear that Mr. Gould is a worthy man and would make a good Commissioner.

The outside pages of the JOURNAL contain some solid arguments in favor of the single gold standard theory, a careful perusal of which we recommend to JOURNAL readers. This is "a campaign of education" and it is incumbent on every American voter to gain all possible light on the questions involved in the controversy.

Our esteemed fellow citizen, Hon. George F. Bean, was a delegate to the Democratic "Gold Bug" convention at Indianapolis and presumably took a prominent part in its transactions. This, we suppose, means that Mr. Bean has cut loose from the Woburn Democracy never to return to its fold.

It seems then that President Geo. C. Conn of the Common Council is not a candidate for the Legislature. His brother Horace however is. Mr. Horace N. Conn is an honest upright young man and of a practical turn of mind. If elected he would be a credit to the District.

A movement has been inaugurated to make Representative George E. Fowle the next Mayor of Woburn. It is said to have a strong backing. The forces which have it in hand are already looking for an organization which they think will be irresistible.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

OISON—Piano,
Chairs, Furniture,
City—Reg. of Voters.
J. I. Monroe—To Let,
Rooms, etc., etc.
Rose M. Morgan—Mort. Sale.
W. H. Clarke—Retrospect.
W. G. Maguire—Tax Notices.

Lots of delinquent tax notices this week.

Officer Kean has got back from New Jersey.

It was a muggy, hot, disagreeable day yesterday.

J. F. Maguire, letter carrier, is now away on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Cummings have been away on a vacation.

Mr. John L. Monroe advertises a fine residence and stable for sale.

Scandinavian concert at Orthodox church Tuesday evening, Sept. 8.

A very slight frost was reported at Button End Wednesday morning.

The postoffice will close at 9 a.m. Labor Day, and open at 5 p.m.

Prof. Holtman at the Congregational church Tuesday evening, Sept. 8.

Circus this afternoon and evening on the Salem street grounds. A good one.

Mr. Olson advertises for sale a large lot of nearly new household furniture.

Capt. E. F. Wyer has had a touch of the prevailing ailment, malaria, lately.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leath's, 425 Main street.

A barn belonging to Patrick Foley on Wade Place was burned at noon last Friday.

Mr. Benjamin Hinckley, Dr. Harlow says, is not very well. Nothing serious.

A meeting of the Middlesex Union, I. O. O. F., will be in this city on Sept. 25.

The Good Templars had a real nice time at their pound party last Monday evening.

Miss Sarah Bancroft, Main st., is an experienced hairworker, and does a good business.

The family of Mr. J. F. Ramsdell are again settled at their home No. 9 Glenwood street.

The Democratic City Committee will meet this evening to perfect plans for the campaign.

Prof. F. H. Lewis and family came home from New Hampshire last Wednesday evening.

Rev. W. C. Barrows and family are back in the parsonage again after a month's vacation.

Mr. Webster, wife of Mr. A. N. Webster, merchant, has gone to Chicago to visit her sister, Mrs. Harry Slack. She has not yet fully recovered her health and it was through the trip and visit would do her good.

Mr. Curtis Greenwood has got back from N. H., where he passed the last half of his vacation.

Dog days end to-morrow, Sept. 5. To an elderly person they would seem to have only just begun.

Read the advertisement of a cooking range for sale, and then repair to 14 Church ave. and buy it.

Mr. Charles H. Taylor, Pleasant st., has all the orders for pictures that can attend to and more too.

Mr. Charles Carter will leave for Dartmouth College on Sept. 12, and resume work on the 17.

Take notice, gents, of the advertisement of the Registrars of Voters and govern yourselves accordingly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brooks have returned home from the White Mts where they enjoyed a fine vacation.

Mr. John J. Mahern and Miss Celia A. Reade will be united in marriage on Sept. 17. Congratulations.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

We have had the JOURNAL office painted and slicked up in fine style lately. It attracts a great deal of attention.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Lord visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonald at their home at Groveton, N. H.

Capt. J. M. Ellis spends Sunday with his family at their cottage, Nahant, Mass. E. F. Hayward visited them last Sunday.

Mrs. E. H. Hobbs and her daughter Mabel of Portland, Maine, have been visiting the Editor's family this week.

Miss Flossie Morse and Miss Minnie Simonds are on their vacation and at last accounts were having a royal good time.

The annual meeting of Young Men's Christian Association was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. James W. McDonald, the old Woburn piano tuner, and party have got back from their vacation in New Hampshire.

Since our last issue the weather has been remarkably cool for the time year. A frost was feared Tuesday night but failed to come.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have returned to their pleasant home No. 2 Auburn street after a very satisfactory summer vacation.

Mrs. B. T. H. Porter and wife have got back from their summer out and are now trying hard to rest up and get ready for fall's work.

This Representative District is No. 28 if we have got the figures right. Heretofore it has been 14, but the new districting changed it.

Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green st., Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—t.

Mr. Benjamin S. Hinckley, a student in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been trying bookselling during the vacation with fair success.

Mr. J. W. Hammond will please accept our thanks for copies of the Saratogian. He and Mrs. Hammond have been visiting that famous summer resort.

Miss Clara Ryder, a post office clerk, and a good one, is taking her vacation down on the Cape. She is a native of that part of the Commonwealth.

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Kenney, wife of Mr. Edward W. Kenney, who died at their home on Winn street on Sept. 1, took place yesterday at St. Charles church and was attended by a numerous gathering of people.

High respect was paid to her worth and memory in floral offerings and otherwise, for she was a good wife, mother and friend.

Miss Alice Josephine Lang announces the opening of her fall term of teaching the piano in this paper.

Large classes and perfect satisfaction are Miss Lang's recommendations, and no better could be presented. She never lacks for pupils, and no complaints are ever heard from them or their parents, and these credentials insure public favor.

Edward H. Lounsherry, Esq., returned last Monday from vacation with Mr. Elwyn G. Preston. Their outing was spent in a secluded New Hampshire nook, at a lakeside, amid pines, rocks, and glorious sunsets, and on Tuesday both gentlemen took up again the threads of busy life, as usual.

Lawyer Lounsherry went to work. Lawyer Lounsherry is a candidate for the Legislature this fall, so we are told, and will make a square, standup, vigorous fight for the Republican nomination. He is "sound corn" all the way through and his competitors will have to hustle, to get up early of mornings, to beat him.

Towanda Cycle Club will make its appearance at the Wachusett, Sept. 5, 6, 7; Nonumbega Tower, Waltham, 8; Moonlight run to Forest Grove, Waltham, 16; Century run to Plymouth, 20; Lake Canobie and Windham, N. H., 27. Says Capt. Leath.

Mr. Olson advertises for sale a large lot of nearly new household furniture.

Capt. E. F. Wyer has had a touch of the prevailing ailment, malaria, lately.

Rev. L. G. Walden is employed in the mailing department of the Youth's Companion during week and preaches in Boston Sundays. He thinks of moving into the city soon.

Rev. D. Scudder will finish his vacation this week and occupy the pulpit of the First Congregational church next Sunday. We hear that rest and change of air have cured him of malaria.

Mrs. W. S. Whitford arrived home from Hyannis last Monday after a month's tarry down there. On that quiet old town Mrs. Whitford writes: "I think it would be hard to find a cooler or more delightful place for an all round good time than Hyannis," and her testimony is in accord with that of all who spend the hot weather there. She enjoyed her outing much.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brauer of 29 Eastern ave., a snug nice home it is, raise not only the finest asters and the most of them of anybody else here about, but cultivate with success some choice vegetables on their little patch of land of the excellent quality of which we have had the best of proof.

German thrift is bound to show itself wherever a German is found, and Mr. and Mrs. Brauer's home is a proof of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gowling of this city attended a reunion of the descendants of Robert Gowling at Wilmington last Friday with about 125 others of the family. The meeting was at the ancestral home now 125 years old, and it was a good one. Mr. Fred Gowling, who is Leader of Gowling's Orchestra in this city, and wife enlivened the occasion with some fine music. He was also elected a member of the Executive Committee. The reunion will be held at Wilmington next year.

Mrs. Emma H. Wright contemplates a visit to Buzzards Bay soon. She is not in the best physical trim, the intensely hot spell of last month having been rather more than she could stand up under.

Mrs. Webster, wife of Mr. A. N. Webster, merchant, has gone to Chicago to visit her sister, Mrs. Harry Slack. She has not yet fully recovered her health and it was through the trip and visit would do her good.

Mr. Curtis Greenwood has got back from N. H., where he passed the last half of his vacation.

Dog days end to-morrow, Sept. 5. To an elderly person they would seem to have only just begun.

Read the advertisement of a cooking range for sale, and then repair to 14 Church ave. and buy it.

Mr. Charles H. Taylor, Pleasant st., has all the orders for pictures that can attend to and more too.

Mr. Charles Carter will leave for Dartmouth College on Sept. 12, and resume work on the 17.

Take notice, gents, of the advertisement of the Registrars of Voters and govern yourselves accordingly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brooks have returned home from the White Mts where they enjoyed a fine vacation.

Mr. John J. Mahern and Miss Celia A. Reade will be united in marriage on Sept. 17. Congratulations.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

We have had the JOURNAL office painted and slicked up in fine style lately. It attracts a great deal of attention.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Lord visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonald at their home at Groveton, N. H.

Capt. J. M. Ellis spends Sunday with his family at their cottage, Nahant, Mass. E. F. Hayward visited them last Sunday.

Mrs. E. H. Hobbs and her daughter Mabel of Portland, Maine, have been visiting the Editor's family this week.

Miss Flossie Morse and Miss Minnie Simonds are on their vacation and at last accounts were having a royal good time.

The annual meeting of Young Men's Christian Association was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have got back from their vacation in New Hampshire.

Since our last issue the weather has been remarkably cool for the time year. A frost was feared Tuesday night but failed to come.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have returned to their pleasant home No. 2 Auburn street after a very satisfactory summer vacation.

Mr. Wesley Wentworth, Superintendent of the Lowell Suburban Street Railroad, formerly Superintendent of the East Middlesex Road, visited Sup. Winslow of the N. W. S. R., Mr. Gilman F. Jones, and the JOURNAL office, last Wednesday. He was looking prime, but wants a farm bad.

Mrs. E. B. Bridgeman and her sister Mabel of Portland, Maine, have been visiting the Editor's family this week.

Miss Flossie Morse and Miss Minnie Simonds are on their vacation and at last accounts were having a royal good time.

The annual meeting of Young Men's Christian Association was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have got back from their vacation in New Hampshire.

Since our last issue the weather has been remarkably cool for the time year. A frost was feared Tuesday night but failed to come.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have returned to their pleasant home No. 2 Auburn street after a very satisfactory summer vacation.

Mr. Wesley Wentworth, Superintendent of the Lowell Suburban Street Railroad, formerly Superintendent of the East Middlesex Road, visited Sup. Winslow of the N. W. S. R., Mr. Gilman F. Jones, and the JOURNAL office, last Wednesday. He was looking prime, but wants a farm bad.

Mrs. E. B. Bridgeman and her sister Mabel of Portland, Maine, have been visiting the Editor's family this week.

Miss Flossie Morse and Miss Minnie Simonds are on their vacation and at last accounts were having a royal good time.

The annual meeting of Young Men's Christian Association was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Sept. 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have got back from their vacation in New Hampshire.

Since our last issue the weather has been remarkably cool for the time year. A frost was feared Tuesday night but failed to come.

Mr. John S. Trull and family have returned to their pleasant home No. 2 Auburn street after a very satisfactory summer vacation.

Mr. Wesley Wentworth, Superintendent of the Lowell Suburban Street Railroad, formerly Superintendent of the East Middlesex Road, visited Sup. Winslow of the N. W. S. R., Mr. Gilman F. Jones, and the JOURNAL office, last Wednesday. He was looking prime, but wants a farm bad.

Mrs. E. B

Should be Looked Into.
THOROUGH INVESTIGATION REQUESTED.

A BOLD ASSERTION.

Ever since Prof. Koch started the world to promising to cure consumption with the Koch lymph and his complete failure to do so, the people have been looking for some discovery which would give them a certain cure for that dread disease. Over a quarter of a century ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, then practicing medicine in the Hotel and Sanitarium Institute, claimed a claim for a medicine, which he had discovered and used in his extensive practice, that would cure the "Golden Sickness" in its early stages. Time has proved that his assertion was based on facts gained from experience. His claim was denied by the medical men, many thousand people in all parts of the world, and Dr. Pierce invites all interested to send him a free sample which gives the name, address, and postage, to many prominent people who have willingly testified to the marvelous curative properties of his "Golden Discovery." He has also written a book of two volumes, profusely illustrated, which treats of Throat, Bronchial and Lung diseases, also Asthma and Cough, entitled "FREE by the World's Dispensary Medical Association," N.Y., on receipt of twenty-one (21) cents in stamps, to pay postage and wrapping only. Cough, colds, rheumatism, etc., are first manifested by fever, violent loss of strength, emaciation; then local symptoms soon develop, as cough, difficult breathing, blisters on the skin, when investigation proves that tubercular lesions have formed in the lungs. It is earnestly advised that the "Discovery" be taken in the earlier stages of the disease, can thereby arrest the further progress of the disease.

To build up solid flesh and strength after the grip, shiver, fever ("lung fever"), exhaustion, debility, and other diseases, it has no equal. It does not make fat like cod liver oil and its many compounds, but, solid, wholesome flesh.

SOUND MONEY DEMOCRACY OF MASSACHUSETTS.

A LIST OF PROMINENT ADHERENTS.

At the convention of the Sound Money Democracy of Massachusetts held at Horticultural Hall, Boston, Aug. 25, a platform was adopted as follows:

The Democratic party during its whole history has been pledged to promote the security, the rights of individuals and private property, the rights of labor, and to combat against favored classes, the supremacy of the law, and economy in the operation of government in the people's interest.

The Democratic party has always stood for a sound and stable currency for the general benefit of the people, and not of a section or class.

It has ever insisted that the financial honor of the nation, as well as the integrity of the institutions established by the constitution, should be preserved in full.

The delegates to the convention at Cleveland, abandoned the long tried and essential principles of our old Democracy, and adopted a platform embodying views new and radical, and destructive to the welfare of our citizens, imperiling the life of our country, its government, and limiting the honor of the United States among the nations of the world.

The Chicago convention, having failed in its attempt to bring about a platform absolutely at variance with the past platforms of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, and the nation, has incurred the responsibility of the Democrats of the commonwealth of Massachusetts to assemble again in convention to reaffirm the ancient principles of the Democratic party, and to recommit themselves to a new convention of the Democrats of the United States and the world.

Therefore, we Democrats of Massachusetts, in convention assembled, hereby reaffirm and recommit ourselves, and to nominate candidates representing the cardinal principles of the Democratic party. In violation of the trust committed to their charge, the delegates there assembled, against the protest of one-third of the convention, repudiated the Democratic administration, and elected Grover Cleveland, abandoned the long tried and essential principles of our old Democracy, and adopted a platform embodying views new and radical, destructive to the welfare of the people, and of a section or class.

It has ever insisted that the financial honor of the nation, as well as the integrity of the institutions established by the constitution, should be preserved in full.

We oppose the attack upon the action of the national administration at the time of the Chicago riots.

We oppose the attempt to restrict the rights of the colored race.

We reaffirm our confidence and pride in the firmness, courage and patriotism of the administration of Grover Cleveland, and our sympathy with the difficulties brought about by past errors of Republics legislation, has heroically maintained the honor and integrity of the nation.

We repudiate the actions of the Chicago convention as revolutionary.

We repudiate the Chicago platform as unconstitutional.

We deny the right of the Populist-dominated party to represent the Democracy of the United States, and we call on all Democrats who still believe in the principles of our own party, to present another platform to the benefit of the people of Massachusetts to support the action of the approaching national convention.

Twenty delegates at large, and thirty alternates were elected to attend the convention of the National Democratic party at Indianapolis on Tuesday, Sept. 2. The following is a partial list of the thousands of distinguished persons from all parts of the state who gave their adherence to the cause of the Populists.

Honest Money.

Gordon, Abbott, Boston; Charles E. Adams, 2d, Quincy; John Adams, Holden; Allen Adams, Spencer; Harry F. Adams, Boston; George Allen, Providence; Allen G. Alley, Chelsea; Gardner W. Allen, Somerville; Frank Allen, Worcester; Edward P. Allen, Melrose; Charles F. Aldrich, Worcester; Henry M. Aldrich, Boston; Enos Arnold, Quincy; Zenas S. Arnold, Quincy; Russell J. Armstrong, Somerville; B. D. Allen, West Roxbury; James A. Anderson, Brookline; O. H. Atchison, Boston; Napoleon Aubertin, Holyoke; Willard B. Avery, Boston; Charles J. Barton, Melrose; R. P. Barry, Melrose; Roland M. Baker, Medford; James C. Barr, Boston; F. C. Bangs, Boston; Walter H. Baker, Boston; James Bartley, Somerville; Jacob A. Barber, Jr., Woburn; Charles Baker, Woburn; Robert T. Babson, Gloucester; George D. Bates, Athol; Thomas J. Baldwin, Boston; L. W. Baldwin, Easthampton; Harry H. Barrett, Malden; J. G. Barton, North Attleboro; George F. Babbitt, Boston; Newton; John Boardman, Concord; E. P. Boynton, West Abington; John M. Bonnett, North Attleboro; William A. Bock, North Cambridge; Hon. Albert C. Bowes, Boston; James W. Bond, Boston; John B. Boland, Boston; John B. Bond, North Woburn; G. Loring Briggs, Brooklyn; Louis D. Brandies, Boston; E. P. Brown, Palmer; B. D. Bradford, Boston; E. Lyman Brown, Boston; Henry P. Brown, Nantucket; Edward G. Brown, Boston; George C. Brown, Cambridge; C. F. Briggs, Andover; Edwin C. Brown, West Yarmouth; G. Bradford, Boston; Charles H. Brooks, Boston; W. W. Brown, West Acton; Clifford Brigham, Salem; H. Brightman, New Bedford; C. C. Buttrick, Brockton; John C. Buttress, Leominster; Samuel L. Buttiglione, Concord; Samuel L. Buffington, Swanzy; C. Bullock, Worcester; Joseph Burr, Boston; W. F. Buffum, Boston; E. Burnett, Southboro; Arthur F. Butterworth, Brookline; Chas. R. Burleigh, Fitchburg; William J. Burnham, Boston; George C. Burns, Ware; C. E. Byrnes, Somerville; Clarence W. Carter, Boston; Francis Campbell, Cambridge; L. E. Carpenter, Foxboro; C. A. Carpenter, Spencer; A. H. H. Carpenter, Middleboro; Charles H. Carpenter, Maynard; Charles C. Carr, Norwell; W. G. Carter, Braintree; H. Carter, Wakefield; Hugh Cary, Boston; Eugene M. Cashman, Chelsea; C. P. Carpenter, Spencer; H. H. Carter, Boston; George R. Chase, Medfield; Charles F. Chamblayne, Bourne; Herman W. Chapman, Dedham; Charles C. Chapman, Boston; E. H. Child, Dorchester; W. W. Chinaman, Middleboro; George F. Chenevix, Boston; N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell, Paxton; Henry B. Cabot, Brookline; Theodore M. Clarke, Boston; Charles M. Clapp, Boston; C. Rogers Clapp, Boston; Joseph W. Clark, Boston; George C. Cleary, Cambridge; H. C. Collier, Boston; W. C. Coffin, N. Newbury; Henry J. Correll, Boston; S. Haraser, W. M. Chase, Merrimac; E. N. Child, Boston; Allan J. Chase, Boston; N. Child, Worcester; Frank H. Chamberlin, Hudson; A. W. Chappell,

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.

Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.

For Vice President of the United States.

Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The Republicans of this city are notified to meet at their respective Wardrooms on Wednesday evening, Sept. 16, 1896, to elect delegates to the State and all other conventions except the Representative. A full attendance is requested.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Republicans of the Middlesex-Essex Senatorial District will hold a convention at Wakefield, at 4 P.M., Sept. 21, to nominate a candidate for State Senator.

FOR COUNCILLOR.

Recently the Republican City Committee of Beverly held a meeting at which Hon. Francis Norwood was unanimously recommended and endorsed for the office of Councillor for this District. Their action was favorably received by prominent men in the different cities and towns and we now learn that his nomination by a large majority is as good as settled.

We enjoy but personal acquaintance with Mr. Norwood but learn from his Beverly neighbors that those well acquainted with him that he is a gentleman in every respect worthy of the honor which the Republican party of the District propose to confer on him. He was born at Rockport on Cape Ann, about 55 years ago, moved to Beverly when young where since arriving of age he has been a large shoe manufacturer and successful business man.

Mr. Norwood was State Senator from Essex county in 1881, re-elected in 1882, and declined the urgent solicitations of the party to stand for a third term. He is a true blue Republican and always has been. He is clean, well educated, intelligent, and will make an excellent Councillor.

We understand that the Republicans of Woburn are practically a unit in their support of Mr. Harwood as Hon. John M. Harlow's successor. Mr. Atherton of Saugus whose candidacy is not taken very seriously in the District is Mr. Harwood's only opponent (if he can be regarded as such) which gives the Beverly gentleman a field nearly all to himself. In the late organization of political districts in the State Mr. Atherton with our Senator Burns and others opposed and thwarted the plans of the Woburn Republicans on which account if for no other he could not reasonably expect help from them in his candidacy for the Councillorship. And he will not get any.

The JOURNAL cordially joins the Republicans of this city and District in their support of Mr. Norwood, whose nomination and election no one acquainted with the situation doubts for a moment.

MR. ALVA S. WOOD.

Three or four years ago when Mr. Alva S. Wood was solicited by leading Republicans to accept a nomination for Representative to the Legislature business engagements compelled him to decline to allow the use of his name. It was believed that he would make an exceptionally strong candidate at the polls and if elected it was conceded on all sides that the District would be wouthily represented, but he was unable to accept the honor.

This year Mr. Wood is a candidate for the position. He has now no business connections to interfere with his candidacy. Prominent Republicans have urged him to run and he is squarely in the race with an excellent prospect of winning it.

Who and what Mr. Alva S. Wood is needs no explanation from us. He was born, raised and has always lived in Woburn. He comes of a Revolutionary stock and is proud of the part taken by his ancestors in securing independence for the American Colonies. He is intelligent, well educated, and a polished gentleman. No one takes a deeper interest in the welfare of Woburn than Mr. Wood. No Representative would watch those interests in the Legislature more carefully than he.

Mr. Wood is highly respected by his fellow citizens. None were heard to sayught against him. His character is above reproach.

Many of the strongest Republicans in the city have enlisted in behalf of Mr. Wood's cause and they believe he will easily secure the nomination.

CRANE AHEAD.

It is said and looks very much as if it were true that the Lieutenant Governor race is going, Mr. Crane's way with a rush. Mr. Winslow is all the same as out of it. The collapse of his boom seems strange considering the amount of gas that was put into it and the fuss he has made over it. His character is above reproach.

Many of the strongest Republicans in the city have enlisted in behalf of Mr. Wood's cause and they believe he will easily secure the nomination.

Hon. Rufus R. Wade, Chief of the Massachusetts District Police, one of the most faithful officers in the public service, was re-elected President of the National Association of Factory Inspectors at a meeting of the Association held at Toronto, Canada, last week. No worthy man to fill the honorable position could have been elected.

The Democrats will hold caucuses for the selection of delegates to the several Democratic conventions, except the Representative, this evening, Sept. 11.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Assignees-Auction.

J. A. West-Stayed.

J. A. Turner-Mort. Sale.

F. A. Locke piano tuner. See adv.

Read the advertisement "Can Strayed" in this paper.

Mrs. Everett P. Fox has recovered from a severe attack of malarial fever.

Mrs. F. B. Woodward, and daughter are visiting in New Hampshire.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathes, 425 Main street.

A gang of railroad men worked all Tuesday night on the Main street crossing.

The family of Capt. J. M. Ellis have returned from their summer home at Nahant.

Our clergymen were all back from their vacations and occupied their pulpits last Sunday.

Mr. E. F. Hayward left here last Wednesday for Franklin, Vt., on business for Capt. Jacob M. Ellis.

Mrs. George H. Newhall of Sedgewick Park left this city last Tuesday for New Hampshire.

A necktie for one dollar and a dollar buck is what Richardson offers. See their show window for particulars.

Mrs. Mary Plannett and her nieces Miss Bertha Smith have returned from their summer vacation in N. H.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The melody of the staved church choir was heard again in this city last Sunday. It seemed like a resumption of fall business.

Early Wednesday morning, a dwellinghouse belonging to Angus Mc Kay Gregg st. was burned. The loss was about $500.

Mr. Milton Moore, of Moore & Parker, news dealers, Mrs. Moore and Miss Mabel Moore went to Little John's Island, Casco Bay, last Friday.

Charles R. Rosengquist, 36 Green St. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—tf.

A large delegation of Relief Corps 84 visited the Everett Corps last Monday evening. They were cordially received and handsomely entertained.

Mrs. Patrick Smith and Mrs. Katie Keefe of South Boston were guests of Mr. Thomas D. Hevey, of the Overseer of the Poor, and his sister, last week.

On last Monday evening Rebekah Degree Lodge gave a very nice entertainment, of which they are abundantly capable. The Rebekahs here are flourishing.

Mr. James McGrath, the well known merchant, and Mrs. McGrath went to New York City last Saturday on business. They expected to be away 10 days.

Geo. S. Hudson, the accomplished all round newspaper man, has returned from the Cape where he has been serving the Herold with great acceptance all summer.

At a called meeting of the Aldermen the petition of the Woburn & Reading Street Railroad Company (published with order in last week's JOURNAL) were granted.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Albert D. Williams was observed at the home of Mrs. F. W. Clemson, her mother, last week. It was a pleasant occasion for a large gathering.

A large number of visiting Good Templars were guests of the local Lodge last Monday evening at Mechanics Church by Rev. James Gilday at 10 o'clock, Sept. 17, 1896.

It rained powerfully all last Sunday, and at intervals the downpour was accompanied with thunder and lightning. The rain was greatly needed for the ground had become very dry.

Mr. Thomas Salmon has been taking his vacation at St. Johns, N. B. He'll find a pretty kettle of fish politically when he gets back. "When the cat's away the mice will play."

Miss M. M. Jameson, the accomplished and very successful Musical Instructor in our public schools, will entertain the Alpine Quartet of this city at her home in Quincy this evening.

The burning out of a dynamo several days ago at the Electric Light works deprived a part of the city of lights on several nights and the railroads of power. The matter has been remedied.

The Mexican dollars in Richardsons window attracted so much of a crowd last Saturday night that a policeman was necessary to clear the sidewalk. Incidentally Richardson sold a big lot of neckwear.

Mr. Charles R. Rosengquist placed under obligations to him last Wednesday by fetching to this office a lovely bouquet of flowers plucked from his garden for which we return thanks. It was a big and beautiful one.

The concert given for the benefit of the Scandinavian Evangelical Free church at the Congregational church Sunday evening was a grand one, but the attendance was not what it ought to have been. The singing was splendidly preserved.

Hon. Rufus R. Wade, Chief of the Massachusetts District Police, one of the most faithful officers in the public service, was re-elected President of the National Association of Factory Inspectors at a meeting of the Association held at Toronto, Canada, last week. No worthy man to fill the honorable position could have been elected.

The Democrats will hold caucuses for the selection of delegates to the several Democratic conventions, except the Representative, this evening, Sept. 11.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

Assignees-Auction.

J. A. West-Stayed.

J. A. Turner-Mort. Sale.

F. A. Locke piano tuner. See adv.

Read the advertisement "Can Strayed" in this paper.

Mrs. Everett P. Fox has recovered from a severe attack of malarial fever.

Mrs. F. B. Woodward, and daughter are visiting in New Hampshire.

A Workingman's Solid Leather Shoe for $1 at Leathes, 425 Main street.

A gang of railroad men worked all Tuesday night on the Main street crossing.

The family of Capt. J. M. Ellis have returned from their summer home at Nahant.

Our clergymen were all back from their vacations and occupied their pulpits last Sunday.

Mr. E. F. Hayward left here last Wednesday for Franklin, Vt., on business for Capt. Jacob M. Ellis.

Mrs. George H. Newhall of Sedgewick Park left this city last Tuesday for New Hampshire.

A necktie for one dollar and a dollar buck is what Richardson offers. See their show window for particulars.

Mrs. Mary Plannett and her nieces Miss Bertha Smith have returned from their summer vacation in N. H.

For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

The melody of the staved church choir was heard again in this city last Sunday. It seemed like a resumption of fall business.

Early Wednesday morning, a dwellinghouse belonging to Angus Mc Kay Gregg st. was burned. The loss was about $500.

Mr. Milton Moore, of Moore & Parker, news dealers, Mrs. Moore and Miss Mabel Moore went to Little John's Island, Casco Bay, last Friday.

Charles R. Rosengquist, 36 Green St. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—tf.

A large delegation of Relief Corps 84 visited the Everett Corps last Monday evening. They were cordially received and handsomely entertained.

Mrs. Patrick Smith and Mrs. Katie Keefe of South Boston were guests of Mr. Thomas D. Hevey, of the Overseer of the Poor, and his sister, last week.

On last Monday evening Rebekah Degree Lodge gave a very nice entertainment, of which they are abundantly capable. The Rebekahs here are flourishing.

Mr. James McGrath, the well known merchant, and Mrs. McGrath went to New York City last Saturday on business. They expected to be away 10 days.

Geo. S. Hudson, the accomplished all round newspaper man, has returned from the Cape where he has been serving the Herold with great acceptance all summer.

At a called meeting of the Aldermen the petition of the Woburn & Reading Street Railroad Company (published with order in last week's JOURNAL) were granted.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Albert D. Williams was observed at the home of Mrs. F. W. Clemson, her mother, last week. It was a pleasant occasion for a large gathering.

A large number of visiting Good Templars were guests of the local Lodge last Monday evening at Mechanics Church by Rev. James Gilday at 10 o'clock, Sept. 17, 1896.

It rained powerfully all last Sunday, and at intervals the downpour was accompanied with thunder and lightning. The rain was greatly needed for the ground had become very dry.

Mr. Thomas Salmon has been taking his vacation at St. Johns, N. B. He'll find a pretty kettle of fish politically when he gets back. "When the cat's away the mice will play."

Miss M. M. Jameson, the accomplished and very successful Musical Instructor in our public schools, will entertain the Alpine Quartet of this city at her home in Quincy this evening.

Last Monday Mr. Forest Hooper, plumber, was clean out of patience. In the afternoon he scoured this town more than two hours to find some official of the Water Board, but in vain. A water pipe had burst in one of the houses in Winn Park and flooded the house the worst way. Hooper could find neither the Superintendent nor a chart to enable him to locate the trouble which was in the cellar and if he got out of patience it was not to be wondered at.

The young people who were prominent at the birthday celebration of Mr. William H. Hartwell at the home of his parents on Pleasant street last week were: Misses Clara and Lilla Hartwell of Bedford, Misses Florence Hartwell, M. Alice Heavey, Bertha Tidd, Cora Buxton, Jennie Childs, Mabel and Lucia Patten; Messrs. Wm. W., Ernest and Edward Hartwell, Lewis and Joseph Patten, Frank W. French, Harry Parker, Peter Miller and Frank H. Smith. It was one of the most delightful parties of the season.

Mr. Waterman Brown has the ball that was fired from a canon by the Lexington Artillery on May 7, 1830, on the Dea. Wyman plain at Central Square, and is proud to exhibit it to people curious in such matters. The ball was unsuccessfully fired by William Thompson at a target near the Middlesex Canal. The ball struck the ground short of the mark, bounded and struck Rag Rock, and from there sailed into General Thompson's garden on Pleasant street, where it was recovered and conveyed back to the Wyman Plain. Mr. Brown secured and has owned it ever since. The Lexington Artillery was a famous Military Company 65 and 70 years ago. Many Woburn men were members of it, and its annual musters were frequently held at Central Square. The ball which the old Historian has at the Church Aves. R. crossing is a relic worthy of being carefully preserved.

Mr. Charles R. Rosengquist placed under obligations to him last Wednesday by fetching to this office a lovely bouquet of flowers plucked from his garden for which we return thanks. It was a big and beautiful one.

The concert given for the benefit of the Scandinavian Evangelical Free church at the Congregational church Sunday evening was a grand one, but the attendance was not what it ought to have been. The singing was splendidly preserved.

The Republicans will hold a convention at Huntington Hall in Lowell at 11 o'clock in the forenoon on Thursday, Sept. 24, to nominate a candidate to represent the 5th District in the next Congress.

Of course the present member, Hon. W. S. Knox, will be nominated by acclamation, and triumphantly elected on Nov. 3.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The Republicans will hold a convention at Huntington Hall in Lowell at 11 o'clock in the forenoon on Thursday, Sept. 24, to nominate a candidate to represent the 5th District in the next Congress.

The Republicans of this city are notified to meet at their respective Wardrooms on Wednesday evening, Sept. 16, 1896, to elect delegates to the State and all other conventions except the Representative. A full attendance is requested.

The Reading Chronicle announces that the electric car fare between that town and Wilmington has been reduced to five cents and praises Col. Woodward for the favor. That makes the fare from Woburn to Lowell via Reading on the electric 25 cents—cheap enough.

— Miss Clara M. Ryder, postoffice clerk, a prime favorite, returned to her post of duty from Barnstable, her native home, last Wednesday, and immediately proceeded to illuminate the old quarters with her smiles. Mr. Hagerty, P. M., warmly welcomed her back.

— Principal Owen of the High School was observed on our streets last Saturday which suggested to the observer that the summer is over and gone. Principal O. looked as though the vacation had been beneficial to him and that a return to hard work would not hurt him.

— Mr. Frank E. Leslie will on Oct. 1 enter on his duties of Hospital Steward at the Soldiers Home in Chelsea, for which position he was chosen out of 14 applicants. He has been a trusted clerk at Gordon Parker's drug store 3 years, and is a worthy and capable young man.

— We glean from "The weekly calendar" of the Orthodox church, and here mention it with pride, that Mr. Marcus H. Cotton filled the office of "Precentor" at that church during the summer vacation just closed, and that the compiler of the "calendar" was grateful for the services."

— After putting in a good season's work on his North Conway farm, Superintendent Emerson reached here a few days ago and at once began to prepare for the reopening of the schools next Monday. He enjoyed his vacation among the hills and valleys, hills, in the buckles and blackberry bushes, on the farm, and with friends, very much.

— Mr. Leon L. Dorr, head salesman at Copeland & Bowser's dry goods store on Main st., got back from Maine last Tuesday morning. He visited the New England Fair at Portland, the Androscoggin County Fair, and spent considerable of his vacation at Turner up on the Androscoggin River, his former home, he was away two weeks and enjoyed his outing very much.

— The Republican Ward and City Committee have placed an illuminated lantern of large size with a fine portrait of McKinley on one side and of Emerson on the other in front of his Headquarters in Buckman Block. It is lighted by electricity and is a conspicuous sight on the street.

— For thorough, reliable and first-class piano tuning, no one stands higher in his profession than Frank A. Locke.

— The melody of the staved church choir was heard again in this city last Sunday. It seemed like a resumption of

THE DELINEATOR

for September is the finest number yet issued of this great Fashionable Magazine. It is the herald of Autumn Styles, and contains no less than nine beautiful colored plates of Fashions and Millinery in lithograph, half-tone and olograph effects. Nothing like it has ever been attempted before, and at its subscription price of $1.00 a year it is more than ever a marvel. Copies for sale and subscriptions taken by

COPELAND & BOWSER.

355 MAIN STREET.

Attracting!

Do you want rings? Admire them? Know beautiful ones when you see them? Appreciate the beauty of style and grade of settings? Are you one who admires chaste diamonds or plain gold? We have a most complete line of beautiful and attractive jewelry.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

400 Main Street, Woburn.

South Berwick, Me.

Telephone, 4-3.

G. R. GAGE & CO.

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street.

JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S

Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED

By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience. Boston College, A. D. Davis, Piano Rooms, 179 Tremont St., Woburn, Mass. 10c. 1000 cases of Stock, 37 Main Street. Prices the same as other first-class tuners. Refers to any person in Woburn.

We are Selling a Regular 50c. Corset for 39c.

Our regular BV Corset for 50 cents is an exceptionally good quality. We have a good line of Ladies' and Children's Hose in prices from 5 cents a pair up. If you are going to have a fall dress you had better call and see how nice you can have the skirt made for $2.00. We sell a nice lined Skirt for $2.00.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St., - - - WOBURN.

Plumbing Plumbing

I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal attention to all jobs, I guarantee to do my work at lowest possible prices.

Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT,

Main St.

CITY OF WOBURN.

Collector's Sale

—OF—

Real Estate for Non-Payment of Taxes.

WOBURN, MASS., August 31, 1896.

The owners of the following described parcels of real estate will be offered for sale by the office of the Collector of Taxes of the City of Woburn, for the year 1894, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes of City of Woburn, by the Assessors of Woburn, for the amount of taxes due and unpaid, and that parcels of real estate will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of the Collector of Taxes of the City of Woburn, on Saturday, September 26, 1896, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the Woburn Common, between Foster and Church Streets, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, from October 15, 1894, together with costs and charges incurred.

The sum against which the debts are assessed will be the amount of each of said estates is to be paid, not including costs and expenses, interest, and costs and charges incident to this sale.

Ward 3.

SARAH A. HILL.—About 4 acres and 75 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, on the northwesterly side of Vermont street, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JAMES L. HARDING.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the corner of Foster and Church Streets, westward from the point of beginning.

Tax of 1894.

JOHN L. HARDING & WILLIAM A. CONGDON.—About 5500 square feet of land, situated in said Woburn, bounded as follows, viz.—Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Vermont street, 500 feet southerly from the town line, thence easterly to land of Foster; thence easterly to the old line dividing the town of Stoneham and the City of Woburn; thence easterly to land of Heirs of Lather Hill; thence northerly to Vermont street, westward from the

HOUSEKEEPERS

who are delicate, run down or infirm, those who suffer from backache, neuralgia, dragging-down sensations in the abdomen and many other symptoms of derangement of the female functions can find improved strength and health by taking Dr. Pierce's "Prescription." For the pains and aches of periods of melancholy and sleeplessness—nothing can you so much prevent as his valuable "Prescription." You save the doctor's fee, as well as your money, by purchasing this "Prescription" of Dr. R. V. Pierce, after a great many years and specialist to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., made a specialty of diseases of women, and from his large experience has compounded a "Prescription" which acted directly upon the sexual internal parts of women. It does not cost you anything to write him, it will cost you nothing. A great Doctor Book of 1000 pages, published by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, New York, contains women. Mailed free, receipt of 21cts in stamps to cover postage and wrapping only.

When women are afflicted with nervous irritability, heart palpitation, exhaustion, and sleeplessness, in nine cases out of ten the source of the trouble is some displacement, irregularity or derangement of the spinal internal parts. Dr. Pierce's "Prescription" cures such cases as well as that distressing inernal discharge from the mucous membrane, inflammation and ulceration.

Brooklyn, Jackson Co., Mich.

Comments.—I have found Dr. Pierce's most valuable medicine has cured me of female weakness and a catarrhal discharge from the lungs, more severe than I ever suffered for years with pain in my back, never a night was I free. I am now regaining my strength with Dr. Pierce's "Prescription." I could not sleep on a mattress; it seemed as though it would burn me. Dr. Pierce's medicine I can sleep anywhere; I am perfectly well! I would not be placed in my former condition for any money. I created yours,

Mrs. J. H. Parker

SHE WAS RESCUED.THIS IS THE THRILLING BUT TRUTHFUL TALE OF A BUCKET.

It Was No Ordinary, Old Oaken, Iron Bound, Moss Covered Bucket—It Came Into the Play Because Miss Sadie Objected to Being Called "Dead Slow."

This is the tale of a bucket.

Incidentally, it is a tale of daring, of beauty in peril, of bitter tears, of manly endeavor, of heroic rescue, of thanksgiving for dangers past.

It was no ordinary bucket, no moss covered bucket, no old oaken bucket that hung by the well. It was a bucket of distinction, a bucket of parts, a bucket of illimitable hospitality and inherent beneficence. Whatever its ostensible raison d'être, there are many who will see in this the Cavalier Bayard of buckets, a manifestation of the finger of Providence, many who will swear that it was fashioned by fate for the succor of a beleaguered damsels. Whereof the story followeth:

"Twas July 23, and quite soft were the skies, while it might be inferred that Sadie Meyerfriend was likewise. While the meter's as rough as the rocks Sadie scaled on her road toward the skies.

Miss Meyerfriend was from Oakland, Fellow tourists, a dozen or so, were from San Francisco. To seek to probe a woman's motives may be both folly and presumption, but one is bound to take cognizance of important facts. Importtant fact No. 1 in the tale of a bucket is that Miss Meyerfriend overheard a young man in the party hazard the opinion that Oakland girls were "dead slow." Importtant fact No. 2 is that immediately thereafter Miss Meyerfriend hazarded the fact which made her famous, and without which this tale of a bucket would never be written. Let us, therefore, draw our inference from this conjunction of circumstances.

They had left Skaggs' Springs, these happy tourists, for a tramp through the mountains. They had just arrived at the base of Major's rock when the ill advised San Franciscan made his remark about Oakland girls being "dead slow." Miss Meyerfriend's eyes shot fire as they traveled to the summit of the rock, which towers skyward 100 feet like a huge monolith.

"Let's climb to the top," she said, darting at the detractor of Oakland girlhood a glance which said "darn't" as plainly as words.

The young man looked dubiously at the forbidding crag, but his pride forbade him to weaken, and he responded:

"Let's."

And the rest of the party echoed "Let's" in varying moods and tones of relief.

The Oakland girl led the way. With the agility of a chamois and the determination of the young man who bore mid snow and ice a banner with the strange device "Excalibur," she bounded to the lownest ledge and began to climb. The flippant young man followed her. The rest compromised by looking on and uttering words of encouragement.

"Let's climb to the top," she said, darting at the detractor of Oakland girlhood a glance which said "darn't" as plainly as words.

The young man looked dubiously at the forbidding crag, but his pride forbade him to weaken, and he responded:

"Let's."

And the rest of the party echoed "Let's" in varying moods and tones of relief.

The Oakland girl led the way. With the agility of a chamois and the determination of the young man who bore mid snow and ice a banner with the strange device "Excalibur," she bounded to the lownest ledge and began to climb. The flippant young man followed her. The rest compromised by looking on and uttering words of encouragement:

"Oh! Oh-h-h-can't get down—some of you—rip me—I'll die of fright—rip I do something—Boohoo-hoo!"

Half a dozen men sprang to scale the rock, but their strength was not equal to the task. Messengers were sent post-haste to the hotel at Skaggs' Springs, but that meant delay, and meanwhile Miss Meyerfriend of Oakland was wringing her hands and declaring that she would die of hunger and exposure even if she were not dashed to pieces from the summit.

Ropes and ladders came from the hotel, and then came the laborious work of digging holes in the rock and fastening ladders where they would do the most good. By this time, however, Sadie Meyerfriend was in a collapse, and could do nothing to aid in her own rescue.

In this emergency the bucket arrived.

It was hopeless to tell where the bucket was found or who found it. You would not go about the house in your shirt sleeves. People will think your father worked for a living."

"They won't think when they know his son,"—Detroit Free Press.

The bucket was hoisted to the summit of Major's rock, and the rescuers exhibited it dramatically to the terrified maiden.

"Lo!" they said. "Your salvation. Pray descend."

"What," she sobbed, "in a bucket?"

"Even so," said they.

And so she huddled into it, the poor, frightened little Oakland girl, and covering her face from shame and grief, was lowered to the bosom of her family and friends, while nobody cheered louder than the flippant young man whose remark had caused all the trouble.

Concerning which it is whispered that the tale of the bucket may develop a sequel that Sadie Meyerfriend never suspected when she clambered up Major's rock.—San Francisco Examiner.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.Few People Physically Fitted For the Atmosphere of High Altitudes.

In connection with any sport the questions which arise are mainly three: Is it innocent? Is it enjoyable? Is it healthy? To expect a sport qua sport to yield knowledge or gain is to regard it from the wrong point of view. Dulce est desipere in loco; we must all relax sometimes, and the arguments which are used against mountaineering would go far to condemn all kinds of amusement.

As regards the three questions which we have propounded the answer to the first is simple. Mountain climbing is without doubt innocent, and in the judgment of its adherents it is inferior to no sport in point of enjoyment. The third question, which comes more directly within our province, admits of more debate.

Can we regard mountaineering as in the main and for the mass of tourists a safe and healthful amusement? This is a question which cannot be answered without considerable reserve and qualifications. Mountaineering—by which we mean ascents of 10,000 or 12,000 feet and upward— involves much strain and severe fatigue. The strain is first upon the muscular system, but it affects even more importantly the circulatory, respiratory and nervous mechanisms. In some persons the heart seems to feel the tax laid upon the nervous system as it affects the heart. Palpitation and "mountain sickness"—the latter is all probability a neurosis—are the two chief difficulties that beset the average mountaineer.

Can we regard mountaineering as in the main and for the mass of tourists a safe and healthful amusement? This is a question which cannot be answered without considerable reserve and qualifications. Mountaineering—by which we mean ascents of 10,000 or 12,000 feet and upward— involves much strain and severe fatigue. The strain is first upon the muscular system, but it affects even more importantly the circulatory, respiratory and nervous mechanisms. In some persons the heart seems to feel the tax laid upon the nervous system as it affects the heart. Palpitation and "mountain sickness"—the latter is all probability a neurosis—are the two chief difficulties that beset the average mountaineer.

It is clear from these considerations that mountaineering is not for everybody. There must be, first of all, a sound general physique, considerable endurance and the capacity for prolonged and continuous effort. But it is not generally understood that a sound heart muscle—well developed and well exercised myocardin—is indispensable for any considerable mountaineering feats. Hence any suspicion of structural heart disease is an absolute contraindication for any such exploits. Further, the heart must be not only structurally sound, but well exercised and in good condition. Hence, sedentary lives, who for months in the year live in their armchairs, are not well suited to their sport. Those who are physically fit, should not employ their holiday month in mountaineering. Yachting or fishing would be much safer for such, and perhaps not less healthful.

Many Alpine accidents have been the result of neglect of this very obvious rule. For similar reasons mountaineering should be eschewed by persons in middle life who have not acquired the requisite training in youth, and even those who in the heyday of their early prime delighted in the sport and enjoyed many a "crowded hour of glorious life" on some Alpine summit would do well to remember Horace's maxim regarding the aging speed and bid a timely adieu to exploits no longer suited to their years. Mr. Crane, the author of the previous article, has a chapter on the ethics of mountaineering, which is described as follows: "A mountaineer should not climb to the top of his ambition, but it is difficult to say anything precise on this head. Neurotic individuals not only climb badly, as a rule, but they do not benefit by the air above a certain moderate level. A certain coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control."

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk largely in the popular imagination are either quite rare or easily avoided. Thus snow blindness is not at all of frequent occurrence, is almost confined to prolonged exposure to a blazing sun upon snowfields and is usually successfully averted by the use of colored spectacles. Bleeding from the nose and ears, which is described by the early explorers, is practically unknown, and that only the coldness of nerve is a necessary qualification for the many ascents which involve actual danger—danger usually avoidable and seldom extreme, but not to be lightly encountered by those deficient in steadiness and self control.

Many of the dangers of mountaineering which bulk

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, SEPT. 17, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For President of the United States.

Bon. William McKinley of Ohio.

For Vice President of the United States.

Bon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

REPRESENTATIVE CONVENTION.

The Republicans of the 28th Representative District composed of Woburn and Reading will hold a convention to nominate two candidates for Representatives to the Legislature at the Republican Headquarters, Buckman Block, Woburn, at 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, Sept. 24, 1896. A full attendance is requested.

A GREAT VICTORY.

The Old Pine Tree State passed in her verdict on the political issues of the campaign last Tuesday and there is no mistaking the meaning of it.

The Republican plurality was 50,000! in 118,000.

Every Republican Congressman was elected by majorities larger than ever before—from 3,000 to 11,000 plurality.

The Republicans elected every State Senator.

To the House of Representatives the Republicans elected 146 members and the Democrats 53.

Llewellyn Powers went into the Governor's chair on a tidal wave. He is glad now he quit Boston and went back to Aroostook county.

Maine has spoke!

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

On next Monday Sept. 21, at 4 o'clock, p. m., the Republicans of this Middlesex-Essex Senatorial District will hold a convention in Armory Hall, Wakefield, to nominate a candidate for State Senator.

We suspect it will be in the nature of a ratification meeting. Col Charles Woodward of Wakefield has been chosen by the Republican masses of the District for the place and all the delegates will have to do is to carry out their wishes in the convention.

The choice of Col. Woodward was a good one in many respects. He is not only fully qualified for the position and will prove faithful to the interests of the District but judging from the past he is a ballot-winner, and that is important.

The candidate is popular all over the District.

GRIMES THE MAN.

It is as good as settled that James W. Grimes, Esq., of Reading, will be one of the two Representatives from this District in the next Legislature of this State. A more judicious choice could not have been made by the Read- ing Republicans.

Mr. Grimes is able and honest. He is no politician in the offensive sense of the term. His standing at the Bar is excellent; he commands the respect of the old and prominent members, and enjoys a lucrative practice honorably secured.

If Woburn Republicans make as wise a choice as Reading has, of which there is but small doubt, this Representative District will have reason for self-congratulation.

A A World's Fair will open at Mechanics Building in Boston, on Oct. 5 and run to Nov. 7. There can be no doubt at all that it will be a mammoth affair—the largest and most varied in exhibits ever held at the Hub. Mr. A. C. Dowse, Manager of the Press Department, is authority for saying this and what he does not know about matters of the kind is not worth trying to find out. In a later issue of the Journal more will be said about this great Fair.

The gentlemen most prominently mentioned for the Democratic Representative nomination in this city are Lawyer John W. Johnson, Lawyer George F. Bean, Mr. S. Franklind Trull, Secretary of the New England Life Insurance Company, Boston, and Mr. Henry M. Aldrich, a prominent Boston shoe manufacturer. If either of them is nominated the Republicans will be forced to name their best man and hustle to elect him.

The idea prevails, we believe, that Capt. Edwin F. Wyer has always been an earnest and successful worker for the Republican cause and candidates. He holds that reputation at home, throughout Middlesex county, and in the State. He works to win and seldom fails to make connections. We have never seen him more in earnest or in better fighting trim than he is at the present time.

Our old Free Trade friend, Samuel Mendum, Lawyer, of Boston and Somerville, writes us cheerfully these complimentary words: "I like to have a red hot Republican paper like the Journal handy by. It keeps one from going to sleep. I suppose you have figured on a handsome majority for McKinley and Protection. Hooray! You bet, Samuel!"

Chairman True of the Republican Ward and City Committee is casting about for a force of the best stump speakers in the State for the Grand Rally which the Committee are making preparations for. He is bound to have the best or none.

JJ. G. H." of Stoneham is a coward. A person who writes to the publisher of a paper criticizing his course in a given matter and withdraws his name is nothing less than a sneak."

The following are the recently elected officers of the Epworth League: L. D. Dorr, President; N. W. Fry, Jr., Chairman of Spiritual Dept.; J. A. West, Chairman of Mercy and Help Dept.; Miss Blanche L. Fife, Chairman of Temperance Dept.; Mrs. E. Jennie L. Bruce, Secretary; E. C. Livingston, Treasurer.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1896.

— Our esteemed friend Jerry T. O'Sullivan of Lawrence failed to capture the Democratic Congressional nomination at Lowell last Monday. John Henry Harrington of Lowell was the winning man.

LOCAL NEWS. New Advertisements.

Journal—Local.
C. H. Taylor—Pictures.
F. A. Locke—Removals.
Pettingill & Co.—Mort. Sale.

See ad "Lost" in this paper.

Last Sunday's weather was bad for churchgoers.

Thomas Benton Tidd is visiting at Lyneboro, N. H.

Mr. George W. Lowell will be 90 years old tomorrow.

On Oct. 2 the Social Five will give a ball in Cummings Hall.

Fall styles in hats now ready at Richardson's, 431 Main street.

Now this year's tea will be received at the Boston Branch daily.

Rebekah Lodge will give "Her Last Chance" at Music Hall on Oct. 14.

Last Friday was another very hot day, and we have had some warm ones since.

The alarm from box 46 Saturday night, which called the Dept. to Montvale, was false.

The schools opened in grand style last Monday. Learning in this city is now top.

Mrs. William Redford left here last Monday for a visit of several weeks in Canada.

Miss Belle Menard has resumed work as Musical Instructor in the Lawrence schools.

Mrs. Gifford and Miss Louise Bacon have returned from Orr's Island on the coast of Maine.

Mrs. Kate Morey is at home again. She took her vacation in Maine—the best State in the Union.

"The Corner Stone Concert" will be given at the First Congregational church on Friday evening, Oct. 16.

The Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Wyman occurred last Saturday.

The family of Postmaster Hagerty will return from the seaside next Tuesday. Mr. Hagerty goes down-to-day.

The French Canadian Club of this city, numbering about 60 members, are casting about for new headquarters.

Mr. Thomas Salmon could not rest without going up to Lowell to the Democratic Congressional convention.

Woburn people visiting Reading on the W. & R. electric are glad the crossing at Reading is at last completed.

Those who have tried the "Swansdown" tour sold exclusively by Willis J. Buckman says it is the best in the market.

Frank Curran, Lawyer, looked happy when he left here for the Democratic Congressional convention at Lowell last Monday.

Gowling's Orchestra is the best, the deck for fall work which it has already begun. Fred is looking for a good winter's time.

Young Republicans of this city are good in the field of political matters in good shape this fall. It is a favorable sign of the times.

Mr. John Cole Andrews entered Butch's Business College in Boston last week and will take a full business course. It was a good move.

Mrs. Dr. M. H. Allen and Mrs. J. R. Seavey went to North Conway last week and are at present guests at the McMillan House, in that village.

The family of Dr. H. E. Chase, the dentist, are well located at their home on Abbott street. Mrs. Chase's health was greatly improved at the sea.

Young Republicans of this city are looking up a little in this city and they hope to manufacture considerable leather this season.

Mr. John Cole Andrews entered Butch's Business College in Boston last week and will take a full business course. It was a good move.

Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Emma H. Wright of Pleasant street has returned from the summer home of Col. Charles H. Taylor, Editor and proprietor of the Boston Globe, Buzzards Bay, Worcester, Mass. Her health had a fine time at the Bay shore. She expects to return to North Conway soon and revisit Artist Champney and family.

Mr. W. H. Hammond & Son, principal clothiers, have an advertisement in this paper which is worth reading.

Sullivan—Meagher.

In this city on last Wednesday evening at half past seven o'clock, at the parochial school on Summer street, Rev. Lawrence Meagher, Superior, Miss Mary A. Meagher, a promising young lady of this city, daughter of ex-Representative Michael Meagher, and Mr. Timothy A. Sullivan of Winchester, was married in a wedlock.

After the marriage the couple proceeded to the house on Jones Court, Economy Street, where they will make their residence. Her reception was held and a bountiful repast served to the many friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The Bride was a white silk dress with pearl trimmings; the Bridesmaids were dressed with crease trimmings; the Maid of Honor in a white silk muslin gown.

The happy couple received many costly and beautiful presents which costly spaces will not allow us to describe.

We add our good wishes and congratulations to those already received.

Thursday morning the bridal party left for New York where they will spend the day.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Emma H. Wright of Pleasant street has returned from the summer home of Col. Charles H. Taylor, Editor and proprietor of the Boston Globe, Buzzards Bay, Worcester, Mass. Her health had a fine time at the Bay shore. She expects to return to North Conway soon and revisit Artist Champney and family.

— Mr. Frank C. Morse has been visiting his daughter Flossie at the residence of Mrs. Sims on Church Ave. this week. Mr. Ed. Gardwin of the same company, brother of Mrs. Nat Goodwin, spent several days last week with the ushers. Mrs. Maria C. Cotton and Michael Meagher, relatives of the bride and groom.

The Fall styles in hats are so much different than those of last year that you'll need to get yours and wear it early to be "up to date."

Carried over from last year just 22 hats. They are on special exhibition and the price is just one hat. Our new Fall hats are now waiting your inspection.

Richardson's, 431 Main street.

— Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mr. Frank C. Morse has been visiting his daughter Flossie at the residence of Mrs. Sims on Church Ave. this week. Mr. Ed. Gardwin of the same company, brother of Mrs. Nat Goodwin, spent several days last week with the ushers. Mrs. Maria C. Cotton and Michael Meagher, relatives of the bride and groom.

The Fall styles in hats are so much different than those of last year that you'll need to get yours and wear it early to be "up to date."

Carried over from last year just 22 hats.

They are on special exhibition and the price is just one hat. Our new Fall hats are now waiting your inspection.

Richardson's, 431 Main street.

— Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

Mrs. Anna H. Wright of Pleasant street has been celebrating at their residence No. 192 Salem street on Friday evening, Sept. 11. It was a happy affair, participated in by a large and joyful company of relatives and friends, who were cordially received and handsomely entertained by the bride and groom of 25 years.

A delightful evening was spent.

— Mrs. Maria C. Cotton will please accept the apologies of the Journal for its error in placing her name at No. 6 Jones Court instead of No. 11 Plympton street, the residence of her son Mr. Marcus H. Cotton. The mistake occurred by placing confidence in a city Directory that don't direct, which except in the matter of trapping, is on the part of the Journal.

M

In a State of Bankruptcy

is the condition of one's estate if the debts exceed the assets so that the debts exceed the assets.

The most trivial causes have produced momentous effects upon men's lives and upon the history of the world. The chance perusal of Defoe's "Essay on Projects" determined, it is said, the course of Benjamin Franklin's whole life. Benjamin West said, "A kiss from my mother made me a painter." The sight of Virgil's tomb at Naples determined Giovanni's literary vocation for life. So Gibbon was struck with the idea of writing his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" while he sat dreaming about the ruins of the Forum.

Jacques Rousseau's eccentric genius was first aroused by an advertisement offering a prize for the best essay on a certain theme, which he tried for and won. Charles Lamb, the essayist, was a government clerk for many years, and perhaps would never have been known in the world of letters but for the encouragement of Coleridge.

One evening, somewhere about 1820, a young man just in the thirties, who had spent most of his life on the sea, laid down a novel that he had been reading with the declaration that he could write a better one.

"Why don't you try?" asked his wife.

"That is just what I am going to do," she answered, and he at once set about it.

This was the beginning of that remarkable literary career that endured for half a century, and the result of which was the famous "Leather Stocking Tales" and the sea tales of J. Fenimore Cooper.

The "PICKWICK PAPERS" owe their origin to the request of the publisher of a magazine upon which Dickens was doing jobwork that he would write a serial story to fit some comic pictures that were in the publisher's possession. The first great novel of the eighteenth century, "Pamela; or, Virtue Rewarded," was the outgrowth of a suggestion by two publishers, Rivington and Osborne, to their friend, Samuel Richardson, to write a book of familiar letters on the uses and abuses of life. A happy thought struck the writer when he began his work, and that was to give a connection to the letters by running the thread of a love-story through them. This gave an added interest to the book and barbed the moral with a keen and surer point.

There would probably have been no Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" in our literature but for the fact that the author was imprisoned 12 years in Bedford jail, and, to beguile his time, gave up that greatest of all allegories. Samuel Johnson wrote "Rasselas" when in debt, so as to be able to defray the expenses of his mother's funeral.—American Investments, September issue.

SILENCE OWEN.

A portrait old. The artist sought to render a face half shy, half arch, and wholly tender. Dark hair, dark eyes, a figure slight and slender.

My Grand aunt Silence!

She never thought herself miserandised Or prated of the wrongs of womanhood. And yet, I think, the quiet life did good— Sweet Grand aunt Silence!

The Sabbath teaching was her "constant companion."

To see her listning with so grave an air, A saint might smile, a sinner breathe a prayer. My tender Silence!

In all her simple ways she strove to please; Hers were the flowers that perfumed the air. The golden honey from the hive of bees— My busy Silence!

And she had some few pleasures simpler yet; With skillful hand she touch'd the old spinet, Or danc'd at Christmas-time a minuet—

My dear Silence!

She "misses him vastly," when he sail'd away. Yet tried to smile as brightly, day by day; Although, dear heart, my life seems dull and gray!"

My brave true Silence!

An old time sailor. And she "heard with pride Tales of his courage, which is true and tried." They spent some "happy days," too, "side by side."

Dear Grand aunt Silence!

She "misses him vastly," when he sail'd away. Yet tried to smile as brightly, day by day; Although, dear heart, my life seems dull and gray!"

My brave true Silence!

And then we read, "He bravely met the foal!" Some tears still moisten'd cords of long ago. Those days are well full of grief and sorrow. My loving Silence!

What need there is here for further life to tell? All were not struck who died by shot and shell. Some hearts grow still because they loved so well— Like sweet, shy Silence.

—Temple Bar.

SPURRED ON TO FAMETHE INFLUENCE OF LITTLE THINGS ON GREAT INVENTIONS.*Condensed History of Many Everyday Things Which Contribute to the Comfort and Happiness of Mankind—Inspiration Behind Many Great Books.

What we call the accidents of life are often the turning points of human destiny. Many of the masterpieces of art and literature owe their origin to apparently trifling incidents. Not a few discoveries in science and material progress have been made or suggested by accident.

No one can read of the struggles and the triumphs of men of genius and the various circumstances under which their works have been produced without being convinced of the influence of little things.

The discovery of glassmaking by seeing the sand vitrified upon which a fire had been kindled; the power of steam, intimated by the oscillating lid of a teakettle; the utility of coal gas for light, experimented upon with an ordinary tobacco pipe of white clay, and the magnifying power of the lens stumbled upon by an optician's apprentice while holding spectacles glasses between his thumb and his finger, are well known instances in proof of this fact.

Galanism was discovered by accident. Professor Galvani of Bologna, in Italy, gave his name to the discovery, but his wife is considered as entitled to the credit of it. She was in feeble health, and a dish of frogs was ordered for her. As they lay upon the table skins were noticed on the limb bones, which were raw and new money, silver of other, in to become any friend to you personally because of unkind coinage?

Free silver, so called, or more properly speaking, free coinage of silver, means simply that the government shall stop making the coins of silver, but will still mint and the issuing of silver dollars with a guarantee of value upon its own account, and go into the business of manufacturing nominal dollars for the private account and risk of silver miners and bullion speculators.

Some may be unacquainted with these parties who are now purchasing silver in the shape of foreign coin and in bars, would take a quantity of it for which they pay 50 cents and have it turned into nominal but yet a legal tender dollar.

Now, how do you come in here?" If you want to profit you could hold up your silver and double your money by paying your help and your old debts in these 40-cent dollars, thus realizing a handsome return on your investments. If, however, you happened to be a workingman with a family, using your money as you would, you would be unable to purchase any silver in advance, and would have to let the other fellow do that kind of business while you took his 40-cent dollar for 100 cents' worth of work—or you are the man he would make his money out of. Is there any possible gain for the much-mentioned "silver speculator?"

But, say the paid advocates of the multi-millionaire silver mine owners, we shall increase the volume of the currency, raise prices and quicken business. Yes, the volume of the currency would be increased, but the gold would be induced to continue to exchange it even back and forth as now. These things constitute the very best of gain in counting the pulses of their patients.

Bleucourt, in his "Great Inventions and How They Were Achieved," says that the making of plain glass was suggested to a workman's son's happening to break a crucible filled with melted glass. The fluid ran under one of the large flagstones with which the floor was paved, and on raising the stone to recover the glass they found it in the form of a plate, such as could not be produced by the ordinary process of blowing.

Glass pearls, though among the most beautiful, inexpensive and common ornaments worn by ladies, are produced by a very singular process. In 1656 a Venetian named Jaquin discovered that the scales of the bleakish possess the property of communicating a pearly hue to water. He found by experimenting that beads dipped into this water assumed, when dried, the appearance of pearls. It was proved, however, that these pearls, when placed outside, was easily rubbed off, and the next improvement was to make the beads hollow.

The most trivial causes have produced momentous effects upon men's lives and upon the history of the world. The chance perusal of Defoe's "Essay on Projects" determined, it is said, the course of Benjamin Franklin's whole life. Benjamin West said, "A kiss from my mother made me a painter." The sight of Virgil's tomb at Naples determined Giovanni's literary vocation for life. So Gibbon was struck with the idea of writing his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" while he sat dreaming about the ruins of the Forum.

Jacques Rousseau's eccentric genius was first aroused by an advertisement offering a prize for the best essay on a certain theme, which he tried for and won. Charles Lamb, the essayist, was a government clerk for many years, and perhaps would never have been known in the world of letters but for the encouragement of Coleridge.

One evening, somewhere about 1820, a young man just in the thirties, who had spent most of his life on the sea, laid down a novel that he had been reading with the declaration that he could write a better one.

"Why don't you try?" asked his wife.

"That is just what I am going to do," she answered, and he at once set about it.

This was the beginning of that remarkable literary career that endured for half a century, and the result of which was the famous "Leather Stocking Tales" and the sea tales of J. Fenimore Cooper.

The "PICKWICK PAPERS" owe their origin to the request of the publisher of a magazine upon which Dickens was doing jobwork that he would write a serial story to fit some comic pictures that were in the publisher's possession. The first great novel of the eighteenth century, "Pamela; or, Virtue Rewarded," was the outgrowth of a suggestion by two publishers, Rivington and Osborne, to their friend, Samuel Richardson, to write a book of familiar letters on the uses and abuses of life.

At a time, say a year or two, of idleness, starvation and want, silver twice as much as it is now. We will take receive for our product 120 cents an ounce, and the present price of about 68 cents will be clear profit, for the expense will come out of the depreciation of the silver dollars.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

As it is, we feel that it will result in our advantage to let the mine remain idle for a time. If we get fine coinage in an instant, we will be out the amount of ore.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1896.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, SEPT. 25, 1896.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.
For President of the United States,
Hon. William McKinley of Ohio.
For Vice President of the United States,
Hon. Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey.

IT IS WOOD.

The Republicans of the 28th Middlesex Representative District met in convention last evening and nominated for Representatives Mr. Alva S. Wood of Woburn and James W. Grimes, Esq., of Reading.

COL. CHARLES F. WOOD-WARD.

On last Monday afternoon the Republicans of this Senatorial District met in convention at Wakefield to select a candidate for the State Senate. The whole number of delegates, 58, were present and participated in the proceedings.

Col. Charles F. Woodward was nominated by acclamation, every delegate voting yeas.

This action has been a foregone conclusion for months. When the matter was first brought to public attention the mind of the District at once and naturally turned towards Col. Woodward.

As soon as he gave his consent to become a candidate the chances of others vanished. One or two faintly aspired to secure the place, but there has never been any show for them.

No doubt Col. Woodward keenly appreciates the honor conferred on him at the Republican convention last Monday and the hearty, handsome manner it was given. He is that kind of a man.

Col. Woodward will represent this District in the Senate in a manner that will reflect credit on himself and his intelligent constituents. Their interests will be carefully guarded. He will be no stranger in Legislative Halls which will increase his efficiency.

Col. Woodward will roll up a tremendous majority at the polls on Nov. 3 next.

PROTECTION.

The great manufacturing centers of Lowell and Lawrence, Fall River and New Bedford, and Worcester, Brockton, Lynn and Haverhill have a vital interest in legislation that will protect the thousands and tens of thousands of workingmen that make up the vast majority of their population. For this reason it is especially important that such staunch defenders of protection and the sound money faith as Congressman Knox, Moody, Wright, Livering, Barrett and Simpkins, should be given the votes of the workingmen. It is not a question of sentiment. It is the question of self preservation that confronts every workingman today who has to compete with low priced labor in his endeavor to provide for himself and family the necessities of life—for it is a long time since most workingmen had much expectation of getting the luxuries of living. But if they vote for protecting themselves against foreign competition for their own markets and against debasing and cheapening the pay they receive for their labor they will do all that need be done to protect their own interests.

WOLCOTT AND CRANE.

These two names make a strong ticket. They are to be the Republican nominees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the State convention on Oct. 1, to be elected by a heavy majority on Nov. 3.

Wolcott and Crane have been chosen by the people of this State for standard-bearers in the present campaign. Politicians have had but little to do in their selection, which makes it all the better for the ticket.

Wolcott and Crane are strong men and the best of candidates. The former since the death of the lamented Greenhalge has shown that he knows how to steer the Ship of State; the latter has served his party and country in a way that entitles him to the gratitude and hearty support of the people.

We look for a larger majority for Wolcott and Crane than any of their predecessors have ever received.

STATE CONVENTION.

The Republicans of Massachusetts will hold a convention for the nomination of candidates for State offices in Music Hall, Boston, on Thursday, Oct. 1.

Of course Hon. Roger Wolcott will be the unanimous choice of the convention for Gov., and Murray Crane for Lieut. Governor.

We learn of no serious contests over any of the other officers.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican County Committee manage to keep their official movements quite well hidden from the public gaze nevertheless it has leaked out that the county convention is to be held on Oct. 8, at Lowell.

It is currently reported that County Commissioner Reade is working hard for a re-election. There is strong opposition to him in various parts of the county.

IT IS CRANE.

The Republican caucuses held last week in the State show that Murray Crane is ahead of Winslow three to one for Lieut. Governor.

When on the State Committee Winslow more than once said: "I have no use for the country press" and gave the patronage of the Committee to the Boston Herald. It is the country press's turn now.

Col. Charles H. Taylor, proprietor of the Boston Globe, one of the ablest newspaper men in New England, was Guest of Honor at the monthly meeting of the Suburban Press Association at the Crawford House, Boston, last Saturday afternoon. The meeting was largely attended by prominent suburban Editors by whom questions of interest to the guild were ably discussed.

A gentleman assured us a few days ago that public sentiment is crystallizing around George E. Fowle, Esq., for the next Mayor of this city. He appeared to speak by the card and expressed the utmost confidence in Mr. Fowle's election if he consents to stand.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Paymaster E. F. Hayward went to Goff's Falls, N. H., to pay off Capt. Ellis gang of workmen there.

Our thanks are due to Mrs. Mary A. (Meagher) Sullivan for a generous slice of her bridal load.

Rev. A. M. Osgood delivered an address before the Epworth League at Somersworth, N. H., this week.

Electric cars will run between North Woburn and Medford Square next Monday. How's that for high!

Mr. William P. Eaton has entered the service of the N. Y. & N. E. Railroad company with a good situation.

Mr. Willard Brown has got back from an extended business visit to northeastern Maine and New Brunswick.

A meeting of the Massachusetts Librarians Club will be held in this city on Oct. 7. A large attendance is looked for.

If something isn't done right away to address before the Epworth League at Somersworth, N. H., this week.

Mr. R. P. Turnbull and Miss Carrie Turnbull, his daughter, were touring in Nova Scotia recently and enjoying life.

E. C. Cottle & Co. and Beggs & Cobb are enlarging their tanning establishments quite materially. It is a good sign.

The grand concert by Defender Lodge of Good Templars will be given at Concert Hall next Wednesday evening, Sept. 30.

Moderate rains have prevailed in these parts this week. The ground has become nicely soaked for fall feed and ploughing.

A splendid concert will be given by the Cambridge Crescent Dramatic Club at Concert Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 1.

Mrs. Mary Jennings conducts a perfectly reliable Employment Office at 417 Main street, next door east of Gordon Parker's.

Leonard Thompson, Esq., has made a literary contribution to the Journal which will be used with pleasure in due time.

It rained powerfully during the thunder storm Saturday night. The farmers have no longer any reason for complaint about a drought.

Mr. Philip M. Brown has left or is about to leave for Williams College where he has been a student 2 or 3 years, we have forgotten which.

Please notice an ad of a place to rent on Nashua St. It is a good one and the rent is low. Mr. Parker L. Eaton has the charge of leasing it.

Capt. J. M. Ellis went to Goff's Falls, N. H., last Tuesday morning to look after some work he has there. The Captain is a strong gold bug.

The concert to be given at Music Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 1, under the auspices of St. John's Baptist church should be kept in mind.

Capt. William C. Parker and wife of Canal st. arrived home a few days ago from Orr's Island in Casco Bay where they had a pleasant time.

Charles R. Rosengren, 36 Green St. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write—If.

The reason why we sell a $30 Hat for $20.00 is our business. It is your business to get a $30.00 Hat for $20.00. Richardson's, 431 Main St.

Particular attention is asked for the advertisement of M. S. Ayer & Co. of Boston. It is one of the most reliable mercantile houses in the country.

Dr. M. H. Allen will leave for Old Orchard tomorrow where he will meet Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Seavy and return with them to this city next Monday.

Frank A. Locke, the piano tuner's office is now at Moore & Parker's Periodical Store, 375 Main st. Orders left there will receive prompt and careful attention.

Mrs. L. H. Newhall of Fairfield, on the Kennebec, in Maine, is visiting the Editor's family and trying to convince herself that she is enjoying it very much.

Mr. Charles E. Tripp who was involved in a collision with a W. & R. electric car last week is still confined to his house although improving somewhat.

The wife of Mr. Daniel B. Morrell of Wakefield formerly of Woburn died last week. She was his second wife and they had been married only a year or two.

There is to be a tug of war tournament at the Rink on Oct. 15. The McKays of Winchester, the West Cambridge team, and the Woburn boys will be in it.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the Congregational Association will meet in the church parlor. Subject: "Cultivating a Child's Taste in Reading."

The first Sunday in October will be observed as "Old People's Day" at the Congregational church. Sept. 27 will be observed as "Railway Sunday," a Sunday School occasion.

Capt. J. Henry Symonds and family left here last Saturday for Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Symonds and Miss Daisy will probably return and spend next summer here.

The Russell Counter Company are now running on full time and well balanced. They have not felt the pressure of the hard times as severely as some other similar establishments.

Miss Grace H. Barnard of 22 Vine street, Winchester, has a professional card in this paper to which attention is directed. She is an accomplished and successful teacher.

Thursday evening last week a bevy of the women of the Russell County Company's establishment took a delightful straw ride to Stoneham, Wakefield and Reading. They enjoyed it hugely.

The Knights of Columbus worked two degrees last Sunday evening. The Lodge is growing.

After a visit of 8 weeks Mr. B. F. Flagg has returned from the White Mts. in better health.

Autumn leaves are falling fast, and yet there has been no frost here to turn or detach them from the parent stem. Their fall is simply the evidence of decay and their blushing hectic of a dying year.

is a positive proof of thin, weak, pale blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts infundibular energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

are to take, easy

Hood's Pills to operate. 25 cents.

COPELAND & BOWSER,

355 MAIN STREET.

What's in a name?

Nothing—Unless it's attached to a good article.

Royal Worcester Corsets

Perfect.

COPELAND & BOWSER,
355 MAIN STREET.

Attracting!

You want rings? Admire them? Know beautiful ones when you see them? Appreciate the beauty of style and grade of settings? Are you one who admires chaste diamonds or plain gold? We have a most complete line of beautiful and attractive jewelry.

L. E. HANSON, Jeweler,

409 Main Street, Woburn.

Two Stores: South Berwick, Me.

Telephone, 4-3.

G. R. GAGE & CO.

FINE TAILORS.

395 Main Street.

JOHN ADAMS, Cutter.

HIGHLEY'S Headache Powders.

Sure Cure. 10c.

A package of three powders. TRY THEM.

PIANOS TUNED
By Frank A. Locke,

EXPERT PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER,
and REPAIRER. 24 years practical experience.
Boston Office, Hallert & Davis Piano Rooms, 179
Dexter Street, Boston. M. Parker's Periodical Store, 37 Main Street. Prices to suit any other first-class tuner. Refers to any person in Woburn who has a piano.

Great Mark-down in Summer Goods.

I have marked all these goods down to cost and below.

I have added to my other business.

Dressmaking in all Styles.

G. T. CONNOR,
No. 347 Main St. - - WOBURN.

Plumbing

Plumbing

I have in my employ the best of workmen and giving my personal attention to all jobs, I guarantee to do all work at lowest possible prices.
Special attention given to sewer connections.

C. M. STROUT,

Main St.

The SILVER CHEAT.

In former days, the post bright,
Sang thus, "whatever is, is right."But now, the postman base,
The postman, who despise us all,By thumbing back, despite pile,
The still growing crowd, he grins.And in the winter's cold, he says,
Is this, whatever is, is wrong?"The postman, who despise us all,
Is charged to other folks and things.It matters not how great the nation,
The hard experience of years

Is lost on demagogic ears.

To the postman, who despise us all,

On which we've safely stood so long,

For party gain, and private self,

Moral, and social, and political self,

And in the stead be placed another,

A son of fifty-three cent brother.

Which no longer stands so long,

By paying debts in silver cheat;

And the Post, Demas, easily sold,

To wheelie Uncle Sam to make

For his part, to take

Or little pay what he can,

